Memorandum for Circulation.

Surveyor General's Office, Simla, 25th July 1884.

THE application of the electric telegraph to finding differences of longitude being only of comparatively recent date, the Great Trigonometrical Survey of India was necessarily based on the best value of longitude available from celestial observations at the time the survey was begun: accordingly the longitude of the Madras Observatory was adopted for the origin of the survey. Various improved provisional values of longitude for this origin have since been published by the Government Astronomer, corresponding to the aggregating celestial observations; of these provisional values only the two following need be given here numerically, viz.:—

Values of longitude of the Madras Observatory.
Provisional.

(A).	Adopted by the Great Trigonometrical Survey in all its publications	80° 17′ 21″
(B).	Adopted in all the Atlas Sheets of India	80° 18′ 30″
	In addition, we are now able to state also the value—
(C).	Determined recently through the electric-telegraph	80° 14′ 51″ (nearly).

(2). It will be understood that the publications of the Trigonometrical Survey must continue to be exhibited in terms of the value (A), in order that all the longitudes shall be consistent with one another; at the same time, to express these longitudes in terms of the value (C), it is only necessary to diminish the former by the difference between (A) and (C), i.e., by 2′ 30″. Similar remarks apply to (B), and hence the longitudes exhibited in the Atlas Sheets of India should be diminished by the difference between (B) and (C), i.e., by 3′ 39″.

(3). But, from what has been said, between the period of the adoption of (A) and (B) and that of the recent determination of (C), it was necessary to accept temporarily several other values of approximate corrections than those stated in article (2), corresponding to the improved values of longitude for the Madras Observatory published from time to time; and these different temporary corrections have accordingly been noted on the publications and Atlas Sheets in question as the latter were printed.

(4). Now, however, that a (nearly) final value of the longitude of Madras Observatory, i.e., (C), is known, it becomes necessary to disregard all the different temporary corrections hitherto published, and instead simply to follow the following precepts:—

To find true longitude from Greenwich.

(a). Diminish all the longitudes shown in the publications of the Trigonometrical Survey, including the volumes of the Account of the Operations of the Great Trigonometrical Survey, Charts of triangulation, &c., &c., by 2′ 30″.

(b). Diminish all the longitudes shown on the Atlas Sheets of India by 3′ 39″.

5. It is obviously important that the facts of article (4) should be circulated for general information, and especially in maritime interests: the following note embodying the required precepts has accordingly been prepared, and copies are available on application to the Survey of India Offices at Calcutta and Dehra Dun.

G. C. DEPREE, Col., Survyr. Genl. of India.

CORRECTIONS TO BE APPLIED TO THE LONGITUDES ON CHARTS, MAPS, &C., OF THE SURVEY OF INDIA.

NOTE.—The longitude of the Madras Observatory as recently determined by the electric telegraph is 80° 14′ 51″ or 5^{h} 20^{m} 59^{s}·4 east of Greenwich, but in all the publications of the Trigonometrical Survey this longitude is assumed at 80° 17′ 21″, and in all the Atlas Sheets of India at 80° 18′ 30″; consequently all longitudes in the publications of the Trigonometrical Survey should be diminished by 2′ 30″ and in the Atlas Sheets by 3′ 39″, after which the resulting longitudes will be in correct reckoning from Greenwich and consistent with the value 80° 14′ 51″ of Madras Observatory. The above directions are in supersession of all others, if any, on the documents in question.

G. C.-DEPREE. Col., Survyr. Genl. of India.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE CHITTAGONG DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1883-84.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Darjeeling, the 26th August 1884.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Chittagong Division for 1883-84.

The Report is submitted by Mr. Cotton, Officiating Commissioner. Mr. Lowis was in charge of the Division throughout the year. No changes occurred during 1883-84 in the District Officers of Noakholly, Tipperah, and the Chittagong Hill Tracts. Mr. Manson held charge of Chittagong from 1st April 1883 to 11th February 1884, when he was relieved by Mr. C. A. Samuells.

2. Tours.—Mr. Lowis, during a tour lasting 138 days, visited all the more important parts of a division where travelling is peculiarly difficult and tedious. Mr. Hopkins, Collector of Tipperah, and Mr. Forbes, Deputy Commissioner of the Chittagong Hill Tracts, made adequate tours. Mr. Cooke, the Collector of Noakholly, made a lengthened tour of 116 days, during which he inspected the various subordinate offices that lay on his line of march, checked the payment of chowkidars' wages by the village punchayets, conducted several investigations into cases of bad livelihood, enquired into the working of the Excise Department, the license-tax assessment, the progress of road work, state of village communications, prospects of crops, the prevalent rates of rent paid by ryots of the islands in the Megna, and the nature of their titles. The Commissioner correctly states that the work done by Mr. Cooke affords a good illustration of the important and multifarious duties which fall within the province of a District Officer while on tour; and the Lieutenant-Governor desires to add that such work, if intelligently done, not only enlarges an officer's knowledge of his district, but leads the people to look upon and trust him as an active and efficient governing power. The District or Sub-divisional officer is, while on tour, freed from the entourage of ministerial officers which surrounds him at head-quarters, and is given the opportunity of establishing a real personal influence over the people of his district. At Chittagong the united tours of Messrs. Manson and Samuells came to only 52 days during the year. Mr. Samuells was in office for only the last six weeks of the year under review; but in Mr. Manson's case, even with the explanations given of the stress of particular work at head-quarters, much more should have been done in the way of inspection work in the interior of the district. The Sub-divisional Officers of Sungoo and Fenny made full tours; but those of Chandpore and Bramumberiah in Tipperah were only out for 83 and 19 days respectively. The explanations given in the Report fail sufficiently to account for this neglect of an important duty, and the Lieutenant-Governor must look to the Commissioner to enforce obedience to the orders repeatedly issued in this matter.

3. Weather and Crops.—Tables of monthly rainfall from the sudder and sub-divisional stations are given by the Commissioner. As, however, the average rainfall for each period is not given, these statistics are comparatively uninstructive. Now that the operations of the Meteorological Department have been extended, and printed returns are daily published for every district in Bengal, local officers should find no difficulty in obtaining whatever figures may be necessary to illustrate and bring out the conclusions which local experience leads them to form. At present District Officers give Government general observations, often unsupported by figures, while the Meteorological Reporter supplies figures unrelieved and unillustrated by local experience of actual results. In Chittagong early and heavy rain damaged the tea, but left the rice crop uninjured. In both Noakholly and Tipperah the rainfall of September and October was deficient, but the loss on the high lands is said to have been compensated by the heavy outturn of the low lands. Jute cultivation appears to have spread greatly in the riparian tracts of Tipperah, and to pay better than the coarser kinds of rice. The reduction of the area sown in food-crops in an outlying district like Tipperah is by no means a matter for regret, for much grain is now produced which either perishes or finds a poor market. Thus the production of valuable fibre or other non-food crops directly benefits the producers and indirectly benefits those who supply the producers with food at better prices than they otherwise would get.

4. Health and condition of the people.—The recorded mortality in the Chittagong district fell from 21,091 to 15,143. Calculated on the total population, the latter figure yields a death-rate of 12·80 per thousand against 17·13, the average death-rate for the last five years. For statistical purposes the figures are not of much value; but if the percentage of error is uniform, the decline in total mortality now reported may be taken to indicate a healthy year. For the other districts of the Division no statistics are given, but everywhere the general health of the people is stated to have been good. It is satisfactory to find that Rangamati, the head-quarters of the Chittagong Hill Tracts, has become more healthy since the reclamation of the lands lying opposite to the station. On the general condition of the people, the reports of all the District Officers are satisfactory. They indicate a high standard of prosperity, and in some few instances of affluence among the people, results which come from the absence of any severe pressure of population upon the soil. The Commissioner upon this subject observes:—

> The material prosperity of the people of this Division is indeed a fact which admits of no dispute. There are very few wealthy individuals; but, on the other hand, there are no paupers. The possession of wealth is widely diffused among all classes of the community. I attribute this fortunate condition of things to the system of land tenure which prevails, under which almost every individual is the possessor of a small plot of land or interest in land; and a fair rent, fixity of rates, and free right of sale, are almost universally claimed and recognized. Very few of the evils which are said to exist in other parts of these provinces * * * exist in this Division. Rack-renting is virtually unknown, and the only practical difficulty under the existing rent law, which needs a remedy, is the difficulty of realizing undisputed rents from under-tenants.

The Lieutenant-Governor has always recognized the relatively prosperous condition of the people of these eastern deltaic districts, and he would point out that the main object of the Tenancy Bill is to establish throughout Bengal those equitable and salutary principles of fair rent and fixity of tenure which differentiate the larger part of this Division from less fortunate portions of the Province. The substantive provisions of the Tenancy Bill will find in existence, in large tracts of the eastern districts, those wholesome relations between landlord and tenant which elsewhere, it may be hoped, they will tend to establish, while the procedure chapters should supply those facilities for realizing rents, the want of which is generally deprecated, as much in the interests of Government as of the zemindars throughout the Province.

5. Emigration, Wages and Prices.—The number of emigrants from Cox's Bazar to Arracan rose from 200 to 354. No special reasons are assigned. A further report should next year be furnished regarding the nomadic immigration of hillmen into the Chandpore sub-division of Tipperah, where they are said to be clearing large areas of jungle by jhoom cultivation. The cleared lands appear to be occupied by resident cultivators as soon as the hillmen retire. There is no ground for interference with an obviously advantageous process of reclamation. The price of rice rose throughout the Division in consequence of the short crop in other parts of Bengal. Wages appear to have remained stationary.

6. Manufactures.—The quantity of tea exported from the 29 gardens in Chittagong fell to 889,616lbs. from 1,030,927lbs in 1882-83. The two rice-mills at the station had a prosperous year, exporting nearly six lakhs of maunds against 2,79,000 maunds in the previous year. Native-made piece-goods are said to be rapidly giving place to imported articles, and the weavers are taking to agriculture.

7. Trade and Commerce—The value of the sea-borne trade of the Port of Chittagong rose from Rs. 2,36,60,406 to Rs. 2,47,56,862. The total quantities are not shown. From another table, dealing only with foreign trade, it appears that the exports of rice, jute, and tea have fallen in quantity and risen in value. A new trade has sprung up in jute-cuttings, of which a quantity, valued at Rs. 4,85,245, was exported to New York. The trade of Chittagong will be discussed in fuller detail in reviewing the Administration Report of the Port. Here it will be sufficient to notice the Officiating Commissioner's opinion that, by reason of the competition of water-carriage, the railway from Chandpore to Chittagong is not likely to attract heavy merchandise such as rice, salt, and jute. Mr. Cotton thinks that Chittagong itself may best be developed by opening out steamer communication with Naraingunge, which he regards as the natural trade centre of Eastern Bengal. The Lieutenant-Governor, while he fully recognizes the importance of Naraingunge to the growing jute trade of Eastern Bengal, does not share the Officiating Commissioner's forebodings regarding the probable failure of railway developments in these parts. Very much would of course depend upon the practicable navigation of the Megna by vessels of large draught at all seasons of the year. Upon this point it may be noted that, at the instance of this Government, a rough survey was made last cold-weather of the channels of the Megna leading to Naraingunge. A chart, embodying the results of this survey, will be published shortly, and it will be then a matter for consideration whether a detailed survey should not be undertaken with the object of ascertaining whether sea-going steamers can with safety approach the town.

8. Monetary arrangements.—In Chittagong the khas tehsil system of collecting the rents of Government estates is said to have relieved the treasury of considerable pressure, and to have been a great boon to talookdars with small payments to make. For the last six or seven years a loan bank, registered under Act X of 1866, with a capital of one lakh, has been in existence in Tipperah. The bank issues loans at various rates of interest on good security. Dividends are declared quarterly, but have never exceeded 12 per cent. It is stated that agriculturists do not resort to it largely, preferring to borrow from their own mahajans, and in this connection it would be interesting to know whether the strong tenant-right which prevails in the district has had the effect of establishing a moderate rate of interest on loans made by ordinary village mahajans. On this point the Commissioner is requested to submit a special report before November next.

9. State of Public Feeling.—Owing to the prevalence of small proprietary tenures throughout the Division, such public feeling as exists concentrates itself upon the local land questions, and pays comparatively little attention to the wider political problems which are said to excite interest in some districts of Bengal. The peculiar revenue system of Chittagong, and the existence of large Government estates in Noakholly and Tipperah, lead to frequent re-settlements which, in a country of small proprietors, stir up feelings frequently out of all proportion to the revenue involved. The recent orders of the Government of India on the subject of re-settlements of land revenue, though not applicable in their entirety to Bengal, will serve to mitigate, if not to remove completely, such causes of dissatisfaction. The Bengal Tenancy Bill is said to create much interest; but the Commissioner says that its provisions are imperfectly understood, while "the impression prevails that it is intended to benefit the ryots at the expense of their landlords." The Lieutenant-Governor has little doubt that, if the provisions of the Bill were fully understood, much of the zemindar's opposition to it would disappear. His experience is that zemindars as a body believe the Bill to contain provisions which do not exist in it, and which are contrary to its object. The Local Self-Government scheme and the Criminal Procedure Code Amendment Bill are said to have attracted no notice among the native community in this Division. The Deputy Commissioner's remarks on the question of enforcement of labour in the Hill Tracts have already received attention in the Political Department, and the matter should be considered as settled.

10. Public Press.— Of the two fortnightly periodicals published last year in Chittagong, one has been discontinued. A weekly paper was started, but failed One weekly paper is published in Tipperah. Both publications are said to be of a somewhat negative character, but they occasionally call attention to local matters which might otherwise escape notice.

11. Administrative Changes.—The khas system, or circle system of managing the Government estates in Chittagong, is said to have been severely strained during the year, but to have withstood the strain on the whole fairly well. The registration of proprietary titles to land in the district was almost completed after employing nine Sub-Deputy Collectors for four years on registering 150,992 interests in 78,569 estates. Between 2,000 and 3,000 remain, in which the proprietors have not yet been traced.

12. Police and Crime.—The Chittagong Police are well spoken of, and are reported to have earned large rewards under the salt, excise, and opium cases. Noakholly is described as a penal settlement for the police, and the force as decidedly inferior. No special fault is found with the Tipperah Police. Mr. Hopkins remarks that too much time is spent on inspection, and the Commissioner adds that this applies to all districts in Eastern Bengal where police officers must travel from place to place by boat.

13. The statistics of crime furnished in the Report show that the number of non-cognizable cases remained stationary in Chittagong, while the cognizable cases were fewer by 483 than in 1882. In Noakholly and Tipperah there was a decrease of 222 and 209 respectively in cognizable cases, and in the latter district of 259 in non-cognizable cases also. Generally speaking, it may be said that there is no professional crime in the Division unless forgery comes under that definition; and that disputes about land are almost the only causes which lead to breaches of the law.

14 Civil Justice.—Suits for money and moveable property in the three regulation districts of the Division rose from 17,936 to 18,383, and rent-suits from 23,067 to 23,612; while title and other suits fell from 6,291 to 6,047. In Chittagong the number of rent-suits alone rose from 6,399 to 7,308, owing, it is alleged, to the difficulty of realizing rent under the recent settlement. Even after this increase, however, it appears that only 6·9 per cent. of the rent-roll shown in the road cess returns is recovered by suit; while in Noakholly suits are filed for 12·5 per cent., and in Tipperah for about 14·5 per cent. The percentage of uncontested cases was 63 in Tipperah, 64 in Chittagong, and 69 in Noakholly. The suggestive remarks of the Collector of Tipperah on the working of the civil courts of first instance will be considered in the Judicial Department.

15. Land Revenue.—The outstanding balance of land revenue due from Government estates in Chittagong rose from Rs. 1,04,803 to Rs. 1,21,412. In the other districts of the Division collections were fair. The difficulties experienced in Chittagong were due to special causes, the most important of which—the doubts thrown upon the correctness of the recent Noabad settlement—is still under consideration, pending the results of enquiry by an officer specially deputed to Chittagong for the purpose. Settlement work has made good progress in both Noakholly and Tipperah. Messrs. Cooke and Hopkins, Collectors of these districts, and Deputy Collectors Mr. H. W. Barber and Baboo Sarat Chunder Dass, deserve credit for the care and industry they have shown in revising settlements which had fallen into extreme disorder.

16. Excise.—The excise revenue of the Division rose to Rs. 2,96,311 from Rs. 2,36,947 in 1882-83. The average for the previous five years was Rs. 1,89,754. As compared with the previous year, the only noticeable items of increase are Rs. 3,448 under ganja, accompanied by a slight decrease in consumption, and Rs. 54,619 under opium. The increase in opium represents an excess consumption of nearly 58 maunds—eight at Chittagong itself, and the rest at Cox's Bazar. It is explained by the practice of smuggling excise opium into Arracan, where the wholesale price is the same as in Bengal, but the retail price is forced up by the monopoly system of opium licenses in force in British Burma. The question is still under consideration.

17. Stamps—The stamp revenue in Chittagong, Noakholly, and Tipperah rose from Rs. 10,33,260 to Rs. 10,93,364. No special causes are assigned for the increase. It is observed that the incidence of stamp revenue in the Chittagong Division is five annas per head of population, against three annas per head—the incidence for the whole of Bengal. This is no more than might be expected where small properties are numerous and the general standard of prosperity high.

18. Salt.—Owing to large clearances for Naraingunge, the amount of salt on which duty was levied in Chittagong increased from Rs. 3,51,004 to Rs. 3,98,963. The consumption of salt in the two saliferous districts is said to have risen from 1,85,070 maunds to 1,87,007 maunds, and it is added that Mr. Manson, Collector of Chittagong, and Mr. Mackertich, Sub-divisional Officer of Cox's Bazar, have exerted themselves to repress smuggling in Kutabdia Island and the thana of Teknaaf. The Commissioner, however, still thinks that the rate of consumption (6 2 seers per head in Chittagong, and 5½ in Noakholly) is below the true standard for a flourishing population

19. Communications —There are no important works to be noticed under this head. A new road cess office is to be built at Chittagong, and some progress has been made in bridging the numerous unbridged roads in that district. In Noakholly great progress is said to have been made in extending village roads on a system of grants-in aid. One new road was opened in the Chittagong Hill Tracts.

20. Education.—The following table shows the statistics of education for the last two years:—

	1883-84.		1882-83.
	Schools.	Pupils.	Schools.	Pupils.
Chittagong	1,288	36,667	1,417	37,143
Noakholly	1,805	43,718	2,105	45,552
Tipperah	3,543	74,174	4,470	90,509
Chittagong Hill Tracts	14	266	10	227

With the exception of a trifling increase in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, the number of schools and pupils declined everywhere. In Chittagong the decrease is said to be due to the exclusion of certain lower primary schools from the central examination under the system of payment-by-results, and thus to be only nominal. The decrease in Noakholly, and the reason given by the Magistrate of Tipperah for the reduction of the number of schools by 300 and of pupils by 1,834, is couched in too general terms to be wholly satisfactory. The Commissioner remarks that the progress reported in female education is little better than fictitious, "as it is an invariable practice to withdraw girls from school before they have got beyond the spelling-book."

21. Committees.—In the Regulation Districts of the Division the various Committees are said to have made themselves useful, either as consulting bodies or by taking an active part in local administration. The Commissioner remarks that they show to most advantage in municipal business, where the members have to deal with a limited area, the requirements of which they know thoroughly. In the matter of roads their acquaintance with local facts is frequently incomplete, while, if the area to be managed is broken up and placed under Branch Committees, difficulty is found in procuring men of high character and good position to serve upon them. In Noakholly the non-official Vice-Chairman of the Municipality is said to have done excellent work, and the Magistrate seems very properly to have allowed him and other non-official members a large measure of independence. These gentlemen, however, are stated to think the presidency of the Magistrate essential to the successful working of the Committee, on the ground that punctual attendance and orderly procedure could not otherwise be secured. In time, no doubt, habits of punctuality and order will not need enforcement by the official presence.

22. Conduct of zemindars—The report contains no information regarding the conduct of the zemindars or their relations with their tenantry in the regulation districts of the Division. The conduct of the Chukma Chief in the Hill Tracts formed the subject of special orders. Since the close of the year under report, the Mong Rajah died, leaving the affairs of his territory in great disorder. His minor nephew, Niphroosyne, has been proclaimed as his successor.

23. Character of Officers.—The remarks recorded by Mr. Lowis under this head will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

CALCUTTA,
The 25th August 1884.

JOHN ELIOT,
Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL DURING THE WEEK ENDING THE 22ND AUGUST 1884.

THE meteorology of the past week contrasts strikingly with that of the previous week. A rapid rise of the barometer, which extended from the 16th to the 20th, indicated the commencement of a break in the rains. It was first established in those divisions in which rainfall has been most deficient during the past month or six weeks, namely North Bengal and Behar and East Bengal, and afterwards extended to the divisions which have received favourable rainfall, or to South Behar, Chutia Nagpur, South-West Bengal and Orissa. The rainfall of the past week has hence been much below the average in all districts, but the deficiency is most marked in North Behar, North and East Bengal Julpigoree is at present a curious example of a station in an area of deficient rainfall, receiving excessive rain. The sub-divisional rainfall returns show that, on the average, South Behar and Chutia Nagpur received very nearly 50 per cent. of the normal rainfall of the week, South-West Bengal, 40 per cent. and Orissa 65 per cent. On the other hand, North Bengal has only obtained 28 per cent. and East Bengal and North Behar 25 per cent. Several districts in the three latter divisions have barely received ten per cent. Amongst those are some which have received very deficient rainfall during the whole season. The following are those districts which have received a rainfall of 10 per cent. or less during the week:—

Pressure—Was considerably below the average at the commencement of the week under review. It increased slightly on the 16th and 17th, and rapidly on the 18th and 19th. The total rise of the barometer between the 15th and the morning of the 20th varied between a quarter and three-tenths of an inch in Bengal and Behar, and was greatest in East Bengal. Pressure diminished rapidly during the remainder of the week, and was on the 22nd slightly below the normal in Orissa, South-West Bengal and North Behar, and above it in the remaining divisions. The mean pressure of the week was slightly in excess in East Bengal and normal in North Behar. It was in defect in South Behar, Chutia Nagpur, South-West Bengal and Orissa. The deficiency was greatest at Calcutta and Saugor Island.

Temperature.—In consequence of the large rainfall in Behar and other districts during the week ending the 15th, the temperature was considerably below the normal at the commencement of the past week. Showers fell over the greater part of the Province until the 19th or 20th, and temperature continued below the average. With the cessation of rain in the interior, the temperature increased, and was slightly above the normal at the end of the week. The mean temperature of the week is hence generally below the average by small amounts, in no case exceeding 1½°. The highest day temperatures during the week occurred in North Behar, at Mozufferpore (93·1°), Motihari (92·6°) and Chupra (92·5°).

Winds—Have been unusually feeble during the week. They were approximately normal in direction over the greater part of the Province. The relatively low pressure in the south-western districts of South-West Bengal and Orissa, and high pressure in East Bengal, gave an unusually strong easterly element to the southerly winds in South Bengal. The winds in Chutia Nagpur were from the South-East and East, and hence indicate that the Bombay branch of the monsoon current did not extend so far across the continent, and did not influence the weather in Bengal at all during the week.

Rainfall.—The past week has been an unusually dry one over the greater part of the Province. Frequent light showers occurred in Orissa and South-West Bengal during the whole week. They were all more or less local in character, and the total amounts received by the various recording stations were in no case large. In East Bengal, light showers fell on every day until the 21st, but the amounts were very small, and gave an average of less than an inch, or less than 30 per cent. of the normal amount. The rainfall of the week was even smaller in amount over the greater part of North Bengal and North Behar. Practically the break in the rains extended over the whole week in those divisions. A few local showers of little importance fell between the 16th and 20th, when the break became more pronounced and clear weather set in. The only districts in that area which received moderate rain were the Julpigoree, Cooch Behar, and Darjeeling districts. Julpigoree obtained heavy local rain on the 21st, which give it 6·94 inches. The area of most deficient rainfall in the Province during the whole season, includes the greater part of Durbhunga, Mozufferpore, Chumparun and North Sarun. During the past week a large portion of that area was practically rainless.

South Behar and Chutia Nagpur on the other hand received showers of moderate intensity during the first four days of the week, when the break extended over the whole of the interior of the Province. The rainfall in that area was, as last week, largest in amount in the Shahabad and Gya districts of South Behar, and the Hazaribagh district of Chutia Nagpur.

The preceding remarks also give the time distribution of the rainfall of the week. The rapid increase of pressure at the commencement of the week accompanied a break in the rains. This commenced in North Bengal and North Behar at the beginning of this week, and extended to South Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and East Bengal on the 20th or 21st, and to South-West Bengal at the end of the week.

The only district which received normal rainfall during the week was Hazaribagh.

The following districts received between 80 and 90 per cent.:—Cuttack and Gya; between 70 and 80 per cent., Pooree; between 60 and 70 per cent., Bancoora, Beerbhoom, Bhagulpore and Darjeeling; between 50 and 60 per cent., Chupra, Julpigoree, 24-Pergunnahs, Howrah, Hooghly and the Sonthal Pergunnahs; between 40 and 50 per cent., Balasore, Commillah, Shahabad and Bankipore; between 30 and 40 per cent., Burdwan, Moorshedabad, Nuddea, Chittagong, Purneah and Burisal.

The following table gives the actual percentage amount received by those districts, the rainfall of which was less than 30 per cent. of the normal rainfall of the week:—

Districts.	Percentage rainfall of week.	Percentage rainfall of month to date.
Jessore	28	54
Midnapore	23	50

Furreedpore	13	55
Mymensingh	10	49
Rungpore	10	51
Bogra and Pubna	9	44
Chumparun	4	56

The preceding table shows that the districts which have received a rainfall of 20 per cent. or less during the past week include a large portion of East and North Bengal and the central and western districts of North Behar. Also the total rainfall of the present month up to date in these districts is very considerably below the average, the amounts actually received varying between 44 and 66 per cent. of the normal rainfall of the period.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 22nd August 1884:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community taken in February 1881 was not reliable, owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

The total quantity of goods carried during the month of July 1884 aggregated maunds 3,40,916, as compared with maunds 2,77 849 carried during the corresponding period of 1883, and maunds 4,55,373 carried during the previous month, showing an increase of maunds 63,067 in one case and a decrease of maunds 1,14,457 in the other

Of the several increases and decreases the following are the most prominent ones, and worthy of separate explanation:—

Increases.

	Mds.
Coal	10,681
This is partly due to the carriage of locomotive coal and partly to indigo manufacturing in which coal is mostly used
Food-grains	92 616
Due to the scarcity of grains in the districts.
Railway materials	58,706
Due to the rapid progress of the extensions of this railway.
Timber	2,870
This is a nominal increase and is not worthy of explanation

Decreases.

Hides and horns	5,038
This is due to the Calcutta market being dull.
Salt	22.654
The existing stock has not been exhausted, and imports of salt as a rule decrease in the rains.
Seeds	21,229
Due to very small demand and poor outturn.
Tobacco	23,604
The crop has been very poor, and hence the decrease.
Lime and kunker	11,930
The engineering works that raised the demand for this have been completed.

HORACE BELL,
Manager.

A. POPE,
Traffic Superintendent.

XXII.—Masters or agents are requested to give at least 24 hours' previous notice when a pilot is required to shift or take a vessel to sea or for any other purpose, to enable the Port Officer to send for pilots from the mouth of the river, if required.

XXIII.—The cutter with pilots shall cruise in the day backwards and forwards from the Outer Bar buoys to off the mouth of the Sangoo river during the south-west monsoon, weather permitting, and shall remain day and night on her station, viz. three miles outside the Bar buoys during the north-east monsoon. 4. In section 69 of the said Act— Amendment of section 69 of same Act.

(a) after the words "is valid in the following cases" the words "and in no others" shall be inserted; and

(b) after the words "Hindu, Muhammadan or Buddhist," in both places where they occur, there shall be inserted the words "or a member of any other race, sect, tribe or class from time to time specified by the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, in the local official Gazette in this behalf."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE last clause of section 1 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, provides that any Local Government may, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, exempt, either retrospectively or prospectively, throughout the whole or any part of the territories administered by such Local Government, the members of any race, sect, tribe or class from all or any of the following provisions, namely, sections 41, 54 (paragraphs 2 and 3), 59, 69, 107 and 123.

54. * * Such transfer, in the case of tangible immoveable property of the value of one hundred rupees and upwards, or in the case of a reversion or other intangible thing, can be made only by a registered instrument.

In the case of tangible immoveable property of a value less than one hundred rupees, such transfer may be made either by a registered instrument or by delivery of the property.

59. Where the principal money secured is one hundred rupees or upwards, a mortgage can be effected only by a registered instrument signed by the mortgagor and attested by at least two witnesses.

Where the principal money secured is less than one hundred rupees, a mortgage may be effected either by an instrument signed and attested as aforesaid, or (except in the case of a simple mortgage) by delivery of the property.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to render invalid mortgages made in the towns of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Karáchí and Rangoon, by delivery to a creditor or his agent of documents of title to immoveable property, with intent to create a security thereon.

107. A lease of immoveable property from year to year, or for any term exceeding one year, or reserving a yearly rent, can be made only by a registered instrument.

All other leases of immoveable property may be made either by an instrument or by oral agreement.

123. For the purpose of making a gift of immoveable property, the transfer must be effected by a registered instrument signed by or on behalf of the donor, and attested by at least two witnesses.

For the purpose of making a gift of moveable property, the transfer may be effected either by a registered instrument signed as aforesaid or by delivery.

Such delivery may be made in the same way as goods sold may be delivered.

2. In a letter, dated the 6th September, 1882, the Chief Commissioner of Assam asked for an expression of opinion from the Government of India as to the effect which the exemption under that clause, of "any race, sect, tribe or class" from the provisions of section 54 (paragraphs 2 and 3) and sections 59, 107 and 123, which are set out on the margin, has upon transactions, one of the parties concerned in which is a member of such race, sect, tribe or class, while the other party does not belong to an exempted class.

3. To this reference the Government of India, on the 13th December, 1882, replied that the precise manner in which the exemption would operate under the circumstances described was a matter of some difficulty; and the only satisfactory means by which an intelligible operation might be given to section 1 of the Act seemed to be the amendment of that section so as to make the exemption from sections 54, 59, 107 and 123 local and not personal.

4. The Chief Commissioner, in a letter dated 12th January, 1883, suggested as an alternative, and in his opinion a preferable one, a power to exempt not persons or places but transactions in which one or both of the parties might be members of the race, sect, tribe or class for which the sections in question might be deemed unsuitable.

5. It was thought desirable to obtain the opinions of the other Local Governments on the two alternative proposals thus put forward, and accordingly, on the 7th May, 1883, a circular was issued for this purpose.

6. It will be observed that the question thus raised was confined to the power conferred by section 1 of the Act to exempt from the operation of sections 54, 59, 107 and 123; but, attention having been once drawn to the subject, it was natural that the effect of an exemption from the other two sections of the Act (41 and 69) mentioned in section 1 and set out in the margin should also be considered; and, on looking into the matter, it was found that, while an exemption under either of those sections would give rise to questions very similar to those raised by the Chief Commissioner of Assam in the case of the sections referred to by him, there was this further difficulty in regard to section 69 that the object of allowing any power to exempt from it was not apparent. The circular accordingly asked for the opinions of the Local Governments in regard to these sections also.

41. Where, with the consent, express or implied, of the persons interested in immoveable property, a person is the ostensible owner of such property and transfers the same for consideration, the transfer shall not be voidable on the ground that the transferor was not authorized to make it: provided that the transferee, after taking reasonable care to ascertain that the transferor had power to make the transfer, has acted in good faith.

69. A power conferred by the mortgage-deed on the mortgagee, or on any person on his behalf, to sell or concur in selling, in default of payment of the mortgage-money, the mortgaged property, or any part thereof, without the intervention of the Court, is valid in the following cases (namely)—

(a) where the mortgage is an English mortgage, and neither the mortgagor nor the mortgagee is a Hindú, Muhammadan or Buddhist;

(b) where the mortgagee is the Secretary of State for India in Council;

(c) where the mortgaged property or any part thereof is situate within the towns of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Karáchí or Rangoon.

But no such power shall be exercised unless and until—

(1) notice in writing requiring payment of the principal money has been served on the mortgagor or one of several mortgagors, and default has been made in payment of the principal money, or of part thereof, for three months after such service; or

(2) some interest under the mortgage amounting at least to five hundred rupees is in arrear and unpaid for three months after becoming due.

When a sale has been made in professed exercise of such a power, the title of the purchaser shall not be impeachable on the ground that no case had arisen to authorise the sale, or that due notice was not given, or that the power was otherwise improperly or irregularly exercised; but any person damnified by an unauthorised, or improper or irregular exercise of the power shall have his remedy in damages against the person exercising the power.

The money which is received by the mortgagee, arising from the sale, after discharge of prior incumbrances, if any, to which the sale is not made subject, or after payment into court under section fifty-seven of a sum to meet any prior incumbrance, shall, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, be held by him in trust to be applied by him, first, in payment of all costs, charges and expenses properly incurred by him as incident to the sale or any attempted sale; and, secondly, in discharge of the mortgage-money and costs and other money, if any, due under the mortgage; and the residue of the money so received shall be paid to the person entitled to the mortgaged property or authorized to give receipts for the proceeds of the sale thereof.

Nothing in the former part of this section applies to powers conferred before this Act comes into force.

The powers and provisions contained in sections six to nineteen (both inclusive) of the Trustees and Mortgagees' Powers Act, 1866, shall be deemed to apply to English mortgages, wherever in British India the mortgaged property may be situate, when neither the mortgagor nor the mortgagee is a Hindú, Muhammadan or Buddhist.

7. The replies of the Local Governments have now been received and considered by the Government of India, and the following are the conclusions to which they seem to point.

8. In the first place, as regards the power of exempting from the operation of sections 54, 59, 107 and 123, it seems to the Governor General in Council best to make it simply a power of exempting locally, that is to say, the exemption should be absolute and cover transactions relating to any immoveable property within the specified area, whether both or one or none of the parties may belong to those races or tribes for whose benefit the exemption is intended. To give a personal character to the exemption and restrict it, as some suggest, to transactions within the area, to which either both parties or one of the parties are of particular races, would give rise to uncertainty of title and other difficulties and doubts noticed by Sir C. Turner and others. With a local exemption clause of an absolute character an intending purchaser has to look to nothing but the situation of the property.

9. It is true that there may be advanced people living in exempted localities for whom the sections in question would provide a law more suitable than that which prevails where they do not apply, but it must be remembered that these people always could, and Europeans, it is believed, generally would, follow the practice of having formally executed and registered documents, and this would to a great extent give them the benefits aimed at by the Act; for it must be borne in mind that in the places in question titles would not usually be complicated, and in any case the sections of the Act referred to are not an essential part of the law, but merely an improvement of it, which is not in force as yet in great provinces like Bombay, the Panjáb and British Burma. Again, on the other hand, it is true that there may be members of wild tribes settled in some non-exempted localities, and that they may find it difficult to learn to act up to the law; but, as has been observed by some of the authorities consulted, wild people scattered in this way among a population the great mass of which is civilized soon get into the ways of the people among whom they live.

In either case the objection is one that must apply to most of our enacted laws, and indeed to a good deal of the customary law of the country. We cannot get a law that will suit everybody; we must be content with a reasonably close approximation.

10. The first section of the Bill accordingly amends section 1 of the Act so as to empower a Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, to exempt any part of the territories under its administration from the operation of any of these sections.

11. Next, as regards the powers to exclude the operation of section 41, the considerations to be borne in mind are fully stated by the Chief Justice of Madras in his opinion.

Sir C. Turner observes that the general rule that no one can confer a higher right in property than he himself possesses in some cases worked obvious hardship; and, as the science of jurisprudence advanced, it was limited by the exception declared in section 41, on the principle that, where one of two innocent persons must suffer from the fraud of a third party, the loss should fall on him who has created or could have prevented the opportunity for the fraud. To races which have not made a substantial progress in civilization, this rule appears to Sir Charles Turner to be unsuited for the following reasons, as stated in his own words:—

"Regarding the question in its sentimental aspect, it is certain that a member of a race unacquainted with the refinements of equity would fail to recognize the justice of a rule which caused him to be deprived of his property by what is ex hypothesi a fraud.

"I do not contend that legislation is to be governed by sentimental considerations, but I have heretofore asserted, and still hold, that legislation should only be so far in advance of the general understanding that its justice should be recognized by the more enlightened.

"There is, however, a substantial reason to be deduced from the rule itself, which shows its inapplicability to uncivilized races. The rule affords protection only to a purchaser for consideration who acts in good faith after reasonable inquiry.

"The imposition of these conditions on the purchaser suggests to persons, who have occasion to create an ostensible ownership of their property in others, the prudence of providing certain safeguards. If they are well advised, they are careful to secure evidence of the actual ownership, so that a purchaser, on making due inquiry, must either ascertain the true character of the transaction, or entertain such suspicion of its character that he can no longer assert that he acted in good faith.

"The transactions of uncivilized races in the matter of property are of the simplest character; they are unacquainted with the precautions which technical skill has devised to secure property.

"Again, as society progresses, men are habituated to exercise greater caution in their dealings with their fellows, and have larger opportunities for selecting agents who are reputed either to be worthy of confidence or to be in a position to answer for a breach of confidence. A prudent man selects for an office of trust a person of tried probity and some substance. The uncivilized races have less choice in the selection of agents and less opportunity for forming a judgment of the character and position of their agents."

12. The conclusion to which these remarks seem to point is that the Government should be empowered to direct that section 41 should not apply throughout any particular local area to any property in which a member of any particular race, sect, tribe or class is interested, and it is on these lines that sub-clause (b) of the new fifth clause which the Bill proposes to insert in the first section of the Act has been framed.

13. The discussion regarding section 69 has opened out questions extending beyond the particular difficulty first brought to notice, and it is fortunate that the Government have had in considering them the assistance of Sir C. Turner, who was a member of the Commission by which the Transfer of Property Bill was settled.

The circumstances under which the section was enacted will be found stated in the following extract from his Minute :

"In England, it is usual to confer on a mortgagee, in case of default, a power to sell the mortgaged property without the intervention of a Court of justice ; and, where the instrument of mortgage does not confer the power, but does not in express terms negative it, a mortgagee is empowered by statute to sell on the expiry of twelve months after the date of default and of six months from the date on which notice is given of his intention to exercise the power—23 & 24 Vic., c. 145. This statutory provision was, by Act XXVIII of 1866, extended to mortgages in this country to which the English law is applicable.

"On the other hand, the simple mortgage in India did not authorize a sale without the order of a Court, and by Regulation XVII of 1806 in the Bengal Presidency it had been enacted that a mortgage by conditional sale should not become foreclosed without the service of a notice through the District Court, and on the expiry of a year of grace. Inferring the policy of the legislature from this Regulation, the Sadr Díwání Adálat refused to give effect to an express power of sale—S. D. A., 1847-354. In the Bombay Presidency, Mr. Justice Melville expressed a doubt whether a private sale of property in the Mufassal, effected by a mortgagee under a power, would be valid—VIII Bombay H. C., A. C., 143.

"On the other hand, I entertained the opinion, and I believe acted on it before the Transfer of Property Act came into operation, that, in the absence of a prohibition of law, the owner of property was competent to confer on a mortgagee what powers he himself possessed, and that, if a mortgagor having, as owner, authority to sell, created a power of sale in a mortgagee, and the mortgagee duly exercised the power, the Courts were bound to recognize the validity of the sale.

"In Bhanoomutty Chowdiam vs. Premchund Nesgee, XV B. L. R. 28, property in the Mufassal had been mortgaged by an instrument in the English form containing a power of sale, and subsequently mortgaged to a third party by a conditional sale. The first mortgagee then exercised his power of sale, and subsequently to the sale the second mortgagee took proceedings to foreclose. It was held that the purchaser under the power was entitled to notice of foreclosure, and impliedly that a sale under a power might be valid."

"In this state of the authorities," Sir Charles Turner continues, "it fell to the Law Commission to offer for the acceptance of the legislature a proposal to settle the law. It was felt that, in accordance with the principles of freedom of contract, an owner of property should be at liberty to confer on a mortgagee any of the powers which he could himself exercise, and that a borrower might more readily obtain accommodation, or obtain it on easier terms, if he could offer a security which would be speedily converted by the tender without the delay and the cost of an application to a Court of justice. On the other hand, it was recognized that in this country the large majority of mortgage-securities are created by persons who are poor and illiterate in favour of more sharpwitted creditors, and that, in an agricultural country, landed securities are subject to sudden and excessive variations in value, which are rarely foreseen by borrowers. The Commission came to the conclusion that, while more wealthy borrowers in the country and all borrowers in the presidency-towns might be left to deal with their property as they pleased, it was necessary in the present state of British India to create a legislative safeguard for the poorer classes in the country. They, therefore, proposed that the creation of a power of sale should be declared invalid except in mortgages where the principal money secured exceeded Rs. 500, or in mortgages to the Secretary of State or in mortgages of property in the presidency-towns. In Committee, the section was recast. Instead of declaring that a power of sale conferred by the instrument of mortgage is invalid except in the cases specified, the section, as it now stands, declares that in certain cases it is valid."

Sir Charles Turner adds—

"Unless it be held that the express declaration of the validity of such a power in certain cases is tantamount to a declaration of its invalidity in other cases, which I incline to doubt, the object sought by the Law Commission has not been attained, and the validity of the power in cases other than those specified is still left an open question.

"It may have been desirable that the protection the Law Commission intended to confer in the case of mortgages for small amounts should have been extended to mortgages for somewhat larger sums, but I think it is to be regretted that the amendment should have been effected in such terms as to leave the question doubtful whether any protection is given to mortgages of any class or amount, and I trust advantage may be taken of the opportunity to re-consider the provisions of the section. It will be seen that the section, as it now stands, affects only—

"(1) parties to an English mortgage, i.e., a mortgage in the English form, who are not Hindús, Muhammadans or Buddhists (an inexact enumeration of the creeds held by natives of India);

"(2) parties to a mortgage to the Secretary of State;

"(3) parties to mortgages of property in the presidency-towns.

"As the section now stands, I do not see any reason for including it in the class of sections for which certain races may be exempted; I apprehend it was included before it was recast."

14. Section 4 of the Bill accordingly amends section 69 of the Act so as to express clearly what was actually intended, and no power to exempt from the main provisions of the section has been retained; but, as Mr Justice Muthuswami Aiyar has pointed out that there are other classes whom it is even more necessary to exclude from the operation of the exceptional provision in clause (a) than Hindús, Muhammadans and Buddhists, words have been added to that clause to provide a power of excluding them.

15. Section 2 of the Bill is intended merely to remove a formal defect in the Act which has been brought to notice in the course of the recent discussions. It was of course never intended that the provisions of the Act which assume the existence of a registration system should take effect in those tracts which are excluded from the operation of the Registration Act; but the Act omitted to make any express provision to that effect, and that omission is now supplied.

16. The addition which it is proposed to make to section 4 of the Act by section 3 of the Bill has for its object merely to remove a difficulty which has been felt in some quarters as to the bearing which the provisions of the Act relating to registration and the Registration Act have on one another.

The 9th August, 1884.

4. Any consent given by a local authority under section 3 may be given subject to such reasonable conditions as to the payment of any expenses to which it is estimated the local authority will be put in consequence of the exercise of the powers, or as to the time or mode of execution of any work, or as to any other thing

Provided that—

(a) when a telegraph authority desires to alter the position of any such pipe, it shall give reasonable notice of its intention to do so, specifying the time at which it will begin to do so, to the local authority, and, when the pipe is not under the control of the local authority, to the person under whose control the pipe is;

(b) a local authority or person receiving notice under clause (a) may send a person to superintend the work, and the telegraph authority shall execute the work to the reasonable satisfaction of the person so sent.

Disputes between telegraph authorities and local authorities.

7. If any dispute arises between a telegraph authority and a local authority in consequence of the local authority refusing its consent under section 3 or prescribing any condition under section 4, or otherwise in respect of the exercise of the powers conferred by this Act, it shall be determined by the Local Government, and the decision of the Local Government thereon shall be final and conclusive.

Telegraph line and posts placed before the passing of this Act.

Removal or alteration of telegraph line or post on property not belonging to a local authority.

10. (1) When, under the foregoing provisions of this Act, a telegraph line or post has been placed by a telegraph authority under, over, along, across, in or upon any property, not being property vested in or under the control of a local authority, and any person entitled to do so desires to deal with that property in such a manner as to render it necessary or convenient that the telegraph line or post should be removed to another part thereof or to a higher or lower level or altered in form, he may tender to the telegraph authority the amount requisite to defray the expense of the removal or alteration and call upon the telegraph authority to remove or alter the line or post accordingly, and, if the telegraph authority refuses or omits to do so, may apply to the District Judge within whose jurisdiction the property is situate to order the removal or alteration.

(2) A District Judge receiving an application under this section may, in his discretion, reject the same or make an order absolutely or subject to conditions for the removal of the telegraph line or post to any other part of the property or to a higher or lower level or for the alteration of its form, and the order so made shall be final and conclusive.

Amendment of section 8, clause (a), of same Act.

12. To clause (a) of section 8 of the same Act the following shall be added, namely:—

"or of any telegraph established by Government and leased to any person."

Addition to section 8 of same Act.

13. To the same section the following words shall be added, namely:—

"When prescribing rules under clause (a) of this section, the Governor General in Council may by the rules impose fines for any breach of the same:

"Provided that the fines so imposed shall not exceed the following limits, namely:—

"(1) when the licensee or lessee is punishable for the breach, one thousand rupees, and in the case of a continuing breach a further fine of two hundred rupees for every day after the first during the whole or any part of which the breach continues;

"(2) when a servant of the licensee or lessee or any other person is punishable for the breach, one-fourth of those amounts."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE main object of this Bill is to give power to the Government, and to any company or person licensed under section 4 of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1876, and specially empowered in this behalf, to place telegraph lines under or over property belonging whether to private persons or to public bodies.

2. The attention of the Government has recently been directed to the fact that, as the law now stands, the Governor General in Council and his licensees have no power to place telegraph lines upon the land of municipal or other similar bodies or of private persons. In England the requisite powers are conferred on the Postmaster General, who works and maintains the telegraphs in that country, by 26 & 27 Vic., cap. 112, as amended by 41 & 42 Vic., cap. 76; and as it seems desirable that the Government in which the exclusive privilege of establishing telegraphs in this country is vested should possess somewhat similar powers, the present Bill has been prepared.

3. Section 3 empowers the Government or any company or person licensed under section 4 of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1876, and specially authorized by a Government officer to place and maintain telegraph lines and posts under, over, along, across, in or upon the property of any "person", which term includes a body corporate. It is considered that licensees should have these powers, because the licenses granted always strictly limit the area of the operations of the licensees, and it would be somewhat anomalous for local bodies and private persons to have the power to neutralize the licenses granted by the Governor General in Council by objecting to the licensees' operations, or by hampering them by the exaction of fees for permission to work under their licenses. The powers thus given are, however, to be exercised so as to do as little damage as possible, and their exercise is moreover made subject to important restrictions and conditions.

4. When the property belongs to a municipal board or other local authority, the powers conferred by the Act cannot be exercised over it without the consent of that authority; and that consent may be given subject to conditions. Among other conditions which can be imposed is one requiring that any expenses to which the local authority may be put by the exercise of the power shall be made good; but it will be observed that no provision is made for the payment of compensation on any other account to a local authority whose property is made use of for this purpose, it being considered that, as the construction of telegraphs is a matter in which the public are interested, no charge should be made for accommodation of this sort when it can be granted without inconvenience to the public or expense to the local authority concerned.

5. It may sometimes happen that, though at the time when a telegraph authority desires to exercise its powers over some property of a local authority there may be no reasonable ground for objecting, and the local authority may thus find itself compelled to consent, a state of things may subsequently arise under which the continued exercise of the powers would be felt as a grave public inconvenience or a cause of serious loss. Land, e.g., which was waste at the time the telegraph line was constructed over it might afterwards be required for some important public object or might acquire great value for building purposes, and, as no compensation (except for actual expenses out of pocket) would have been paid to the local authority at the time the line was constructed, it is but just that provision should be made for the removal or alteration of the line in such an event. This accordingly is done by section 5 of the Bill, which empowers the local authority to call upon the telegraph authority to remove or alter its telegraph or post, and, in the event of the telegraph authority refusing or neglecting to do so, gives an appeal to the Local Government.

6. In the event, which it is believed will be rare, of a local authority arbitrarily refusing its consent to the exercise by a telegraph authority of the powers conferred by the Bill or clogging its consent with unreasonable conditions, it will (section 7) be open to the telegraph authority to appeal to the Local Government, whose decision will be final.

7. Turning now to the case in which it may be desired to exercise the powers given by the Bill over the property of private persons, it will be seen that here provision is made for the payment of full compensation, the amount of which in the event of dispute will (section 9) be determined by the Civil Court, and that, in the event of a person upon whose property a telegraph line or post has been placed desiring subsequently to deal with the property in such a way as would make it necessary or convenient that the line or post should be removed to another part of it or to a higher or lower level or altered in form, he can (section 10) tender the cost of the work and call upon the telegraph authority to remove or alter the line or post, and, if that authority refuses to do so, can appeal to the Civil Court.

8. It may be observed, however, that in practice in this country the power of taking telegraph lines through private property is not likely to be exercised either by the Government or by its licensees except on rare occasions, and then as a rule only to the extent of crossing with the wire, a post being scarcely ever erected on private land. Private property has hitherto been always avoided as much as possible, and it is likely to be still more carefully avoided in future if it is made clear, as it is proposed to do by this Bill, that full compensation will have to be paid for exercising the power over private and not for exercising it over public property.

9. The present opportunity has been taken to make three amendments of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1876, which experience has shown to be desirable. The first has for its object the emendation of the definition of "telegraph" so as to bring it into more exact conformity with the construction put upon the definitions in the English Acts by a recent decision of the High Court of Justice in England.

10. The second is intended to provide for the regulation of telegraph lines constructed by the Government but leased to companies or individuals by whom they are worked. The position of such lines under the Act as it at present stands is far from clear, and the object of the amendment proposed in section 12 of the Bill is to put them on much the same footing as licensed lines.

11. The object of the third amendment, which is made by section 13 of the Bill, is to prescribe penalties for the breach of the rules made under section 8 of the Act for the conduct of telegraphs worked under license or lease. In such cases, as the Act now stands, the only remedy is to revoke the license or lease, but this course would in most cases cause such great public inconvenience that it is impracticable. The result is that at present there is virtually no penalty for the infringement of the rules made under section 8 of the Act. To remedy this state of things, the Bill adds a clause to that section empowering the Governor General in Council to prescribe by the rules moderate fines for the breach of them.

INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION TO BE HELD AT BUDAPEST (HUNGARY) IN 1885.

Circular No. 94 Ex.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department (Museums and Exhibitions), under date Simla, the 6th August 1884.

RESOLUTION.

READ the following :—

No. 201, dated Calcutta, the 16th July 1884.

From—The Acting Consul for Austria and Hungary,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department.

ADVERTING to my official intimation anent the General National Exhibition to be held at Budapest (Hungary) in 1885, namely, No. 68, dated 5th March, and No. 102, dated 26th March, I have to-day the honour to transmit under cover a translation of a further communication received from the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian Minister for Foreign Affairs, No. 2908—9, dated Vienna, 1st June, relative to concessions granted to intending foreign exhibitors in the charges for railway fare and sea transport, the latter on the part of the Austro-Hungarian Lloyds Steam Navigation Company and Hungarian Steam-ship Company "Adria."

TRANSLATION.

IN continuation of the circular issued from this side, dated 5th February, as per No. 563—9, concerning the Hungarian National Exhibition to be held next year at Budapest, the Imperial and Royal Ministry for Foreign Affairs have the honour to acquaint the Imperial and Royal Mission, for intimation to the Imperial Indian Government, that the concessions in freight granted on the part of the railway and steam-ship companies on behalf of this undertaking consist in the following :—

A.—RAILWAYS.

1. The Austrian and Hungarian lines for small parcels for transport inward as well as return transport, francs 16*xr*. Austrian Vaente for each 100 kilograms and per kilomètre is charged as uniform rate, and to this is still to be added on each line a manipulation tax of francs 2*xr*. per 100 kilograms and 8 per cent. for transport duty.

With wagon loads for transport inward as well as return transport francs 13*xr*. as uniform rate per kilomètre is charged for each 100 kilograms according to actual weight per wagon, however, at least for 8,000 kilograms.

As with such wagon loads no manipulation tax has to be paid, the loading and unloading of goods has to be effected at the expense of the sender, respectively exhibitor.

The minimum amount of freight for each wagon load is fixed as francs 3*a. v.*, which minimum amount is even to be paid if, according to the freight rates granted for smaller quantities, a lower amount of freight should result.

Those goods of large dimensions entered as return goods are despatched per 100 kilograms and kilomètres at the uniform rate of freight of francs 32*xr* with goods of larger dimensions entered in wagon loads, and if the rate is paid for per at least 8 000 kilograms, only francs 13*xr*. as uniform rate will be charged per 100 kilograms and kilomètres.

For the return transport those exhibition objects partake of this advantage only in case of their being unsold during the exhibition and destined to be returned to the original station of despatch.

These freight advantages count only up to the railway stations at Budapest.

For the transport of the exhibition objects from these railway stations to the exhibition grounds, on the eventually to be laid rails a moderate special rate will be charged according to local circumstances.

2. For the transport of the exhibition goods to Budapest the full rate of freight is charged according to tariff, where against the return transport of goods which remained unsold at the exhibition will be granted freight free on the same route on the part of the following lines :—

In Germany.

The Prussian State Lines.
„ Nadhabant-German Railway.
„ Werra Line.
„ Lessen-Ludwig Line.
„ Main-Neckar Railway.
„ Netherland-Rhinish Railway.

In Holland

The Dutch Railway Company.

In Russia.

The Line Merko-Brest.
„ „ Orel Witelsk.
„ „ Dimoborg.

In France.

The Compagnie du Chemin de Fer du Nord.

B.—Donan Steam-ship Transport.

The Imperial and Royal first privileged Donan Steam-ship Company have granted for all exhibition goods, the transport of which is effected by the ships of the Company, a reduction in freight of 50 per cent.

C.—Relative to Sea transport.

The Hungarian Steam-ship Company "Adria" having granted to those exhibitors who ship their goods on board the vessels of the Company from the seaports—

Bordeaux, Rouen,
Haus,
Dublin,
Glasgow,
Leith, and Middlesborough,

a reduction of 25 per cent on the existing ruling rates of freight.

D.—Provisional exemption from Duty.

The Royal Hungarian Ministry for Finance have, vide Rescrifr, dated 18th February 1884, No. 1569, granted provisional exemption from duty for all foreign goods arriving for the Budapest National Exhibition of 1885 up to their being transported back at the latter end of March 1886, and entrusted the Royal Hungarian Chief Custom House in Budapest with the pending manipulation of duty, according to Government procedure.

The Hungarian Ministry of Finance have further ruled that all Custom Houses of the Austro-Hungarian Custom territory are to direct all such goods on arrival for Custom House treatment untouched and unopened to the Royal Chief Custom House at Budapest.

By way of facilitating this procedure, it is at the same time permitted that the goods arriving from abroad are to be treated by the official deputed by the Chief Custom House in such a manner that this official may fill up the Goods and Contents Sheets arriving with the goods with the descriptions according to tariff and revision of the goods, and thus complete the duty manipulation on the basis of these thus completed goods sheets.

Furthermore, it has still been permitted by the Hungarian Ministry for Finance that with these exhibition goods, instead of the prescribed security in cash, the solvability of the National Exhibition Committee will be accepted as basis of the Government procedure.

E.—The Return of Goods free of Duty.

Of all goods sent for exhibition to Budapest, but having remained unsold, are to be transported back to their place of despatch, has thus far been granted by the German, Dutch, English, Italian, Belgian, French, and North American Governments.

Finally one, is an exception, concession in freight held in prospective by the Austro-Hungarian Lloyd.

Vienna, 1st June 1884.

Calcutta, The 1st September 1884.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL DURING THE WEEK ENDING THE 29TH AUGUST 1884.

THE past week has been marked by very scanty rainfall over the greater part of the Province. During the first half of the week, pressure decreased in consequence of the formation of an area of barometric depression and cyclonic circulation in the Bay, off the Ganjam coast. The indraught to this diminished very considerably the strength of the sea winds, and hence, the amount of the rainfall in Bengal. It advanced across the Ganjam coast south of Gopalpore on the evening of the 26th, and broke up a few hours afterwards, after having given moderate rain to the greater part of the west coast of the Bay. Its disappearance was followed by a slight increase of the monsoon winds in Bengal, and by the occurrence of light showers over the greater part of Bengal. A rapid increase of pressure on the 29th and 30th accompanied a considerable diminution of the strength of the winds and rainfall, so that at the end of the week a partial break in the rains was established over nearly the whole of the Province.

The most prominent feature in the meteorology of the past week has been the very slight rainfall over the greater part of the Province, including South Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and Central Bengal. The districts in that area have only received from 10 to 35 per cent. of the normal rainfall of the week.

There were also two special and local features of importance. The first was a heavy fall of rain, giving an average of nearly 1½ inches over those districts in North Behar (including Durbhunga, Mozufferpore and Chumparun) where rainfall has for some weeks past been abnormally deficient. The second was the occurrence of almost continuous heavy rain during the week in the districts of North Bengal bordering on the hills. The Julpigoree and Cooch Behar districts received an average of 12½ inches, the normal fall of the week being only 5¼ inches. This small area of excessive rainfall hence obtained nearly 2½ times its normal allowance.

Pressure.—A slight increase of pressure occurred at the commencement of the week. This was followed on the 24th, 25th, and 26th by a moderate diminution of pressure, which was, on the 26th, below the normal by amounts ranging from ·01″ at Durbhunga to ·09″ at Orissa. There was on that day, a slight barometric depression in the Bay near to the Orissa and Ganjam coasts. It crossed the coast to the south of Gopalpore on the evening of the 26th and speedily broke up. This was followed by a slight rise of the barometer on the 27th, and by an unusually rapid rise on the 28th, 29th, and 30th, averaging nearly two-tenths of an inch over the greater part of the Province. Pressure was hence very considerably above the normal at the end of the week, by amounts ranging from ·08″ at Patna to ·12″ at Chittagong and ·13″ at Durbhunga. The barometric movement during the week has hence been confined to one large oscillation, downward motion occurring during the first half of the week, and upward motion during the latter half.

The mean pressure of the week hence does not differ much from the normal. It is slightly in excess in the case of East Bengal, the northern and eastern districts of South-West Bengal, North Behar and probably North Bengal, and is in defect over the remainder of the Province. Hence, as for some weeks past, Orissa, Chutia Nagpur and the adjacent districts of South-West Bengal formed an area of deficient pressure, relative to the whole Province.

Temperature.—In consequence of the small rainfall of the week, the mean temperature was generally above the average. The excess, as is usually the case, was most marked in Behar and Chutia Nagpur, where the mean temperature was from 1½° to 2° above the normal. High maximum temperatures exceeding 94° were recorded at several stations. The highest were—

Gya	...	...	...	95·3°	on the 27th.
Arrah	...	...	...	94·4°	„ 25th.
Motihari	...	...	...	94·1°	„ 25th.

Winds.—The chief feature during the week was the preponderance of easterly winds. This was mainly due to the relatively low pressure in Orissa and Ganjam. Winds were mainly from south-east in North Orissa and Bengal, and from east-south-east or east in Behar and Chutia Nagpur. They were below their normal strength, more especially during the latter half of the week. Strong winds have, on the other hand, prevailed over the south and centre of the Bay, and will probably extend northwards, and give rain in Bengal during the present week.

Rainfall.—The rainfall of the past week was unusually small in amount, and very deficient over the greater part of the Province. Orissa and the south-western districts of South-West Bengal received frequent showers. Rain fell on almost every day of the week, but the amounts registered were small, and the total rainfall of the week was hence somewhat below the average. The eastern districts of South-West Bengal and East Bengal received rain after the Orissa and Ganjam disturbance had crossed the coast and broken up. Light to moderate showers fell on the 27th, 28th, and 29th, but the total rainfall of the week was generally below the normal. Over the greater part of North Bengal, the rainfall was abnormally small, and consisted mainly of very light local showers, giving barely an average of one inch over the greater part of the division The Julpigoree, Cooch Behar, and Darjeeling districts obtained very heavy rain, which fell on every day, and frequently in large amounts. The following falls of five inches or upward. were registered in that area of locally heavy rainfall during the past week :—

Julpigoree	...	...	...	7·82	inches on the	25th.
Buxa	...	...	...	7 70	„ „	„
Mickligunj	...	...	...	5·00	„ „	„
Cooch Behar	...	...	..	5·75	„ „	26th.

A break in the rains obtained during the week over the greater part of Behar and Chutia Nagpur. A few light showers were received in South Behar, but they were of little importance. A general fall of rain occurred over the whole of North Behar on the 26th. The largest amounts were recorded in the Durbhunga, Mozufferpore, and Chumparun districts, in which rainfall has been for some weeks much below the average and very irregularly distributed. The following gives the most important falls :—

	Inches.
Motihari	3·11
Madhubani	2·70
Muzufferpore	2 47
Durbhunga	2·10

The preceding statements hence indicate that a partial break in the rains obtained during the week under review over a large portion of the interior of the Province. South Behar, Chutia Nagpur, the greater part of North Bengal, and Mymensingh received unusually small amounts. South-West Bengal and Orissa received moderate amounts due to frequent light showers. The northern districts of North Bengal adjoining the hills obtained almost continuous heavy rain during the week North Behar had one day's heavy rain, which gave it amounts differing little from the normal total rainfall of the week.

The rainfall was in excess in the Julpigoree, Chumparun, Darjeeling, Mozufferpore. Durbhunga, Noakhally, Purneah, Commillah and Backerguuge districts. The Julpigoree, districts received 2½ times its normal fall, and the Chumparun twice its normal amount. In the other districts the excess was much smaller, in no case exceeding 25 per cent.

Furreedpore obtained approximately its average amount. Between 70 and 84 per cent. was received in the 24-Pergunnahs, Howrah, Hooghly, Dacca. Chittagong, Rungpore, Balasore, Pooree, and Saruu; between 61 and 50 per cent. in Midnapore, Burdwan, Jessore, Mymensingh and Cuttack; between 40 and 30 per cent. in Manbhoom Bogra, Pubna, Rajshahye, Dinagepore, Moorshedabad, Bancoora, and Beerbhoom; and between 20 and 30 per cent. in the Sonthal Pergunnahs, Nuddea, Patna, and Bhagulpore Less than 20 per cent. of the normal rainfall of the week was received in the following districts :—

Gya	...	...	...	...	14 per cent.
Singbhoom	...	...	...	...	10 „
Shahabad	...	...	...	...	9 „
Hazaribagh	...	...	...	...	9 „

Hence Chutia Nagpur and the Gya and Shahabad districts of South Behar formed the area of most deficient rainfall during the past week.

The complete rainfall returns of the past month, up to the 29th, indicate that the rainfall has been very considerably below the average. Orissa has received 73 per cent. of its normal amount for the month of August, North Behar 72 per cent., South Behar 71 per cent, Chutia Nagpur 70 per cent., North Bengal 69 per cent., and South-West Bengal and East Bengal each 61 per cent. As is almost invariably the case, deficiency in the amount of the rainfall has accompanied very considerable irregularity in its occurrence and distribution. The area in which the rainfall has been most deficient in amount includes the central districts of Bengal. The following table gives data illustrating the character of the rainfall of the past month (August) in these districts :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community taken in February 1881 was not reliable, owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

The worki g results, as regards the total quantity of traffic lifted during the half-year ending June 1884, compared with the same period last year, when equal mileage rates were in force, cannot be said either to be satisfactory o encouraging. During January, February, March and April 1884 the traffic fell off to the alarming extent of 19,081·76 tons. In May and June it partially revived and an increase of 2,485·56 tons and 51 68 tons respectively took place. This favourable turn, however, appears to have been temporary, as in the working results of the month under review again show a decrease of 3,394 02 tons.

This decrease is, as usual, due to short despatches of jute and gunny, but food-grain, salt and tobacco also contribute largely. Recent advices complain of the want of rain, and unless the weather improves a bumper jute and rice crop cannot possibly be expected.

Increases.

Ale ... . Tons 3·97

This traffic is chiefly regulated by the number of troops at Darjeeling. As convalescents are passing up an increase in despatches may be looked for.

Miscellaneous . ... Tons 54·29

This traffic is subject to fluctuations, which it is impossible to trace with accuracy. This increase is apparently due to several heavy consignments of machinery and stores which passed up during the month.

Railway material .. .. Tons 466·61

The total quantity of Railway material carried during the month was 3,732 21 tons, of which 2,574 54 tons was coal for the Locomotive Department.

Sugar ... ... Tons 43·21

This increase, and that recorded last month, will make up partially for recent short despatches.

Seeds ... . Tons 123·53

A firm market with advancing prices will account for this increase.

Tea ... ... Tons 123 66

In the beginning of the month the demand was good, and all useful teas met with fair competition. Prices are, however, declining owing to unfavourable accounts from London.

Decreases.

Food-grain ... ... Tons 884·63

The Calcutta market remains unchanged. This, coupled with the fact that last year's crop suffered considerably from the drought, will explain this falling off.

Ginger ... ... Tons 17 56

The season is drawing to a close.

Gunny-bags ... ... Tons 436·35

The remarks made in my last month's reply still apply.

Jute ... . Tons 1,559·26

The market remains quiet. Small quantities of the new crop have arrived in Calcutta and sold at Rs. 3-7 to Rs. 3 9. The quality, however, is reported to be indifferent, the fibre short, and the colour poor. The want of rain is interfering with proper steeping, and unless more rain falls, the outturn will not be so good as anticipated.

Piece-goods ... . Tons 10 82

This is a very small decrease coming after the heavy despatches of the last three months.

Salt .. .. Tons 573·59

This falling off can only be accounted for by assuming that local markets were fully stocked earlier this year than last.

Tobacco .. .. Tons 727·08

The market for this staple has experienced no material change and no demand exists.

No. 336.—Notification.—It is hereby notified for public information that the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal proposes, under the powers conferred on him by sections XI and XII of Act V (B C.) of 1864 (The Canals Act), to pass the rules, of which a draft is published below, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the said Act in regard to the Eastern Canal Route and the Outer Boat Routes as defined in this Department's Notification No. 301 of the 12th August 1884.

1. Whenever mooring posts may have been put up by the Supervisor, vessels shall be made fast by the head and stern along the banks to such posts, and shall not be moored in any other manner.

2. The Supervisor may by notification prohibit vessels of any particular dimensions from passing through any particular line of navigation, and also prohibit the dropping of anchors or the putting up of bamboos or luggies in any part of the canals or banks.

3. As the water falls, the head and stern ropes of moored vessels must be loosened and the vessels gradually pushed towards the centre of the canal; when the flood comes in these two ropes must be gradually pulled in, and the vessels kept as close to the bank as possible.

4. Vessels whilst loading or unloading in the canals will be allowed to use ladders, but the ladders must be gradually taken in as the water rises.

5. Only one vessel shall be allowed to make fast along and in line with the canal's banks, and no vessel shall be made fast, or be placed outside of vessels so secured No vessel shall be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety of other vessels, or obstruct the passage of other vessels.

6. Vessels passing through the canals shall keep in separate lines: empty vessels keeping close to the bank, and those that are laden in the centre.

7. In portions of the canals where only one towing path exists, vessels shall moor on the off side, and the towing-path side shall always be kept clear. The towing-path side shall be used by vessels going against the tide, and by no others.

8. In order to avoid collision and confusion, vessels waiting for a favourable tide at the junction of two or more rivers shall be moored at a distance of not less than 1,000 feet from the point of junction.

9. No person shall place obstructions on the canal banks or towing-paths, so as to impede a free passage along them, or cause injury to them, or shall commit a nuisance, or deposit filth of any sort on the banks or in the canals, nor do any act to cause injury to the canal works.

10. Every person either personally, or by his servant, infringing any of the above rules, numbered from 1 to 8, shall be liable under section XI of the Canal's Act to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50 for any one infringement; or to a fine not exceeding five rupees a day for any continued infringement.

A notice shall be affixed on such wreck, when recovered, calling on those concerned to pay to the Supervisor any fine which may have been adjudged, as well as the expenses incurred in the recovery or removal of the wreck; and intimating that if the sum be not paid within 15 days of the date of notice, the boat and its contents, or so much of it as may be necessary for the recovery of the dues, will be sold, the proceeds of the sale being dealt with as directed in section IX of the Act.

15. Every Canal Officer is authorized to remove any vessel, anchor, pole, or other thing which he may find in a position which is in contravention of these rules, and to deal with it in such a manner as may be necessary to give effect to the rules.

16. Whenever any laden vessel is seized by a Canal Officer, it shall be the duty of the Supervisor to give immediate notice of the same to the owner, or his agent, and to require the removal of the cargo without delay; intimating at the same time that the owner will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the same.

17. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or of abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel seized under the Canal's Act, he shall notify the seizure by advertisement in his office and in one or more of the Calcutta newspapers or advertisement papers. Such notices shall call upon the owner to cause the immediate removal of the cargo, and to pay any necessary expenses incurred in providing for its proper custody and storage.

18. The Supervisor may incur whatever expense he may think necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo of any vessel seized under the Canal's Act, and if the cargo be not removed within 10 days from the date of seizure, he may sell the same at public auction to the highest bidder, after giving 15 days' notice of the same by advertisement in one or more of the Calcutta newspapers, or advertisement papers, and affixed in his office.

19. The money realized at such a sale shall be applied, first, to defray any expenditure that may have been incurred by the Supervisor on account of the cargo sold, and the balance, if any, shall be held in deposit to be paid to the owner of the said cargo on his applying for the same.

20. The Canals may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to them on one month's notice of the intention so to close them; but in the event of any sudden emergency, the Canals may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claims shall be made in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention.

PART VI.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 20th August, 1884, and was referred to a Select Committee :—

No. 10 OF 1884.

A Bill to amend the Transfer of Property Act, 1882.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Transfer of Property Act, 1882; It is hereby enacted as follows :— IV of 1882.

1. For the fifth clause of section 1 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely :— Amendment of section 1 of Act IV of 1882.

"And any Local Government may, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, from time to time, by notification in the local official Gazette,—

"(a) exempt, either retrospectively or prospectively, any part of the territories administered by such Local Government from all or any of the following provisions, namely :—

"Sections fifty-four, paragraphs two and three, fifty-nine, one-hundred and seven and one hundred and twenty-three; or

"(b) direct, either retrospectively or prospectively, that section forty-one shall not apply throughout any part of those territories to any property in which a member of any race, sect, tribe or class specified in the notification is interested."

2. The following clause shall be deemed to have been added to the first section of the said Act from the date on which it came into force, namely :— Addition to same section.

"Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing part of this section, sections fifty-four, paragraphs two and three, fifty-nine, one hundred and seven and one hundred and twenty-three shall not extend or be extended to any district or tract of country excluded from the operation of the Indian Registration Act, 1877, under the power conferred by the first section of that Act or otherwise." III of 1877.

3. To section 4 of the said Act the following shall be added, namely :— Addition to section 4 of same Act.

"And sections fifty-four, paragraphs two and three, fifty-nine, one hundred and seven and one hundred and twenty-three shall be read as supplemental to the Indian Registration Act, 1877." III of 1877.

4. In section 69 of the said Act— Amendment of section 69 of same Act.

(a) after the words "is valid in the following cases" the words "and in no others" shall be inserted; and

(b) after the words "Hindu, Muhammadan or Buddhist," in both places where they occur, there shall be inserted the words "or a member of any other race, sect, tribe or class from time to time specified by the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, in the local official Gazette in this behalf."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE last clause of section 1 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, provides that any Local Government may, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, exempt, either retrospectively or prospectively, throughout the whole or any part of the territories administered by such Local Government, the members of any race, sect, tribe or class from all or any of the following provisions, namely, sections 41, 54 (paragraphs 2 and 3), 59, 69, 107 and 123.

54 * * Such transfer, in the case of tangible immoveable property of the value of one hundred rupees and upwards, or in the case of a reversion or other intangible thing, can be made only by a registered instrument. *

In the case of tangible immoveable property of a value less than one hundred rupees, such transfer may be made either by a registered instrument or by delivery of the property.

59. Where the principal money secured is one hundred rupees or upwards, a mortgage can be effected only by a registered instrument signed by the mortgagor and attested by at least two witnesses.

Where the principal money secured is less than one hundred rupees, a mortgage may be effected either by an instrument signed and attested as aforesaid, or (except in the case of a simple mortgage) by delivery of the property.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to render invalid mortgages made in the towns of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Karáchí and Rangoon, by delivery to a creditor or his agent of documents of title to immoveable property, with intent to create a security thereon.

107. A lease of immoveable property from year to year, or for any term exceeding one year, or reserving a yearly rent, can be made only by a registered instrument.

All other leases of immoveable property may be made either by an instrument or by oral agreement.

123. For the purpose of making a gift of immoveable property, the transfer must be effected by a registered instrument signed by or on behalf of the donor, and attested by at least two witnesses. *

For the purpose of making a gift of moveable property, the transfer may be effected either by a registered instrument signed as aforesaid or by delivery.

Such delivery may be made in the same way as goods sold may be delivered.

2. In a letter, dated the 6th September, 1882, the Chief Commissioner of Assam asked for an expression of opinion from the Government of India as to the effect which the exemption under that clause, of "any race, sect, tribe or class" from the provisions of section 54 (paragraphs 2 and 3) and sections 59, 107 and 123, which are set out on the margin, has upon transactions, one of the parties concerned in which is a member of such race, sect, tribe or class, while the other party does not belong to an exempted class.

3. To this reference the Government of India, on the 13th December, 1882, replied that the precise manner in which the exemption would operate under the circumstances described was a matter of some difficulty; and the only satisfactory means by which an intelligible operation might be given to section 1 of the Act seemed to be the amendment of that section so as to make the exemption from sections 54, 59, 107 and 123 local and not personal.

4. The Chief Commissioner, in a letter dated 12th January, 1883, suggested as an alternative, and in his opinion a preferable one, a power to exempt not persons or places but transactions in which one or both of the parties might be members of the race, sect, tribe or class for which the sections in question might be deemed unsuitable.

5. It was thought desirable to obtain the opinions of the other Local Governments on the two alternative proposals thus put forward, and accordingly, on the 7th May, 1883, a circular was issued for this purpose.

6. It will be observed that the question thus raised was confined to the power conferred by section 1 of the Act to exempt from the operation of sections 54, 59, 107 and 123; but, attention having been once drawn to the subject, it was natural that the effect of an exemption from the other two sections of the Act (41 and 69) mentioned in section 1 and set out in the margin should also be considered; and, on looking into the matter, it was found that, while an exemption under either of those sections would give rise to questions very similar to those raised by the Chief Commissioner of Assam in the case of the sections referred to by him, there was this further difficulty in regard to section 69 that the object of allowing any power to exempt from it was not apparent. The circular accordingly asked for the opinions of the Local Governments in regard to these sections also.

41. Where, with the consent, express or implied, of the persons interested in immoveable property, a person is the ostensible owner of such property and transfers the same for consideration, the transfer shall not be voidable on the ground that the transferor was not authorized to make it: provided that the transferee, after taking reasonable care to ascertain that the transferor had power to make the transfer, has acted in good faith.

69. A power conferred by the mortgage-deed on the mortgagee, or on any person on his behalf, to sell or concur in selling, in default of payment of the mortgage-money, the mortgaged property, or any part thereof, without the intervention of the Court, is valid in the following cases (namely)—

(a) where the mortgage is an English mortgage, and neither the mortgagor nor the mortgagee is a Hindú, Muhammadan or Buddhist;

(b) where the mortgagee is the Secretary of State for India in Council;

(c) where the mortgaged property or any part thereof is situate within the towns of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Karáchí or Rangoon.

But no such power shall be exercised unless and until—

(1) notice in writing requiring payment of the principal money has been served on the mortgagor or one of several mortgagors, and default has been made in payment of the principal money, or of part thereof, for three months after such service; or

(2) some interest under the mortgage amounting at least to five hundred rupees is in arrear and unpaid for three months after becoming due.

When a sale has been made in professed exercise of such a power, the title of the purchaser shall not be impeachable on the ground that no case had arisen to authorise the sale, or that due notice was not given, or that the power was otherwise improperly or irregularly exercised; but any person damnified by an unauthorised, or improper or irregular exercise of the power shall have his remedy in damages against the person exercising the power.

The money which is received by the mortgagee, arising from the sale, after discharge of prior incumbrances, if any, to which the sale is not made subject, or after payment into court under section fifty-seven of a sum to meet any prior incumbrance, shall, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, be held by him in trust to be applied by him, first, in payment of all costs, charges and expenses properly incurred by him as incident to the sale or any attempted sale; and, secondly, in discharge of the mortgage-money and costs and other money, if any, due under the mortgage; and the residue of the money so received shall be paid to the person entitled to the mortgaged property or authorized to give receipts for the proceeds of the sale thereof.

Nothing in the former part of this section applies to powers conferred before this Act comes into force.

The powers and provisions contained in sections six to nineteen (both inclusive) of the Trustees and Mortgagees' Powers Act, 1866, shall be deemed to apply to English mortgages, wherever in British India the mortgaged property may be situate, when neither the mortgagor nor the mortgagee is a Hindú, Muhammadan or Buddhist.

7. The replies of the Local Governments have now been received and considered by the Government of India, and the following are the conclusions to which they seem to point.

8. In the first place, as regards the power of exempting from the operation of sections 54, 59, 107 and 123, it seems to the Governor General in Council best to make it simply a power of exempting locally, that is to say, the exemption should be absolute and cover transactions relating to any immoveable property within the specified area, whether both or one or none of the parties may belong to those races or tribes for whose benefit the exemption is intended. To give a personal character to the exemption and restrict it, as some suggest, to transactions within the area, to which either both parties or one of the parties are of particular races, would give rise to uncertainty of title and other difficulties and doubts noticed by Sir C. Turner and others. With a local exemption clause of an absolute character an intending purchaser has to look to nothing but the situation of the property.

9. It is true that there may be advanced people living in exempted localities for whom the sections in question would provide a law more suitable than that which prevails where they do not apply, but it must be remembered that these people always could, and Europeans, it is believed, generally would, follow the practice of having formally executed and registered documents, and this would to a great extent give them the benefits aimed at by the Act; for it must be borne in mind that in the places in question titles would not usually be complicated, and in any case the sections of the Act referred to are not an essential part of the law, but merely an improvement of it, which is not in force as yet in great provinces like Bombay, the Panjáb and British Burma. Again, on the other hand, it is true that there may be members of wild tribes settled in some non-exempted localities, and that they may find it difficult to learn to act up to the law; but, as has been observed by some of the authorities consulted, wild people scattered in this way among a population the great mass of which is civilized soon get into the ways of the people among whom they live.

In either case the objection is one that must apply to most of our enacted laws, and indeed to a good deal of the customary law of the country. We cannot get a law that will suit everybody; we must be content with a reasonably close approximation.

10. The first section of the Bill accordingly amends section 1 of the Act so as to empower a Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, to exempt any part of the territories under its administration from the operation of any of these sections.

11. Next, as regards the powers to exclude the operation of section 41, the considerations to be borne in mind are fully stated by the Chief Justice of Madras in his opinion.

Sir C. Turner observes that the general rule that no one can confer a higher right in property than he himself possesses in some cases worked obvious hardship; and, as the science of jurisprudence advanced, it was limited by the exception declared in section 41, on the principle that, where one of two innocent persons must suffer from the fraud of a third party, the loss should fall on him who has created or could have prevented the opportunity for the fraud. To races which have not made a substantial progress in civilization, this rule appears to Sir Charles Turner to be unsuited for the following reasons, as stated in his own words:—

"Regarding the question in its sentimental aspect, it is certain that a member of a race unacquainted with the refinements of equity would fail to recognize the justice of a rule which caused him to be deprived of his property by what is ex hypothesi a fraud.

"I do not contend that legislation is to be governed by sentimental considerations, but I have heretofore asserted, and still hold, that legislation should only be so far in advance of the general understanding that its justice should be recognized by the more enlightened.

"There is, however, a substantial reason to be deduced from the rule itself, which shows its inapplicability to uncivilized races. The rule affords protection only to a purchaser for consideration who acts in good faith after reasonable inquiry.

"The imposition of these conditions on the purchaser suggests to persons, who have occasion to create an ostensible ownership of their property in others, the prudence of providing certain safeguards. If they are well advised, they are careful to secure evidence of the actual ownership, so that a purchaser, on making due inquiry, must either ascertain the true character of the transaction, or entertain such suspicion of its character that he can no longer assert that he acted in good faith.

"The transactions of uncivilized races in the matter of property are of the simplest character; they are unacquainted with the precautions which technical skill has devised to secure property.

"Again, as society progresses, men are habituated to exercise greater caution in their dealings with their fellows, and have larger opportunities for selecting agents who are reputed either to be worthy of confidence or to be in a position to answer for a breach of confidence. A prudent man selects for an office of trust a person of tried probity and some substance. The uncivilized races have less choice in the selection of agents and less opportunity for forming a judgment of the character and position of their agents."

12. The conclusion to which these remarks seem to point is that the Government should be empowered to direct that section 41 should not apply throughout any particular local area to any property in which a member of any particular race, sect, tribe or class is interested, and it is on these lines that sub-clause (b) of the new fifth clause which the Bill proposes to insert in the first section of the Act has been framed.

13. The discussion regarding section 69 has opened out questions extending beyond the particular difficulty first brought to notice, and it is fortunate that the Government have had in considering them the assistance of Sir C. Turner, who was a member of the Commission by which the Transfer of Property Bill was settled.

The circumstances under which the section was enacted will be found stated in the following extract from his Minute :

"In England, it is usual to confer on a mortgagee, in case of default, a power to sell the mortgaged property without the intervention of a Court of justice ; and, where the instrument of mortgage does not confer the power, but does not in express terms negative it, a mortgagee is empowered by statute to sell on the expiry of twelve months after the date of default and of six months from the date on which notice is given of his intention to exercise the power—23 & 24 Vic., c. 145. This statutory provision was, by Act XXVIII of 1866, extended to mortgages in this country to which the English law is applicable.

"On the other hand, the simple mortgage in India did not authorize a sale without the order of a Court, and by Regulation XVII of 1806 in the Bengal Presidency it had been enacted that a mortgage by conditional sale should not become foreclosed without the service of a notice through the District Court, and on the expiry of a year of grace. Inferring the policy of the legislature from this Regulation, the Sadr Díwání Adálat refused to give effect to an express power of sale—S. D. A., 1847-354. In the Bombay Presidency, Mr. Justice Melville expressed a doubt whether a private sale of property in the Mufassal, effected by a mortgagee under a power, would be valid—VIII Bombay H. C., A. C., 143.

"On the other hand, I entertained the opinion, and I believe acted on it before the Transfer of Property Act came into operation, that, in the absence of a prohibition of law, the owner of property was competent to confer on a mortgagee what powers he himself possessed, and that, if a mortgagor having, as owner, authority to sell, created a power of sale in a mortgagee, and the mortgagee duly exercised the power, the Courts were bound to recognize the validity of the sale.

"In Bhanoomutty Chawdiam vs. Premchund Nengee, XV B. L. R. 28, property in the Mufassal had been mortgaged by an instrument in the English form containing a power of sale, and subsequently mortgaged to a third party by a conditional sale. The first mortgagee then exercised his power of sale, and subsequently to the sale the second mortgagee took proceedings to foreclose. It was held that the purchaser under the power was entitled to notice of foreclosure, and impliedly that a sale under a power might be valid."

"In this state of the authorities," Sir Charles Turner continues, "it fell to the Law Commission to offer for the acceptance of the legislature a proposal to settle the law. It was felt that, in accordance with the principles of freedom of contract, an owner of property should be at liberty to confer on a mortgagee any of the powers which he could himself exercise, and that a borrower might more readily obtain accommodation, or obtain it on easier terms, if he could offer a security which would be speedily converted by the tender without the delay and the cost of an application to a Court of justice. On the other hand, it was recognized that in this country the large majority of mortgage-securities are created by persons who are poor and illiterate in favour of more sharpwitted creditors, and that, in an agricultural country, landed securities are subject to sudden and excessive variations in value, which are rarely foreseen by borrowers. The Commission came to the conclusion that, while more wealthy borrowers in the country and all borrowers in the presidency-towns might be left to deal with their property as they pleased, it was necessary in the present state of British India to create a legislative safeguard for the poorer classes in the country. They, therefore, proposed that the creation of a power of sale should be declared invalid except in mortgages where the principal money secured exceeded Rs. 500, or in mortgages to the Secretary of State or in mortgages of property in the presidency-towns. In Committee, the section was recast. Instead of declaring that a power of sale conferred by the instrument of mortgage is invalid except in the cases specified, the section, as it now stands, declares that in certain cases it is valid."

Sir Charles Turner adds—

"Unless it be held that the express declaration of the validity of such a power in certain cases is tantamount to a declaration of its invalidity in other cases, which I incline to doubt, the object sought by the Law Commission has not been attained, and the validity of the power in cases other than those specified is still left an open question.

"It may have been desirable that the protection the Law Commission intended to confer in the case of mortgages for small amounts should have been extended to mortgages for somewhat larger sums, but I think it is to be regretted that the amendment should have been effected in such terms as to leave the question doubtful whether any protection is given to mortgages of any class or amount, and I trust advantage may be taken of the opportunity to re-consider the provisions of the section. It will be seen that the section, as it now stands, affects only—

"(1) parties to an English mortgage, i.e., a mortgage in the English form, who are not Hindús, Muhammadans or Buddhists (an inexact enumeration of the creeds held by natives of India);

"(2) parties to a mortgage to the Secretary of State;

"(3) parties to mortgages of property in the presidency-towns.

"As the section now stands, I do not see any reason for including it in the class of sections for which certain races may be exempted; I apprehend it was included before it was recast."

14. Section 4 of the Bill accordingly amends section 69 of the Act so as to express clearly what was actually intended, and no power to exempt from the main provisions of the section has been retained; but, as Mr Justice Muthuswami Aiyar has pointed out that there are other classes whom it is even more necessary to exclude from the operation of the exceptional provision in clause (a) than Hindús, Muhammadans and Buddhists, words have been added to that clause to provide a power of excluding them.

15. Section 2 of the Bill is intended merely to remove a formal defect in the Act which has been brought to notice in the course of the recent discussions. It was of course never intended that the provisions of the Act which assume the existence of a registration system should take effect in those tracts which are excluded from the operation of the Registration Act; but the Act omitted to make any express provision to that effect, and that omission is now supplied.

16. The addition which it is proposed to make to section 4 of the Act by section 3 of the Bill has for its object merely to remove a difficulty which has been felt in some quarters as to the bearing which the provisions of the Act relating to registration and the Registration Act have on one another.

(2) A District Judge receiving an application under this section may, in his discretion, reject the same or make an order absolutely or subject to conditions for the removal of the telegraph line or post to any other part of the property or to a higher or lower level or for the alteration of its form, and the order so made shall be final and conclusive.

"Provided that the fines so imposed shall not exceed the following limits, namely:—

"(1) when the licensee or lessee is punishable for the breach, one thousand rupees, and in the case of a continuing breach a further fine of two hundred rupees for every day after the first during the whole or any part of which the breach continues;

"(2) when a servant of the licensee or lessee or any other person is punishable for the breach, one-fourth of those amounts."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE main object of this Bill is to give power to the Government, and to any company or person licensed under section 4 of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1876, and specially empowered in this behalf, to place telegraph lines under or over property belonging whether to private persons or to public bodies.

2. The attention of the Government has recently been directed to the fact that, as the law now stands, the Governor General in Council and his licensees have no power to place telegraph lines upon the land of municipal or other similar bodies or of private persons. In England the requisite powers are conferred on the Postmaster General, who works and maintains the telegraphs in that country, by 26 & 27 Vic., cap. 112, as amended by 41 & 42 Vic., cap. 76; and as it seems desirable that the Government in which the exclusive privilege of establishing telegraphs in this country is vested should possess somewhat similar powers, the present Bill has been prepared.

3. Section 3 empowers the Government or any company or person licensed under section 4 of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1876, and specially authorized by a Government officer to place and maintain telegraph lines and posts under, over, along, across, in or upon the property of any "person", which term includes a body corporate. It is considered that licensees should have these powers, because the licenses granted always strictly limit the area of the operations of the licensees, and it would be somewhat anomalous for local bodies and private persons to have the power to neutralize the licenses granted by the Governor General in Council by objecting to the licensees' operations, or by hampering them by the exaction of fees for permission to work under their licenses. The powers thus given are, however, to be exercised so as to do as little damage as possible, and their exercise is moreover made subject to important restrictions and conditions.

4. When the property belongs to a municipal board or other local authority, the powers conferred by the Act cannot be exercised over it without the consent of that authority; and that consent may be given subject to conditions. Among other conditions which can be imposed is one requiring that any expenses to which the local authority may be put by the exercise of the power shall be made good; but it will be observed that no provision is made for the payment of compensation on any other account to a local authority whose property is made use of for this purpose, it being considered that, as the construction of telegraphs is a matter in which the public are interested, no charge should be made for accommodation of this sort when it can be granted without inconvenience to the public or expense to the local authority concerned.

5. It may sometimes happen that, though at the time when a telegraph authority desires to exercise its powers over some property of a local authority there may be no reasonable ground for objecting, and the local authority may thus find itself compelled to consent, a state of things may subsequently arise under which the continued exercise of the powers would be felt as a grave public inconvenience or a cause of serious loss. Land, e.g., which was waste at the time the telegraph line was constructed over it might afterwards be required for some important public object or might acquire great value for building purposes, and, as no compensation (except for actual expenses out of pocket) would have been paid to the local authority at the time the line was constructed, it is but just that provision should be made for the removal or alteration of the line in such an event. This accordingly is done by section 5 of the Bill, which empowers the local authority to call upon the telegraph authority to remove or alter its telegraph or post, and, in the event of the telegraph authority refusing or neglecting to do so, gives an appeal to the Local Government.

6. In the event, which it is believed will be rare, of a local authority arbitrarily refusing its consent to the exercise by a telegraph authority of the powers conferred by the Bill or clogging its consent with unreasonable conditions, it will (section 7) be open to the telegraph authority to appeal to the Local Government, whose decision will be final.

7. Turning now to the case in which it may be desired to exercise the powers given by the Bill over the property of private persons, it will be seen that here provision is made for the payment of full compensation, the amount of which in the event of dispute, will (section 9) be determined by the Civil Court, and that, in the event of a person upon whose property a telegraph line or post has been placed desiring subsequently to deal with the property in such a way as would make it necessary or convenient that the line or post should be removed to another part of it or to a higher or lower level or altered in form, he can (section 10) tender the cost of the work and call upon the telegraph authority to remove or alter the line or post, and, if that authority refuses to do so, can appeal to the Civil Court.

8. It may be observed, however, that in practice in this country the power of taking telegraph lines through private property is not likely to be exercised either by the Government or by its licensees except on rare occasions, and then as a rule only to the extent of crossing with the wire, a post being scarcely ever erected on private land. Private property has hitherto been always avoided as much as possible, and it is likely to be still more carefully avoided in future if it is made clear, as it is proposed to do by this Bill, that full compensation will have to be paid for exercising the power over private and not for exercising it over public property.

9. The present opportunity has been taken to make three amendments of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1876, which experience has shown to be desirable. The first has for its object the emendation of the definition of "telegraph" so as to bring it into more exact conformity with the construction put upon the definitions in the English Acts by a recent decision of the High Court of Justice in England.

10. The second is intended to provide for the regulation of telegraph lines constructed by the Government but leased to companies or individuals by whom they are worked. The position of such lines under the Act as it at present stands is far from clear, and the object of the amendment proposed in section 12 of the Bill is to put them on much the same footing as licensed lines.

11. The object of the third amendment, which is made by section 13 of the Bill, is to prescribe penalties for the breach of the rules made under section 8 of the Act for the conduct of telegraphs worked under license or lease. In such cases, as the Act now stands, the only remedy is to revoke the license or lease, but this course would in most cases cause such great public inconvenience that it is impracticable. The result is that at present there is virtually no penalty for the infringement of the rules made under section 8 of the Act. To remedy this state of things, the Bill adds a clause to that section empowering the Governor General in Council to prescribe by the rules moderate fines for the breach of them.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—FINANCE.

Darjeeling, the 30th August 1884.

RESOLUTION.

THE Lieutenant-Governor is now in a position to review the actual financial results of the year 1882-83, the revised estimates for 1883-84, and the budget estimates for 1884-85. The Accountant-General has submitted his final report on the accounts for 1882-83, the orders of the Government of India on the estimates for the current year have been received, and the Lieutenant-Governor has sufficient materials for framing a second revised estimate of the receipts and expenditure of the year that expired on the 31st March last.

ACCOUNTS OF PROVINCIAL SERVICES FOR 1882-83.

2. The year 1882-83 being the first year of the period for which a new financial contract has been made, a comparison of the accounts of that year with those of the previous year will hardly be of any interest. A comparison with the budget estimates for 1882-83 will show to what extent the anticipations formed at the beginning of the year have actually been realized, and the effect of the contract on the Provincial Revenues. It will not be necessary here to enter into the details of the contract, the principle of which is, as has already been explained in the Financial Resolutions of past years, that instead of giving the Local Government a fixed sum of money to make good any excess of provincialized expenditure over provincialized receipts, a certain percentage of the Imperial revenue has been devoted to this object. A few heads of receipts and expenditure have been reserved as Imperial others have been divided in proportions, for the most part equal, between Imperial and Provincial, and the rest have been made Provincial. The balance of transfers being against the Local Government has been rectified by a fixed percentage on the land revenue of the Province, otherwise reserved as Imperial. The percentage of land revenue has, however, been calculated after allowing for the claim of the Government of India to share the general improvement that resulted to the Provincial revenues during the five years preceding the new contract. That share has been fixed at 30 lakhs a year. From this the Government of India have deducted three lakhs to be expended on the improvement of the Subordinate Executive and Judicial Services, and the establishment of the new district of Khoolna. In order, also, that the Local Government might not be embarrassed by a sudden reduction of 27 lakhs in its income, a sum of Rs. 28½ lakhs was added to the credit balance of the province for 1881-82. In the Resolution of the 3rd July 1883, it was shewn that, with this addition of 28½ lakhs, and the restoration of 20 lakhs which had been contributed to the Imperial treasury in the two years 1879-80 and 1880-81, the Provincial Services closed the year 1881-82 with a credit balance of Rs. 77,20,000 instead of Rs. 14,46,000 as originally estimated. In the sum of Rs. 77,20,000 was included Rs. 1,77,000 which represented the expenditure on account of Census operations charged to Provincial, but subsequently refunded by the Government of India. This adjustment, however, was not finally made in 1881-82, and the year actually closed with a credit balance of Rs. 75,43,011.

3. The following abstract exhibits in a condensed form the results of the year 1882-83 compared with the estimates for the year as adopted in the Financial Resolution of the 18th April 1882 :—

Receipts.			Outgoings.
Budget.	Accounts.		Budget.	Accounts.

The net results are shown below :—

Public works not classed as Productive
Contribution	10,64,091	.....
Total ...	10,39,901	.....

4. Of the net improvement under "Revenue," amounting to Rs. 10,46,509, a sum of Rs. 5,16,000 is due to the transfer of miscellaneous refunds from this head to service heads. Apart from this, the total Land Revenue of the Province exceeded the original estimate by Rs. 4,88,000, and the Provincial share, including certain adjustments with the Supreme and other Governments, aggregated Rs. 1,30,54,000 against the original estimate of Rs. 1,24,98,000. Against this increase of revenue there was an increase of expenditure under Land Revenue amounting to Rs. 9,000, and the net improvement under that head was Rs. 5,47,000. There was also an increase of Rs. 15,000 under "Refunds" of Revenue heads, and the net results under the remaining heads were as follow:—

	Better.	Worse.
	Rs.	Rs.
Opium (value of Europe stores)	.....	19,000

	2,17,000	2,19,000
Total ...	.....	2,000

5. The net improvement under "Civil Administration" amounted to Rs. 5,175. There was an increase in receipts and expenditure under Marine and Education, and a decrease under Law and Justice, Police and Medical. There was an increase of Rs. 42,000 in expenditure under General Administration, and the net loss under Scientific and other Minor Departments was Rs. 68,000. The result would have been better by Rs. 1,53,000, but for the fact that refunds to this extent, which were formerly adjusted under a separate head—Refunds and Drawbacks—are now included in the various service heads.

6. The increase of expenditure under "Miscellaneous" was due to the increase of superannuation charges owing to the reduction of establishments in the Customs House, to the inclusion of refunds of printing and miscellaneous receipts aggregating Rs. 1,03,000, and to larger expenditure under Stationery than was anticipated when the estimate was first framed.

7. The actual transactions of the three departments of "Railways," "Irrigation and Navigation," and "Civil Buildings and Roads," as compared with the original estimates, show the following results:—

	Receipts.		Expenditure.		Net Result.
	Better.	Worse.	Better.	Worse.	Better.	Worse.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Railways ...	1,68,454	.....	.....	3,30,310	.....	1,61,856
Irrigation and Navigation	1,81,505	.....	1,56,902	.....	3,38,307	.....

Total ...	3,83,595	.....	.....	10,70,524	.....	6,86,929

The bulk of the excess of expenditure over the estimate for 1882-83 was under the head of Civil Buildings, Roads and Services, and was due to—

(1). Charges for land.

(2). Higher proportion of establishment charges debited to Provincial Services.

(3). Exhibition buildings.

(4). Burrakur ironworks.

(5). Unadjusted land charges.

8. The amount shewn under the head of "Contribution from local" in the original estimate represented the accumulated balance of the Estates' Improvement Fund, which was to be amalgamated with the Provincial balance. The actual balance amounted to Rs. 1,39,000 and was incorporated in the Provincial account of 1881-82. On the other hand, a sum of Rs. 13,50,000 was provided in the original budget as a reserve for grants for local purposes during the year, and a sum of Rs. 1,36,000 for contribution to the Imperial treasury on account of anticipated savings in the Customs Department. The savings in the Customs Department have been adjusted under Land Revenue, and the grants to Local Funds aggregated Rs. 2,83,663 only.

9. The net result of the year was, as shown above, an improvement of Rs. 10,39,901, and the year closed with a credit balance of Rs. 21,46,912 against Rs. 8,13,000 as originally estimated. But the result, though favourable in comparison with the original estimate for 1882-83, has not been so in comparison with the revised estimate for that year. The total amount available for expenditure was, according to this estimate, Rs. 4,82,87,000, and the actual amount at the disposal of the Local Government was Rs. 4,84,33,490; but, on the other hand, the total outgoings aggregated Rs. 4,62,86,578 against the revised estimate of Rs. 4,56,91,000, and the year actually closed, as stated above, with a balance of Rs. 21,46,912 instead of Rs. 25,96,000, as anticipated when the revised estimate was framed. This decrease is the more unfortunate, as, in consideration of a report from the Public Works Department that there would be a saving under "Railways" and "Irrigation and Navigation," and no excess under "Civil Buildings," the Public Works grant for 1883-84 was increased by Rs. 2,50,000. The actual expenditure of the Public Works Department, as compared with the revised estimate, is shown below:—

	Revised estimate.	Actuals.	Difference.
	Rs	Rs	Rs
Railways	38,92,000	39,00,310	—8,310
Irrigation and Navigation	35,22,000	35,15,198	6,802
Civil Buildings, Roads and Services in charge of Public Works Department	59,63,000	66,82,211	—7,19,211
Total ...	1,33,77,000	1,40,97,719	—7,20,719

Had it not been for this unanticipated excess of expenditure in the Public Works Department, the opening balance for 1883-84 would have exceeded 28½ lakhs. Measures have now been taken, which it is hoped will prevent a recurrence of such results. It must not, however, be overlooked that the Public Works Department experienced difficulties in suddenly contracting operations which had been initiated at a time when the Provincial finances were in a flourishing condition, and when the late Lieutenant-Governor was able to assign large sums for expenditure on works which could only be carried out with the aid of a large establishment.

Revised Estimate of Provincial Services for 1883-84.

10. A revised estimate based on the actuals of eight months, and in some instances of ten months, was submitted to the Government of India with letter No. 1157, dated 7th March 1884. Later information has induced the Lieutenant-Governor to modify these estimates to a certain extent.

11. The following statement shows the estimates for the year 1882-83 as adopted in the Financial Resolution of the 3rd July 1883, the revised estimates as submitted to the Government of India in March last, and the estimates as now modified :—

RECEIPTS.

12. Land Revenue.—The total land revenue for the year 1883-84 was originally estimated at Rs. 3,79,88,000 and the Provincial share at Rs. 1,25,91,000. The latest return from the Comptroller-General shows that the total land revenue of the Province may have amounted to Rs. 3,79,36,000, and the—

	Rs.
Provincial share at 32·2284 amounts to	1,22,26,000
To this has to be added—
For Undaunted	65,000
„ Cemetery charges	8,000
„ Inter-Provincial adjustments	1,42,000
„ Charges for repairing the Nizamut buildings	5,000
„ Readjustment of survey charges debited to Provincial in the accounts of 1882-83 (vide Financial order No. 1676, dated the 19th June 1884)	7,000
„ Loss in record-room receipts in consequence of their transfer from Registration to Land Revenue	15,000
„ Loss in consequence of the transfer of record-room charges from Registration to Land Revenue	36,000
One-half cost of process-serving establishments of District Committees amalgamated with those of Collectors' offices, the entire charge being adjusted under Land Revenue—Provincial—while the recoveries from the District Committees are taken in stamps	25,000
For pay of the Ophthalmic Surgeon, Medical College Hospital ...	6,000
Ten per cent. collection on Government estates	3,83,000
	1,29,18,000
From this total, however, have to be deducted—
On account of savings in Customs establishments owing to the abolition of import duty	68,000
For extension of meteorological observations	17,000
For capital expenditure on Sonarpore-Diamond Harbour line and Parbuttypore-Dinagepore extension to end of 1883-84 transferred from budget head 40 (Provincial) to budget head 50 (Imperial)	37,17,000*
	38,02,000
Total Provincial share of land revenue	91,16,000

	Capital expenditure to end of 1882-83.	Probable capital outlay in 1883-84.
	Rs.	Rs.
* Sonarpore-Diamond Harbour	22,36,000	3,28,000
Parbuttypore-Dinagepore	6,89,000	4,64,000
	29,25,000	7,92,000
	37,17,000

The proposal to refund to Provincial the capital laid out from Provincial funds on the Parbuttypore-Dinagepore line has not met with the approval of the Government of India, but this line, as well as the Sonarpore Diamond Harbour extension, have been classed as Productive Public Works, and the outlay on them from Provincial Funds will be treated as a contribution to Imperial, and adjusted through the budget head Land Revenue in the accounts of the year 1883-84. The expenditure to end of 1882-83 will be shown in the Provincial account as a credit under 40—State Railways capital. The total Provincial share of Land Revenue for 1883-84 will be entered at Rs. 91,16,000, as shown above, instead of Rs. 1,28,95,000 as reported to the Government of India in March last.

13. Salt.—The total receipts for 1883-84 were originally estimated at Rs. 1,59,000. There has been a falling off under "Rents of warehouses" owing to the small quantity of salt in the Sulkea Golahs, and to a decrease in bonding operations. The revised estimate, as submitted to the Government of India in March last, was placed at Rs. 1,15,000, which has now been reduced to one lakh.

14. The receipts from Stamps and Excise will probably have exceeded the original estimate, but not to the extent anticipated in March last. The revised estimates now stand at Rs. 62,88,000 and Rs. 52,13,000 respectively.

15. The increase under Provincial Rates on the original estimate amounts to Rs. 1,71,000, and on the revised estimate, Rs. 73,000. This is due to revaluations.

16. The revised estimate of the Customs receipts now amounts to Rs. 54,000 against the original estimate of Rs. 65,000. The decrease is mainly due to the abolition of the import duty.

17. The Provincial share of the Assessed Taxes will probably not have exceeded Rs. 7,59,000. The decrease is probably due to the absence of systematic re-assessment.

18. The Provincial share of the Forest receipts for the year 1882-83 were Rs. 3,46,979, and the actuals of the past year will probably not have amounted to more than Rs. 3,50,000, which is the same as the revised estimate of the Government of India.

19. Registration.—The revised estimate under this head amounts to Rs. 4,91,000, which, compared with the original estimate, shows a decrease of Rs. 30,000. The decrease is due to the transfer of record-room receipts to "Land Revenue."

20. The total receipts under "Civil Administration" will probably have aggregated Rs. 35,96,000 against the original estimate of Rs. 42,56,000 and the revised estimate of Rs. 41,09,000. The marked decrease which occurs under this head is mainly due to effect being given to the policy of the Government in discouraging the more remunerative kinds of jail manufacture which were held to compete injuriously with private local enterprise. The loss is balanced to a considerable extent by a decrease in expenditure on account of purchase of raw materials for manufacture. There is a decrease of nearly a lakh under Law and Justice (proper). The receipts under this head partake largely of the character of casual receipts, the regularity of which from year to year is, as it were, the balance of many chances. The receipts in 1882-83 were Rs. 8,23,309, and the revised estimate now amounts to Rs. 7,64,000.

21. Police.—The anticipated increase under recoveries on account of village police has not been realized, and there has been a falling off under miscellaneous receipts. The revised estimate now stands at Rs. 5,63,000 against Rs. 6,25,000, the original estimate.

22. Education.—The decrease under this head, compared with the original estimate, amounts to Rs. 89,000, and is mainly due to no contribution being realized from the municipalities towards the maintenance of high schools. This subject is still under consideration.

23. Miscellaneous.—The original estimate of Rs. 6,82,000 under this head has been reduced to Rs. 4,85,000. This large reduction is due to a change of practice by which the refunds of lapsed deposits are deducted from the amount of unclaimed deposits transferred to credit of Government, the net receipts only being shewn in the accounts.

24. XXV. State Railways.—The original estimate of the Financial Department, exclusive of the earnings of the Sonarpore-Diamond Harbour extension, and inclusive of the net receipts from the Patna-Gya line, was Rs. 40,83,000. The Government of India have placed the revised estimate, including the earnings of the Sonarpore-Diamond Harbour line, and the gross earnings of the Patna-Gya Railway, at Rs. 39,25,000, which is made up as follows:—

	Rs.
Northern Bengal	21,10,000
Tirhoot	9,50,000
Patna-Gya	4,70,000
Calcutta and South-Eastern Railway	3,15,000
Nulhati	80,000
Total ...	39,25,000

The estimate of the total earnings of the Northern Bengal State Railway, as framed by the Government of India, appears to be too low. The actuals during the first 11 months of the year were Rs. 19,69,000, and the receipts of March 1883 were Rs. 2,55.000. The revised estimate may safely be placed at Rs. 22,00,000 in round numbers. The estimate of the Government of India will therefore be increased by Rs. 90,000, and the revised estimate of the total revenue be placed at Rs. 40,15,000. The marked decrease in the revised estimate, compared with the original estimate, is mainly due to the late opening of the Tirhoot extensions, and the failure of the jute trade in Northern Bengal.

25. XXVII. Irrigation and Navigation.—The original estimate under this head has been reduced by Rs. 75,000, and the revised estimate, as accepted by the Government of India, stands at Rs. 12,25,000. The receipts will probably not have exceeded Rs. 11,67,000. This amount will accordingly be taken as the revised estimate.

26. XXIX.—State Railways.—The original estimate under this head included the receipts from the Sonarpore-Diamond Harbour extension. The revised estimate comprises only the receipts from the Kaunia-Dhurla Railway, which has not yet been classed as a "Productive Public Works."

27. Civil Buildings, &c., in charge of Public Works Department.—The revised estimate, as submitted to the Government of India in March last, included an extraordinary item of four lakhs on account of the purchase money of the East Indian Railway offices in Calcutta, and of Rs. 10,000 on account of the sale proceeds of "Mount Pleasant" at Darjeeling. The sale of this building could not be effected last year, and the purchase money from the East Indian Railway Company was also not realized during that year. The revised estimate now stands at Rs. 2,00,000, which is less than the original estimate by Rs. 50,000. The decrease is due to falling off in the profits from brick manufacture at Akra owing to the charges of carriage of bricks from kiln to boats being now included in the cost of bricks.

Expenditure.

28. Refunds.—There were exceptional refunds during 1883-84 in adjustment of Public Works Cess collections between 24-Pergunnahs and Khoolna, and Khoolna, and Jessore. The revised estimate now stands at Rs. 1,41,000, against the original estimate of Rs. 1,13,000.

29. Land Revenue.—The estimate under this head has been increased from Rs 31,53,000 to Rs. 32,97,000. The increase is due to the transfer of nearly the whole of the record-room charges from Registration to this head; to the amalgamation of the process-serving establishments of the District Road Committees with those of the Collectors; and to increase of expenditure specially under the heads of Government Estates and allowances to District Officers.

30. Stamps.—The revised estimate of the provincial share of expenditure amounts to Rs. 2,28,000, against the original estimate of Rs. 2,15,000.

31. Excise.—The decrease of Rs. 11,000 in the revised estimate, compared with the original estimate, is due to a large portion of the establishment of the Calcutta Collectorate, which was formerly debited to this head, having been transferred to Stamps. There is a corresponding increase under that head.

32. Customs.—The estimate under this head has been reduced from Rs. 4,96,000 to Rs. 4,82,000. The decrease is almost entirely under the head of Calcutta Custom House, and is due to the revision of the Appraising and Clerical establishments, and to the fact that one-half of the pay of the Statistical Department is now entered in the estimate for Customs publications, subordinate to Stationery and Printing.

33. Forest.—The revised estimate of the Government of India amounts to Rs. 2,00,000 and is adopted.

34. Registration.—The decrease under this head is mainly due to the transfer of record-room charges to Land Revenue. The revised estimate stands at Rs. 2,78,000, against the original estimate of Rs. 3,12,000.

35. General Administration.—The expenditure under this head has been steadily increasing. The revised estimate amounts to Rs. 15,43,000, against the original estimate of Rs. 14,89,000. The increase has been specially under Commissioners. The salary of the Chittagong Commissionership, which was reduced in 1875, has been raised to the same amount as that of the other Commissionerships, and three additional clerks were also sanctioned for that Commissioner.

36. Law and Justice.—The marked decrease under this head is under "Raw materials for jail manufactures." There has been a corresponding decrease in receipts. The revised estimate stands at Rs. 93,14,000, against the original estimate of Rs. 96,45,000.

37. Police.—The original estimate under this head was rather high. The revised estimate stands at Rs. 45,37,000, against Rs. 47,78,000, the original estimate. The decrease is specially under District Executive Force.

38. Stationery and Printing.—The expenditure under this head, exclusive of the value of stationery supplied from central stores, will probably have amounted to Rs. 4,78,000. The total revised estimate will be placed at Rs. 9,78,000.

39. Miscellaneous.—The revised estimate under this head now amounts to Rs. 4,00,000 against the original estimate of Rs. 6,47,000. The decrease is due to the exclusion of the refunds of lapsed deposits from the accounts.

40. Expenditure on Productive Public Works (Revenue Account).—The estimates of the Government of India under this head have been accepted by the Public Works Department, Bengal, and will be retained, except that under 38, Irrigation and Navigation, will be reduced from Rs. 10,84,000 to Rs. 10,49,000, as it is probable that the total expenditure will not have exceeded this amount.

41. State Railways, Capital.—The revised estimate under this head is made up as follows:—

42. Subsidised Railway.—A provision of Rs. 70,000 was made under this head for charges for land to be taken up for the Tarkessur Railway. The whole of this amount could not be appropriated during past year. The revised estimate amounts to Rs. 52,000, or Rs. 18,000 less than the original estimate.

43. Irrigation and Navigation.—The revised estimate of the Government of India under Irrigation and Navigation is Rs. 12,33,000, inclusive of Rs. 37,000 entered against suspense account under the head "Works for which neither Capital nor Revenue accounts are kept." This amount has been transferred to "Roads and Buildings." The revised estimate under this head therefore amounts to Rs. 11,96,000, and that under Roads and Buildings in charge of Public Works Department has been raised from Rs. 45,33,000 to Rs. 45,70,000.

44. Contributions.—The total contributions to Local Funds, including those to Municipalities, will probably have aggregated Rs. 4,27,000. This amount has been entered as the revised estimate.

45. Closing Balance.—According to the Financial Resolution of the 3rd July 1883, the Province was expected to close the year 1883-84 with a balance of Rs. 9,31,000. According to the revised estimate now adopted, the closing balance will amount to Rs. 2,37,000. Inclusive of the balance with which the year opened, the total amount available for expenditure was according to the original estimate Rs. 4,45,37,000, and according to the revised estimate Rs. 3,95,28,000. The difference amounts to Rs. 50,09,000. The main items of this decrease are, as explained above, Rs. 4,49,000 under "Opening balance," Rs. 34,75,000 under "Land Revenue," Rs. 4,06,000 under "Jails," Rs. 1,33,000 under "Irrigation and Navigation" (direct receipts), and Rs. 1,05,000 under "XXIX—State Railways." On the other hand, the expenditure as now estimated is less by Rs. 43,15,000 than was estimated in July 1883. The chief item is Rs. 37,31,000 under "State Railways, Capital," owing to the transfer of the capital expenditure on the Sonarpore-Diamond Harbour and Parbuttypore-Dinagepore lines. The net result is thus worse by Rs. 6,94,000. The greater part of this decrease in the net result occurs under the heads (1) opening balance and (2) net receipts from railways. The net receipts from State Railways were originally estimated at Rs. 21,51,000, and their revised estimate amounts to Rs. 16,39,000. The total falling off therefore amounts to Rs. 5,12,000. The reduction, as has already been explained, is due to the failure of the jute crops in Northern Bengal and the late opening of the Tirhoot Railway Extension. The deficiency of rain in Behar also seriously affected the earnings of the Tirhoot State Railway. The decrease in the amount of the opening balance amounts to Rs. 4,49,000, and, as has been explained above, is entirely due to the excess of the actual expenditure under civil buildings and roads in charge of Public Works Department over the estimate for 1882-83. Had there been no excess in the expenditure of the Public Works Department, and had the net receipts from State Railways been up to the estimate of the Public Works Department, as all past experience seemed to indicate, the balance of the Provincial amount would have been better by Rs. 14,42,000.

RECEIPTS.

48. Land Revenue.—The original estimate under this head was Rs. 1,28,40,000. The Government of India have not sanctioned the grant of Rs. 86,000 asked for on account of building grants for European schools, nor have any orders been passed on the application for an assignment of Rs. 77,000 on account of the loss entailed on the Provincial Revenues in consequence of the transfer of record-room receipts and charges from "Registration" to "Land Revenue," and of the amalgamation of the process-serving establishments of the District Road Committees with those of the Collectors. On the other hand, the Government of India have increased the estimate of net credit on account of inter-provincial adjustment from Rs. 1,00,000 to Rs. 1,17,000, and have shown the Provincial share of land revenue for 1884-85 at Rs. 1,26,94,000. As it is not the intention of the Government of India that the Provincial Revenues should suffer any loss owing to any change of procedure in the accounts, the sum of Rs. 77,000 asked for will be added to the estimate of the Government of India, and it will be raised to Rs. 1,27,71,000.

49. Salt.—The total Provincial receipts under this head have been estimated at Rs. 1,47,000 against the revised estimate of Rs. 1,00,000 for the past year. There was a falling off in 1883-84 owing to the small quantity of salt in the Sulkeah Golahs. There is no reason to suppose that the amount of salt stored in the golahs will continue low during the current year, and that the receipts, though they may not come up to the large realizations in 1882-83 will fall short of the actuals of 1881-82, which amounted to Rs. 1,47,000. The original estimate has been passed by the Government of India and will stand.

50. Stamps.—The Government of India have reduced the local estimate of Rs. 65,00,000 to Rs. 63,50,000 with reference to the actuals of 1883-84, which will probably have aggregated Rs. 62,88,000. The receipts during the first two months of the current year showed an increase of Rs. 89,000. The total increase at this rate during 12 months may amount to Rs. 5,34,000, and the Provincial share to Rs. 2,67,000. The original estimate of Rs. 65,00,000 will be retained.

51. Excise.—The revised estimate for 1883-84 amounts to Rs. 52,13,000. The original estimate of Rs. 52,50,000 for the current year, which has been accepted by the Government of India, will be retained.

52. Provincial Rates.—The Government of India have raised the local estimate of Rs. 38,03,000 to Rs. 38,63,000. The actuals of 1883-84 will probably have aggregated Rs. 38,23,000, and were Rs. 2,16,000 in excess of those of 1882-83. The estimate for 1884-85 will be increased to Rs. 39,50,000.

53. Assessed Taxes.—The revised estimate of the Provincial share of these taxes for 1883-84 amounts to Rs. 7,59,000, against the original estimate of Rs. 7,75,000. The returns of the first two months of the current year do not justify an increase of receipts in 1884-85. The estimate for the current year will stand at a round sum of Rs. 7,60,000.

54. Forest.—The total estimated revenue under this head is Rs. 8,50,000 against Rs. 6,93,959 the actuals of 1882-83, and Rs. 7,00,000 the revised estimate for 1883-84. The increase is chiefly anticipated in the Teesta, Singbhoom, Chittagong, and Orissa Divisions.

55. Registration.—The total receipts under this head have been estimated at Rs. 10,07,000 against Rs. 10,39,884, the actuals of 1882-83. The decrease is due to the transfer of record-room receipts to Land Revenue. The Provincial share amounts to Rs. 5,03,500, or Rs. 5,04,000 in round numbers.

56. Law and Justice.—The Government of India have accepted the local estimate of Rs. 17,15,000 under this head, and it will be retained.

57. Police.—The estimate under this head amounts to Rs. 6,27,000 against Rs. 6,25,000, the original estimate for 1883-84. The figure will stand.

58. Marine.—The departmental estimate of receipts amounts to Rs. 9,39,000. This has been reduced to Rs. 9,00,000, as a decrease is anticipated under pilotage receipts owing to the present partial failure of crops, which may cause a decline in the export trade.

59. Education.—The total receipts of the Education Department have been estimated at Rs. 5,41,000, against the revised estimate of Rs. 5,29,000 for 1883-84. Neither the estimate for 1884-85, nor the revised estimate for 1883-84, includes any provision on account of contribution from municipalities towards the maintenance of high schools, as the amount to be contributed by municipalities for this purpose has not yet been decided.

60. Medical.—The receipts in 1882-83 aggregated Rs. 1,32,934, and the estimate for the current year has been placed at Rs. 1,33,000.

61. Scientific and other Departments.—The estimate for 1884-85 amounts to Rs. 1,74,000, against the revised estimate of Rs. 1,85,000 for 1883-84. The revised estimate includes the balance of the allotment for the Indian Art Manufacture Exhibition of 1881-82, which was refunded during the past year, as also the sale proceeds of foals in Darjeeling. These receipts are not expected in 1884-85, and hence the decrease in the estimate for the current year.

62. Miscellaneous.—This general head includes receipts from—

XXI.—Interest;
XXII.—Superannuations;
XXIII.—Stationery and Printing; and XXIV.—Miscellaneous.

The total receipts under this head have been estimated at Rs. 7,60,000 against Rs. 8,17,336, the actuals of 1882-83. There has been a decrease of more than Rs. 10,000 under Superannuations owing to the return of some officers to regular duties on the release of the Cooch Behar State, and to the ruling that no recoveries should be made from the members of the Engineer establishment employed on local fund works. The decrease under Miscellaneous amounts to Rs. 34,000, and is, for the most part, due to a change of practice by which the refunds of lapsed deposits have been deducted from the amount of unclaimed deposits transferred to credit of Government, the net receipts only being shown in the accounts.

63. XXV.—State Railways.—The original estimate was made up thus:—

	Rs.
Northern Bengal	24,00,000
Tirhoot	14,29,000
Patna and Gya	2,41,000
Calcutta and South-Eastern	3,20,000
Nalhati	77,000
Total ...	44,67,000

The Government of India have reduced the estimate of receipts from the Tirhoot Railway by Rs. 1,29,000, and that of the Nalhati Railway by Rs. 1,000. On the other hand, it has included the gross receipts of the Patna and Gya line, instead of net receipts shown in the estimate of the local Financial Department. The original estimate of receipts of the Tirhoot line was too sanguine. The figures as passed by the Government of India have been adopted by the Public Works Department, and will stand.

64. XXIX.—State Railways.—The Government of India have increased the local estimate of receipts from the Kaunia-Dhurla line by Rs. 10,000. The figures of the Government of India will be adopted.

65. Civil Buildings, Roads, &c., in charge of Public Works Department Officers.—The original estimate under this head was made up as follows:—

	Rs.
Ordinary receipts	2,50,000
Net receipts from Barakar Ironworks...	1,00,000
Sale proceeds of Mount Pleasant	70,000
Total ...	4,20,000

The negotiations for the sale of Mount Pleasant fell through; and although fresh proposals are under consideration, it is unsafe to calculate upon their being given effect to this year. The first revised estimate for 1883-84 provided for a receipt of four lakhs, being the value of the East India Railway Offices in Calcutta, which, however, was not paid within the year. It is probable that this payment will be made during the current year. The Government of India have expressed an opinion that all except some Rs. 70,000 of this should be credited to Imperial; but pending the settlement of this question credit will be taken for the full amount. The estimate will stand at Rs. 7,50,000.

EXPENDITURE.

66. Land Revenue.—The original estimate under this head was Rs. 33,17,000. The Government of India have raised it by Rs. 19,000, that being the amount by which the estimate of survey charges have been increased. But as the whole of this increase will not fall on Provincial Revenues 32·2284 per cent. of the increase, or Rs. 6,000 in all, will be added to the original estimate, and it will stand at Rs. 33,23,000.

67. Stamps.—The increase on the original estimate of total expenditure under this head, provided by the Government of India, is due to a provision of Rs. 9,000 for cost of punching machines which the Superintendent of Stamps has been called upon to procure and supply to all Civil Courts. The estimate of the Government of India will be adopted, and that of the Provincial share will be increased by Rs. 5,000.

68. Excise.—The total expenditure under this head has been estimated at Rs. 2,62,000 against Rs. 2,67,916, the actuals of 1882-83. The decrease is due to the reduction of detective establishments in certain districts, and to the fact that a large portion of the establishment of the Calcutta Collectorate, which was formerly debited to this head, has been transferred to Stamps.

69. Assessed taxes.—The actual expenditure for collection of this tax in 1882-83 amounted to Rs. 94,833, and the estimate for next year, including a provision of Rs. 3,000 on account of the special allowances sanctioned for the Collector of Calcutta, stands at Rs. 1,00,000. One-half of this amount is Provincial.

70. Forest.—The estimate for next year amounts to Rs. 2,50,000, against Rs. 2,00,000 for 1883-84. The increase is mainly due to the extension of the Goombatta cart road in Darjeeling, and to the revision of the superior staff of the department.

71. Registration.—The Provincial share of expenditure under this head for 1884-85 has been estimated at Rs. 2,80,000 against Rs. 2,78,000, the revised estimate for 1883-84. An increased provision has been made on account of new establishments required in some districts to re-write the general register No. 1. In many districts the clerical work was very badly done, and much re-writing of registers will be needed.

72. General Administration.—The expenditure under this head has continued to increase. The actuals of the past four years were:—

	Rs.
In 1879-80	14,56,904
„ 1880-81	14,70,321
„ 1881-82	14,71,855
„ 1882-83	15,10,493

The revised estimate for 1883-84 amounts to Rs. 15,43,000, and the estimate for 1884-85 has been placed at a like amount. The Government of India have approved a proposal to assign a yearly allotment of Rs. 34,000 for tour expenses, and certain items of household expenditure, of the Lieutenant-Governor. This has been included under "Staff and Household of the Lieutenant-Governor," and the provision for "tour expenses" will only comprise charges of the civil Secretariat accompanying His Honour on tour.

73. Law and Justice.—The Government of India have accepted the local estimate under this head, amounting to Rs. 96,45,000, viz. Rs. 77,31,000 for Judicial Courts, &c., and Rs. 19,14,000 for Jails. The estimates will be retained.

74. Police.—A lump deduction of Rs. 11,000 has been made by the Government of India from the estimate of charges on account of the district executive force, and the estimate of that Government now stands at Rs. 46,32,000. A sum of Rs. 1,000 has been transferred from this to Civil Buildings and Roads for the conversion of the old detached jail buildings at Rungpore into Police lines. The estimate will stand at Rs. 46,31,000.

75. Marine.—The original estimate under this head has been increased by Rs. 12,000 to meet the excess of expenditure over the receipts of the Balasore Port Fund, which is adjusted under this head.

76. Education.—The original estimate under this head was Rs. 33,93,000. A sum of Rs. 6,505 has been transferred from this head to Public Works for re-constructing the Chupra school building. The estimate now stands at a round sum of Rs. 33,87,000.

77. Scientific and other Minor Departments.—The estimate under this head has been increased by Rs. 35,000 on account of art-ware and glass cases purchased from the Calcutta International Exhibition. Against this increase a reduction of Rs. 10,000 will be made, as Mr. Risley's deputation on census work will extend only over five months during the current year. The total grant under this head will stand at Rs. 3,50,000.

78 Miscellaneous.—The estimate under this head has been increased from Rs. 3,44,000 to Rs. 3,72,000 to meet the following additional grants :—

	Rs.
(1) Grant to the Moorgeehatta Roman Catholic Male Orphanage ...	15,000
(2) Grant to St. Vincent's Home, Kidderpore	12,000
(3) Sailor's Home	1,200
Total ...	28,200

79. State Railways.—The original estimate under this head was made up thus :—

	Rs.
Northern Bengal State Railway	14,00,000
Tirhoot	7,96,500
Patna-Gya	.....
Nalhati	55,500
Calcutta and South-Eastern	2,10,000
Total ...	24,62,000

The estimate of the Tirhoot Railway has been placed at a round sum of Rs. 8,00,000, and that of the Nalhati line at Rs. 56,000. The estimate of the Calcutta and South-Eastern has been reduced by Rs. 10,000. The Government of India have further included in the estimate the gross charges of the Patna-Gya line, and the total now amounts to Rs. 27,15,000, which will stand.

80. Interest —The estimate of the Government of India has been framed with reference to later information, and will be adopted. The estimate now stands at Rs. 40,95,000.

81. State Railways (Capital).—The budget estimates provide for the following expenditure :—

	Rs.
Sultanpore-Bogra	1,10,000
Kaunia Dhurla	10,000
Administrative charges	75,000
Behar-Assam Railway Survey	20,000
Tirhoot Extension survey	5,000
Chittagong Railway Survey	25,000
Reserve	25,000
Total ...	2,70,000

82. Subsidized Railway.—The Government of India have raised the local estimate under this head from Rs. 30,000 to Rs. 48,000. The revised estimate for 1883-84 shows a decrease of Rs. 18,000 compared with the original estimate for that year. This anticipated saving in 1883-84 has been added to the estimate for 1884-85. The estimate of the Government of India will stand.

83. Civil Buildings in charge of Public Works Department.—The estimate under this head has been increased by Rs. 95,000 to meet the following additional charges :—

	Rs.
(1) For additions and alterations in the Civil Engineering College at Shibpore ...	30,000
(2) Converting the old detached jail buildings at Rungpore into police lines—transferred from the Police budget	1,056
(3) For the construction of a house for the Anglo-Hindu School, Darjeeling ...	675
(4) For purchase of new furniture for the Shrubbery	10,000
(5) For additions and alterations to the Calcutta Madrassah	2,000
(6) For re-constructing the Chupra school building—transferred from the Education budget	6,505
(7) For the completion of the Secretariat buildings at Darjeeling	45,000
	95,236

84. Contributions.—A provision of Rs. 7,50,000 was originally made for contribution to local purposes of all kinds. Out of this amount the following transfers have been made to revenue heads :—

	Rs.
Marine	12,000
Minor Departments	35,000
Miscellaneous	28,000
Public Works	87,000
	1,62,000

The estimate under this head will be reduced by Rs. 1,62,000.

85. The Closing Balance, according to the estimate now adopted, amounts to Rs. 18,17,000, which is Rs. 1,83,000 less than the minimum balance fixed for the Government of Bengal. This balance would have been obtained had it not been for the partial failure of crops which rendered it unsafe to estimate for the full development of receipts under Excise, Marine, &c. It is hoped that, if the circumstances continue normal, the closing balance on 31st March 1886 will be above the minimum balance.

87. The estimate of the Government of India provides for a net credit of Rs. 10,000 under "Deposits and Advances," instead of Rs. 8,000 shown in the original estimate. In other respects the figures of the Accountant-General, as they were originally submitted to the Government of Bengal, have been accepted, except that the estimate of capitation fees under the Inland Emigration Act has been raised from Rs. 20,700 to Rs. 40,700 with reference to the actuals of 1882-83, which amounted to Rs. 35,438. As the capitation fee was reduced by the Chief Commissioner of Assam from one rupee to eight annas, the estimate of the Accountant-General, amounting to Rs. 20,700, was adopted by the Lieutenant-Governor, and it will be retained. The Accountant-General's estimate of "interest" on arrears of road cess was raised from Rs. 31,000 to Rs. 40,000, the actuals of 1882-83 having amounted to Rs. 39,763. The increased provision will remain in the budget. The estimate of expenditure of the Government of India, which very nearly corresponds with that of the local Government, is accepted.

A sum of Rs. 4,00,000 will be provided in the budget of these funds to cover the assignments already made, or are likely to be made, during the current year. TRIALS OF FIBRE-EXTRACTING MACHINES.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.—MISCELLANEOUS (F)

Darjeeling, the 5th September 1884.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Letter No 641Ex., dated 24th June 1884, from the Secretary to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, to the Secretary to the Agri-Horticultural Society of India.

Letter No. 817Ex., dated 30th July, from the Secretary to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, to the Government of Bengal.

Letter No. 829Ex., dated 5th August, from the Secretary to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, to the Government of Bengal.

During the recent Calcutta Exhibition, trials were made, at the suggestion of the Government of India, of certain fibre-extracting machines then in the Exhibition. Partly owing to the difficulty of procuring all the fibres which it was desired to test, and partly from the defects of the machines then available, no conclusive results were arrived at. It is now proposed to renew the experiments under more favourable conditions, with the assistance of the Agri-Horticultural Society of India, which has been asked to supply the requisite fibres. The objects in view are—

(i) To secure such a competitive trial of machines and processes for the extraction of Indian fibres as may lead to the introduction into this country of a cheap, simple and portable fibre-extracting machine.

(ii) To obtain the opinion of experts in India and in Europe as to the value of the fibres obtained by the trials, and the uses to which they can be put.

The experiments will be carried out in Calcutta on the 15th October and following days, under the management of Mr. J. W. Hanlon, Superintendent of Jail Manufactures, assisted by Mr. Liotard of the Revenue and Agricultural Department of the Government of India, whose services have been placed at the disposal of this Government with effect from the 15th September. Stems and other fibrous portions of fibre-bearing plants or trees, and as far as possible motive power, will be provided by Government. Intending competitors are invited to place themselves in communication with Mr. Hanlon at the office of the Inspector-General of Jails not later than the 1st October next, and to state on which fibrous plants they wish to experiment, and to what extent, in order that arrangements may be made for providing sufficient quantities of material to be operated on.

If the number of machines entered is sufficient to produce a satisfactory competition, the Government will be prepared to award a sum of Rs. 2,000 in prizes, the respective amounts of which will be subsequently determined.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that copies be forwarded to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, the Agri-Horticultural Society of India, the Superintendent of Jail Manufactures, and Mr. Liotard, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. P. MACDONNELL,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

1	Burdwan, Sept. 6 '84	6·09	Weather—heavy rain on the night of the 4th at Burdwan and at Raneegunge The rain was very local, scattered, and inadequate. The rain at Burdwan and Raneegunge will prove very beneficial. Transplanted paddy, though in many places suffering, is still capable of restoration by copious fall of rain. The very considerable untransplanted areas are a more serious matter. Transplanting still going on wherever rendered possible by rain. Prices of rice high, but not higher than last week Public health good.

CALCUTTA, The 8th September 1884.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL DURING THE WEEK ENDING THE 5TH SEPTEMBER 1884.

THE meteorology of the past week has been very unusual. At the end of last week, a partial break of the rains was established over nearly the whole Province. A small atmospheric whirl, or cyclonic disturbance, began to form at the commencement of the present week in the north-west angle of the Bay. This was evidently due to the advance of another burst of monsoon winds, and flow of aqueous vapour northwards.

The southerly winds feeding it were apparently at first feeble. The whirl was hence of small intensity, and of little importance at sea. It crossed the coast, apparently to the east of Saugor Island, on the morning of the 2nd. The depression was then very small and was filling up. Strong southerly winds were, however, advancing northwards along the Aracan coast and giving very heavy rain. They began on the 2nd to influence the weather in East Bengal, and the eastern districts of South-West Bengal, over which heavy rain commenced to fall.

The very slight depression which then remained in South-West Bengal appears to have determined the rainfall to the Khoolna and Jessore districts. The depression began to intensify rapidly, and was very distinctly marked on the morning of the 3rd, when its centre and that of the cyclonic circulation was near Jessore. It marched westwards, and was near Calcutta on the morning of the 4th, and Midnapore on the 5th. It filled up rapidly for some time after passing Calcutta, during which it marched through Chutia Nagpur into the Central Provinces, where fresh supplies of vapour from the Bombay coast appear to have given it renewed vitality.

The weather and rainfall of the week has been almost entirely determined by this disturbance. It has given excessive rain to the central districts of South-West Bengal from Khoolna to Burdwan, and average or abundant rain over the whole of South-West Bengal, and the greater part of East Bengal, Orissa, and Chutia Nagpur.

The indraught to it has, on the other hand, very considerably diminished rainfall of Behar, and the greater part of North Bengal, over which a partial break has obtained during the week. Occasional light showers of little importance were received, but the district rainfall over the whole of the area of deficient rainfall was barely 30 per cent. of its normal amount. One or two districts, more especially Patna and Chumparun, were practically without rain during the week.

Pressure, as was noted in last week's report, increased rapidly on the 29th and 30th, and was, on the morning of the 30th, above the normal by amounts varying from ·08″ at Patna to ·12″ at Chittagong. It then commenced to give way. At the same time a small area of low pressure, giving rise to feeble cyclonic circulation, formed in the north-west angle of the Bay. Pressure continued to diminish on the 1st and 2nd, and on the latter day, the small depression crossed the Bengal coast to the east of Saugor Island. It was then filling up. The indraught on the eastern quadrant gave rise to heavy rain in the eastern districts of South-West Bengal. This either gave rise to a new depression, or intensified the small depression which had crossed the Bengal coast on the morning of the 2nd, and was apparently filling up at that time. Pressure continued to give way rapidly during the next 24 hours over the whole Province. The centre of the depression at 10 A.M. of the 3rd was near, and to the south-west of, Jessore. It advanced slowly westwards, and was a little distance to the north or north-north-west of Calcutta on the morning of the 4th. It was then at its fullest development. Pressure was below the normal over the Province by amounts ranging from ·08″ at Patna to ·21″ at Calcutta and ·24″ at Jessore. It continued to move westwards with a slight southerly tendency, and partially filled up during the remainder of its advance through the Province. The centre was in the Midnapur district on the morning of the 5th. It crossed through Chutia Nagpur on the 6th and 7th, and appears to have passed into the northern districts of the Central Provinces, where it has obtained fresh supplies of aqueous vapour brought up by the Bombay branch of the monsoon current, and is giving heavy rain to Central India. During its westward march, after passing Calcutta, the barometer rose rapidly in those districts from which it was moving, and fell more slowly over those which it was approaching.

The mean pressure of the week was hence considerably below the normal, more especially in South-West Bengal. The deficiency ranged from ·03″ at Bankipore and Purneah to ·08″ at Calcutta and ·09″ at Jessore.

Temperature.—The average temperature was considerably below the normal in East Bengal, South-West Bengal, Orissa and Chutia Nagpore, over which abundant or excessive rain has fallen. It was above it in Behar, and probably North Bengal, where a partial break of the rains has obtained during the week. Moderately high maximum temperatures were also recorded in these districts. The highest were 95·2° at Gya on the 30th, and 94·5° at Dehree on the same day.

Winds.—The wind directions during the past week have been mainly determined by the cyclonic disturbance. Winds were feeble until the 1st, when they rapidly increased in strength, and blew with much force on the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th, over the greater part of the Province. Winds were approximately normal in direction at the end of the week.

Rainfall.—The distribution of the rainfall of the past week throughout the Province, both with respect to time and place, is comparatively simple.

It was almost entirely due to the cyclonic disturbance of the week. Excessive rainfall occurred in South-West Bengal in those districts through which the centre passed, and the amount decreased north and south from the path of the centre. The whole of South-West Bengal, the greater part of East Bengal, Orissa, Chutia Nagpore, the Sonthal Pergunnahs, and the most southern districts of North Bengal, have hence received favourable or abundant rain.

The rainfall has, on the other hand, been unusually scanty over nearly the whole of Behar and North Bengal.

The cyclonic disturbance during its formation and passage across the Bengal coast gave frequent light to moderate showers to the whole of Orissa, Chutia Nagpur and the south-western districts of South-West Bengal from the 30th of August until the 2nd. During the same period, occasional showers of no great importance were received in East Bengal, and the eastern districts of South-West Bengal. A few light showers of little or no importance occurred in Behar, and North Bengal, during this period.

Moderate general rain fell over the whole of Orissa, South-West Bengal, and East Bengal on the 3rd. It was heaviest in the southern districts of East Bengal, and the Jessore and Khoolna districts of South-West Bengal. The largest amounts recorded were 4·58 inches at Burrisal and 4·43 inches at Cox's Bazar. Light showers, somewhat more general than previously, were received in North Bengal and Behar. The rainfall of the 4th occurred over the same area as on the 3rd, but was much larger in amount. If was heaviest in the Jessore district and the 24-Pergunnahs.

The following gives rainfalls of the 24 hours preceding 6 P.M. of the 4th, exceeding 4 inches in amount :—

	Inches.
Busirhat, in the 24-Pergunnahs	6·18
Cox's Bazar, in the Chittagong district...	5·40
Khoolna, in the Khoolna district	5 37
Magoora, in the Jessore district	4·07

Heavy rain continued to fall over the greater part of South-West Bengal during the next 24 hours, and moderate rain in East Bengal, Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, the Pubna and Rajshahye districts of North Bengal, and the Sonthal Pergunnahs. No rain fell in Behar or the greater part of North Bengal. The heaviest rainfalls were received in the 24-Pergunnahs, and the Burdwan, Jessore and Nuddea districts.

The following amounts exceeding 4 inches were registered on the 5th, and indicate the distribution of the heaviest rainfalls on that day :—

District.	Station.	Inches.
24-Pergunnahs ...	Alipore	6·8
	Dum-Dum	6·37
	Diamond Harbour	4·25
Burdwan ...	Burdwan	5·24
Jessore ...	Jhenidah	6·06
	Magoora	5·30
	Jessore	4·19
Nuddea ...	Kooshtea	5·25

The rainfall of the past week has been very unequally distributed. The Jessore and Khoolna districts have received four times their normal rainfall, the 24-Pergunnahs three times, and the Burdwan, Nuddea and Burrisal two times the average amount of the week. Midnapore, Bancoora, Beerbhoom, and Furreedpore have obtained from 10 to 60 per cent. in excess, and the Balasore, Manbhoom, Noakhally and Dacca districts from 5 to 15 per cent. in excess.

The area of abundant rainfall during the past week hence includes almost the whole of South-West Bengal, and the southern districts of East Bengal, and the Balasore district of Orissa.

Over the remainder of the Province the rainfall was in defect. Moorshedabad and Hazaribagh obtained slightly more than 80 per cent., Cuttack 70 per cent., Singbhoom 64 per cent, Rajshahye 57 per cent., and Chupra, Shahabad, Bogra, Pubna, and the Sonthal Pergunnahs between 45 and 50 per cent. of the normal rainfall of the week.

The rainfall was less than 40 per cent. in the remaining districts of the Province. The following table gives the names of these districts, the actual and normal rainfall of the week, and the percentage of the actual to the normal rainfall :—

District.	Actual rainfall of week.	Normal rainfall of week.	Percentage of actual to normal rainfall of the week.
Mymensingh	1·32	3·57	37

Julpigoree and Cooch Behar ...	1·08	6·24	17
Chumparun	0·26	2·65	10
Bankipore	0·09	2·14	4

These districts hence define the area of most deficient rainfall of the past week. Of these districts Mymensingh, Rungpore and Dinagepore have received less than 50 per cent. of their respective normal rainfalls since the 1st of August, and form part of the area of most deficient rainfall during the present monsoon, which includes the Mymensingh district, the greater part of North Bengal, and of North and Central Behar.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the New Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community taken in February 1881 was not reliable, owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

ORDERS BY THE LIEUT.-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Darjeeling, the 9th September 1884.

RESOLUTION.

RETIREMENT OF DR. A. J. PAYNE FROM THE OFFICE OF SURGEON-GENERAL OF BENGAL.

DR. PAYNE'S term of office as Surgeon-General expires this day, and his official connection with the Government of Bengal is thus brought to a close. During the period of 28 years, over which this connection has extended, Dr. Payne has rendered public services of the most exceptional and distinguished character. Nearly every department of the Administration in which medical officers are employed has had the advantage of his sound judgment and his rare capacity for organization and control. In 1858, he established a system of medical management and of embarkation arrangements in connection with the Mauritius Emigration Depôt, which was adopted in all Colonial Emigration Agencies. From 1860 till 1882 he was Superintendent of Lunatic Asylums at the Presidency, and in this capacity he introduced important reforms in asylum management, and brought these institutions to a high degree of efficiency, while largely reducing their cost to the public funds. The European asylum, which had previously cost more than a lakh of rupees per annum, was made almost self-supporting. In the Native asylums Dr. Payne introduced the industrial system, which was afterwards adopted throughout the Province. In 1870, he was selected to organize the medical working of the Contagious Diseases Act, and he discharged this difficult duty with success for 10 years. He twice officiated as Inspector-General of Jails. In 1871, as Sanitary Commissioner—a post which he held in addition to his other duties,—he rendered excellent service in connection with the Burdwan epidemic of fever. In 1874, he organized the system of State Emigration to Burmah. In 1876, he became Health Officer of Calcutta, and it was during his incumbency, and at his instance, that the first real steps were taken towards the improvement of the sanitary condition of the Town. In addition to these varied labours, Dr. Payne has been a member of every important Medical Committee at the Presidency for over 20 years. He served on several Emigration Committees. He was Secretary to the Cinchona Alkaloid Commission in 1868. He served on the Committee on the Medical College Hospital in 1876, on the Committee on the Campbell Hospital in 1877, on the Committee on Lunatic Asylums in the same year, and on the General Committee on Medical Expenditure in 1878. It was in view of this long career of usefulness and labour, and of Dr. Payne's reputation and experience, that Sir Ashley Eden in 1879 asked the Government of India to appoint him to be Surgeon-General in succession to Dr. Irving. In a letter dated 19th February 1879, Sir Ashley Eden made the following remarks:—

"The Government of India are aware that Dr. Payne enjoys a very high reputation as a physician, while his administrative powers have been repeatedly recognized and utilized by successive Lieutenant-Governors. Whenever, during many years, any difficult question requiring special examination has arisen, Dr. Payne has always been invited to join in the task, and he has cheerfully given most valuable assistance. In the general reform of the medical administration to which Sir Ashley Eden has devoted special attention, he has been chiefly guided by the knowledge, experience and sound judgment of Dr. Payne, and to him, more than to any other officer under the Government, it is due that, with improved administration, lakhs of rupees have been saved, and are still to be saved, from the Medical Budget of Bengal. Dr. Payne is a member of the Medical Committee. He was also a member of a Special Committee recently nominated to consider the number of lunatic asylums actually required in the province, under whose recommendations the Lieutenant-Governor has been able to direct the final closing of two asylums. In fact, in every department of medical administration his experience is unrivalled."

Dr. Payne accepted this office at a considerable pecuniary sacrifice, and in the discharge of its duties he has placed the Government under great obligations. All branches of the medical department—the Calcutta Hospitals, the Medical Schools, the Lunatic Asylums, the Charitable Dispensaries, and the Canning House for Nurses—have felt the impress of his vigorous administration and the salutary effects of his determined hostility to inefficiency and extravagance. Mr. Rivers Thompson desires to place prominently upon record the recognition of the Government of Bengal of the services which Dr. Payne has rendered to the Province during the past 28 years.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. 336.—Notification —It is hereby notified for public information that the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal proposes, under the powers conferred on him by sections XI and XII of Act V (B C.) of 1864 (The Canals Act), to pass the rules, of which a draft is published below, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the said Act in regard to the Eastern Canal Route and the Outer Boat Routes as defined in this Department's Notification No. 301 of the 12th August 1884.

1 Whenever mooring posts may have been put up by the Supervisor, vessels shall be made fast by the head and stern along the banks to such posts, and shall not be moored in any other manner.

2. The Supervisor may by notification prohibit vessels of any particular dimensions from passing through any particular line of navigation, and also prohibit the dropping of anchors or the putting up of bamboos or luggies in any part of the canals or banks.

3. As the water falls, the head and stern ropes of moored vessels must be loosened and the vessels gradually pushed towards the centre of the canal; when the flood comes in these two ropes must be gradually pulled in, and the vessels kept as close to the bank as possible.

4. Vessels whilst loading or unloading in the canals will be allowed to use ladders, but the ladders must be gradually taken in as the water rises.

5. Only one vessel shall be allowed to make fast along and in line with the canal's banks, and no vessel shall be made fast, or be placed outside of vessels so secured No vessel shall be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety of other vessels, or obstruct the passage of other vessels.

6. Vessels passing through the canals shall keep in separate lines: empty vessels keeping close to the bank, and those that are laden in the centre.

7. In portions of the canals where only one towing path exists, vessels shall moor on the off side, and the towing-path side shall always be kept clear. The towing-path side shall be used by vessels going against the tide, and by no others.

8. In order to avoid collision and confusion, vessels waiting for a favourable tide at the junction of two or more rivers shall be moored at a distance of not less than 1,000 feet from the point of junction.

9. No person shall place obstructions on the canal banks or towing-paths, so as to impede a free passage along them, or cause injury to them, or shall commit a nuisance, or deposit filth of any sort on the banks or in the canals, nor do any act to cause injury to the canal works.

10. Every person either personally, or by his servant, infringing any of the above rules, numbered from 1 to 8, shall be liable under section XI of the Canal's Act to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50 for any one infringement; or to a fine not exceeding five rupees a day for any continued infringement

12. Any person who wilfully or negligently allows a vessel to sink in the canals shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50.

13 In every case of wreck caused by negligence or otherwise, the Supervisor and his subordinates will give every assistance in removing the same.

14. A notice shall be affixed on such wreck, when recovered, calling on those concerned to pay to the Supervisor any fine which may have been adjudged, as well as the expenses incurred in the recovery or removal of the wreck; and intimating that if the sum be not paid within 15 days of the date of notice, the boat and its contents, or so much of it as may be necessary for the recovery of the dues, will be sold, the proceeds of the sale being dealt with as directed in section IX of the Act.

15. Every Canal Officer is authorized to remove any vessel, anchor, pole, or other thing which he may find in a position which is in contravention of these rules, and to deal with it in such a manner as may be necessary to give effect to the rules.

16 Whenever any laden vessel is seized by a Canal Officer, it shall be the duty of the Supervisor to give immediate notice of the same to the owner, or his agent, and to require the removal of the cargo without delay; intimating at the same time that the owner will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the same.

17. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or of abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel seized under the Canal's Act, he shall notify the seizure by advertisement in his office and in one or more of the Calcutta newspapers or advertisement papers. Such notices shall call upon the owner to cause the immediate removal of the cargo, and to pay any necessary expenses incurred in providing for its proper custody and storage.

18. The Supervisor may incur whatever expense he may think necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo of any vessel seized under the Canal's Act, and if the cargo be not removed within 10 days from the date of seizure, he may sell the same at public auction to the highest bidder, after giving 15 days' notice of the same by advertisement in one or more of the Calcutta newspapers, or advertisement papers, and affixed in his office.

19. The money realized at such a sale shall be applied, first, to defray any expenditure that may have been incurred by the Supervisor on account of the cargo sold, and the balance, if any, shall be held in deposit to be paid to the owner of the said cargo on his applying for the same.

20 The Canals may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to them on one month's notice of the intention so to close them; but in the event of any sudden emergency, the Canals may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claims shall be made in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention.

21. By the term Canal Officer in the foregoing rules is meant all officers of the Engineer or Upper Subordinate establishments of the Public Works Department employed on the Eastern Canal or Outer Boat Routes.

In the case of tangible immoveable property of a value less than one hundred rupees, such transfer may be made either by a registered instrument or by delivery of the property.

59. Where the principal money secured is one hundred rupees or upwards, a mortgage can be effected only by a registered instrument signed by the mortgagor and attested by at least two witnesses.

Where the principal money secured is less than one hundred rupees, a mortgage may be effected either by an instrument signed and attested as aforesaid, or (except in the case of a simple mortgage) by delivery of the property.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to render invalid mortgages made in the towns of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Karáchí and Rangoon, by delivery to a creditor or his agent of documents of title to immoveable property, with intent to create a security thereon.

107. A lease of immoveable property from year to year, or for any term exceeding one year, or reserving a yearly rent, can be made only by a registered instrument.

All other leases of immoveable property may be made either by an instrument or by oral agreement.

123. For the purpose of making a gift of immoveable property, the transfer must be effected by a registered instrument signed by or on behalf of the donor, and attested by at least two witnesses.

For the purpose of making a gift of moveable property, the transfer may be effected either by a registered instrument signed as aforesaid or by delivery.

Such delivery may be made in the same way as goods sold may be delivered.

2. In a letter, dated the 6th September, 1882, the Chief Commissioner of Assam asked for an expression of opinion from the Government of India as to the effect which the exemption under that clause, of "any race, sect, tribe or class" from the provisions of section 54 (paragraphs 2 and 3) and sections 59, 107 and 123, which are set out on the margin, has upon transactions, one of the parties concerned in which is a member of such race, sect, tribe or class, while the other party does not belong to an exempted class.

3. To this reference the Government of India, on the 13th December, 1882, replied that the precise manner in which the exemption would operate under the circumstances described was a matter of some difficulty; and the only satisfactory means by which an intelligible operation might be given to section 1 of the Act seemed to be the amendment of that section so as to make the exemption from sections 54, 59, 107 and 123 local and not personal.

4. The Chief Commissioner, in a letter dated 12th January, 1883, suggested as an alternative, and in his opinion a preferable one, a power to exempt not persons or places but transactions in which one or both of the parties might be members of the race, sect, tribe or class for which the sections in question might be deemed unsuitable.

5. It was thought desirable to obtain the opinions of the other Local Governments on the two alternative proposals thus put forward, and accordingly, on the 7th May, 1883, a circular was issued for this purpose.

6. It will be observed that the question thus raised was confined to the power conferred by section 1 of the Act to exempt from the operation of sections 54, 59, 107 and 123; but, attention having been once drawn to the subject, it was natural that the effect of an exemption from the other two sections of the Act (41 and 69) mentioned in section 1 and set out in the margin should also be considered; and, on looking into the matter, it was found that, while an exemption under either of those sections would give rise to questions very similar to those raised by the Chief Commissioner of Assam in the case of the sections referred to by him, there was this further difficulty in regard to section 69 that the object of allowing any power to exempt from it was not apparent. The circular accordingly asked for the opinions of the Local Governments in regard to these sections also.

41. Where, with the consent, express or implied, of the persons interested in immoveable property, a person is the ostensible owner of such property and transfers the same for consideration, the transfer shall not be voidable on the ground that the transferor was not authorized to make it: provided that the transferee, after taking reasonable care to ascertain that the transferor had power to make the transfer, has acted in good faith.

69. A power conferred by the mortgage-deed on the mortgagee, or on any person on his behalf, to sell or concur in selling, in default of payment of the mortgage-money, the mortgaged property, or any part thereof, without the intervention of the Court, is valid in the following cases (namely)—

(a) where the mortgage is an English mortgage, and neither the mortgagor nor the mortgagee is a Hindú, Muhammadan or Buddhist;

(b) where the mortgagee is the Secretary of State for India in Council;

(c) where the mortgaged property or any part thereof is situate within the towns of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Karáchí or Rangoon.

But no such power shall be exercised unless and until—

(1) notice in writing requiring payment of the principal money has been served on the mortgagor or one of several mortgagors, and default has been made in payment of the principal money, or of part thereof, for three months after such service; or

(2) some interest under the mortgage amounting at least to five hundred rupees is in arrear and unpaid for three months after becoming due.

When a sale has been made in professed exercise of such a power, the title of the purchaser shall not be impeachable on the ground that no case had arisen to authorise the sale, or that due notice was not given, or that the power was otherwise improperly or irregularly exercised; but any person damnified by an unauthorised, or improper or irregular exercise of the power shall have his remedy in damages against the person exercising the power.

The money which is received by the mortgagee arising from the sale, after discharge of prior incumbrances, if any, to which the sale is not made subject, or after payment into court under section fifty-seven of a sum to meet any prior incumbrance, shall, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, be held by him in trust to be applied by him, first, in payment of all costs, charges and expenses properly incurred by him as incident to the sale or any attempted sale; and, secondly, in discharge of the mortgage-money and costs and other money, if any, due under the mortgage; and the residue of the money so received shall be paid to the person entitled to the mortgaged property or authorized to give receipts for the proceeds of the sale thereof.

Nothing in the former part of this section applies to powers conferred before this Act comes into force.

The powers and provisions contained in sections six to nineteen (both inclusive) of the Trustees and Mortgagees' Powers Act, 1866, shall be deemed to apply to English mortgages, wherever in British India the mortgaged property may be situate, when neither the mortgagor nor the mortgagee is a Hindú, Muhammadan or Buddhist.

7. The replies of the Local Governments have now been received and considered by the Government of India, and the following are the conclusions to which they seem to point.

8. In the first place, as regards the power of exempting from the operation of sections 54, 59, 107 and 123, it seems to the Governor General in Council best to make it simply a power of exempting locally, that is to say, the exemption should be absolute and cover transactions relating to any immoveable property within the specified area, whether both or one or none of the parties may belong to those races or tribes for whose benefit the exemption is intended. To give a personal character to the exemption and restrict it, as some suggest, to transactions within the area, to which either both parties or one of the parties are of particular races, would give rise to uncertainty of title and other difficulties and doubts noticed by Sir C. Turner and others. With a local exemption clause of an absolute character an intending purchaser has to look to nothing but the situation of the property.

9. It is true that there may be advanced people living in exempted localities for whom the sections in question would provide a law more suitable than that which prevails where they do not apply, but it must be remembered that these people always could, and Europeans, it is believed, generally would, follow the practice of having formally executed and registered documents, and this would to a great extent give them the benefits aimed at by the Act; for it must be borne in mind that in the places in question titles would not usually be complicated, and in any case the sections of the Act referred to are not an essential part of the law, but merely an improvement of it, which is not in force as yet in great provinces like Bombay, the Panjáb and British Burma. Again, on the other hand, it is true that there may be members of wild tribes settled in some non-exempted localities, and that they may find it difficult to learn to act up to the law; but, as has been observed by some of the authorities consulted, wild people scattered in this way among a population the great mass of which is civilized soon get into the ways of the people among whom they live.

In either case the objection is one that must apply to most of our enacted laws, and indeed to a good deal of the customary law of the country. We cannot get a law that will suit everybody; we must be content with a reasonably close approximation.

10. The first section of the Bill accordingly amends section 1 of the Act so as to empower a Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, to exempt any part of the territories under its administration from the operation of any of these sections.

11. Next, as regards the powers to exclude the operation of section 41, the considerations to be borne in mind are fully stated by the Chief Justice of Madras in his opinion.

Sir C. Turner observes that the general rule that no one can confer a higher right in property than he himself possesses in some cases worked obvious hardship, and, as the science of jurisprudence advanced, it was limited by the exception declared in section 41, on the principle that, where one of two innocent persons must suffer from the fraud of a third party, the loss should fall on him who has created or could have prevented the opportunity for the fraud. To races which have not made a substantial progress in civilization, this rule appears to Sir Charles Turner to be unsuited for the following reasons, as stated in his own words:—

"Regarding the question in its sentimental aspect, it is certain that a member of a race unacquainted with the refinements of equity would fail to recognize the justice of a rule which caused him to be deprived of his property by what is ex hypothesi a fraud.

"I do not contend that legislation is to be governed by sentimental considerations, but I have heretofore asserted, and still hold, that legislation should only be so far in advance of the general understanding that its justice should be recognized by the more enlightened.

"There is, however, a substantial reason to be deduced from the rule itself, which shows its inapplicability to uncivilized races. The rule affords protection only to a purchaser for consideration who acts in good faith after reasonable inquiry.

"The imposition of these conditions on the purchaser suggests to persons, who have occasion to create an ostensible ownership of their property in others, the prudence of providing certain safeguards. If they are well advised, they are careful to secure evidence of the actual ownership, so that a purchaser, on making due inquiry, must either ascertain the true character of the transaction, or entertain such suspicion of its character that he can no longer assert that he acted in good faith.

"The transactions of uncivilized races in the matter of property are of the simplest character; they are unacquainted with the precautions which technical skill has devised to secure property.

"Again, as society progresses, men are habituated to exercise greater caution in their dealings with their fellows, and have larger opportunities for selecting agents who are reputed either to be worthy of confidence or to be in a position to answer for a breach of confidence. A prudent man selects for an office of trust a person of tried probity and some substance. The uncivilized races have less choice in the selection of agents and less opportunity for forming a judgment of the character and position of their agents."

12. The conclusion to which these remarks seem to point is that the Government should be empowered to direct that section 41 should not apply throughout any particular local area to any property in which a member of any particular race, sect, tribe or class is interested, and it is on these lines that sub-clause (b) of the new fifth clause which the Bill proposes to insert in the first section of the Act has been framed.

13. The discussion regarding section 69 has opened out questions extending beyond the particular difficulty first brought to notice, and it is fortunate that the Government have had in considering them the assistance of Sir C. Turner, who was a member of the Commission by which the Transfer of Property Bill was settled.

The circumstances under which the section was enacted will be found stated in the following extract from his Minute:

"In England, it is usual to confer on a mortgagee, in case of default, a power to sell the mortgaged property without the intervention of a Court of justice; and, where the instrument of mortgage does not confer the power, but does not in express terms negative it, a mortgagee is empowered by statute to sell on the expiry of twelve months after the date of default and of six months from the date on which notice is given of his intention to exercise the power—23 & 24 Vic., c. 145. This statutory provision was, by Act XXVIII of 1866, extended to mortgages in this country to which the English law is applicable.

"On the other hand, the simple mortgage in India did not authorize a sale without the order of a Court, and by Regulation XVII of 1806 in the Bengal Presidency it had been enacted that a mortgage by conditional sale should not become foreclosed without the service of a notice through the District Court, and on the expiry of a year of grace. Inferring the policy of the legislature from this Regulation, the Sadr Diwání Adálat refused to give effect to an express power of sale—S. D. A., 1847-354. In the Bombay Presidency, Mr. Justice Melvill expressed a doubt whether a private sale of property in the Mufassal, effected by a mortgagee under a power, would be valid—VIII Bombay H. C., A. C., 113.

On the other hand, I entertained the opinion, and I believe acted on it before the Transfer of Property Act came into operation, that, in the absence of a prohibition of law, the owner of property was competent to confer on a mortgagee what powers he himself possessed, and that, if a mortgagor having, as owner, authority to sell, created a power of sale in a mortgagee, and the mortgagee duly exercised the power, the Courts were bound to recognize the validity of the sale.

"In Bhanoomutty Chawdiam vs. Premchund Nergee, XV B. L. R. 28, property in the Mufassal had been mortgaged by an instrument in the English form containing a power of sale, and subsequently mortgaged to a third party by a conditional sale. The first mortgagee then exercised his power of sale, and subsequently to the sale the second mortgagee took proceedings to foreclose. It was held that the purchaser under the power was entitled to notice of foreclosure, and impliedly that a sale under a power might be valid."

"In this state of the authorities," Sir Charles Turner continues, "it fell to the Law Commission to offer for the acceptance of the legislature a proposal to settle the law. It was felt that, in accordance with the principles of freedom of contract, an owner of property should be at liberty to confer on a mortgagee any of the powers which he could himself exercise, and that a borrower might more readily obtain accommodation, or obtain it on easier terms, if he could offer a security which would be speedily converted by the tender without the delay and the cost of an application to a Court of justice. On the other hand, it was recognized that in this country the large majority of mortgage-securities are created by persons who are poor and illiterate in favour of more sharpwitted creditors, and that, in an agricultural country, landed securities are subject to sudden and excessive variations in value, which are rarely foreseen by borrowers. The Commission came to the conclusion that, while more wealthy borrowers in the country and all borrowers in the presidency-towns might be left to deal with their property as they pleased, it was necessary in the present state of British India to create a legislative safeguard for the poorer classes in the country. They, therefore, proposed that the creation of a power of sale should be declared invalid except in mortgages where the principal money secured exceeded Rs. 500, or in mortgages to the Secretary of State or in mortgages of property in the presidency-towns. In Committee, the section was recast. Instead of declaring that a power of sale conferred by the instrument of mortgage is invalid except in the cases specified, the section, as it now stands, declares that in certain cases it is valid."

Sir Charles Turner adds—

"Unless it be held that the express declaration of the validity of such a power in certain cases is tantamount to a declaration of its invalidity in other cases, which I incline to doubt, the object sought by the Law Commission has not been attained, and the validity of the power in cases other than those specified is still left an open question.'

"It may have been desirable that the protection the Law Commission intended to confer in the case of mortgages for small amounts should have been extended to mortgages for somewhat larger sums, but I think it is to be regretted that the amendment should have been effected in such terms as to leave the question doubtful whether any protection is given to mortgages of any class or amount, and I trust advantage may be taken of the opportunity to re-consider the provisions of the section. It will be seen that the section, as it now stands, affects only—

"(1) parties to an English mortgage, i.e., a mortgage in the English form, who are not Hindús, Muhammadans or Buddhists (an inexact enumeration of the creeds held by natives of India);

"(2) parties to a mortgage to the Secretary of State;

"(3) parties to mortgages of property in the presidency-towns.

"As the section now stands, I do not see any reason for including it in the class of sections for which certain races may be exempted; I apprehend it was included before it was recast."

14. Section 4 of the Bill accordingly amends section 69 of the Act so as to express clearly what was actually intended, and no power to exempt from the main provisions of the section has been retained; but, as Mr. Justice Muthuswami Aiyar has pointed out that there are other classes whom it is even more necessary to exclude from the operation of the exceptional provision in clause (a) than Hindús, Muhammadans and Buddhists, words have been added to that clause to provide a power of excluding them.

15. Section 2 of the Bill is intended merely to remove a formal defect in the Act which has been brought to notice in the course of the recent discussions. It was of course never intended that the provisions of the Act which assume the existence of a registration system should take effect in those tracts which are excluded from the operation of the Registration Act; but the Act omitted to make any express provision to that effect, and that omission is now supplied.

16. The addition which it is proposed to make to section 4 of the Act by section 3 of the Bill has for its object merely to remove a difficulty which has been felt in some quarters as to the bearing which the provisions of the Act relating to registration and the Registration Act have on one another.

Removal or alteration of telegraph line or post on property not belonging to a local authority.

10. (1) When, under the foregoing provisions of this Act, a telegraph line or post has been placed by a telegraph authority under, over, along, across, in or upon any property, not being property vested in or under the control of a local authority, and any person entitled to do so desires to deal with that property in such a manner as to render it necessary or convenient that the telegraph line or post should be removed to another part thereof or to a higher or lower level or altered in form, he may tender to the telegraph authority the amount requisite to defray the expense of the removal or alteration and call upon the telegraph authority to remove or alter the line or post accordingly, and, if the telegraph authority refuses or omits to do so, may apply to the District Judge within whose jurisdiction the property is situate to order the removal or alteration.

(2) A District Judge receiving an application under this section may, in his discretion, reject the same or make an order absolutely or subject to conditions for the removal of the telegraph line or post to any other part of the property or to a higher or lower level or for the alteration of its form, and the order so made shall be final and conclusive.

"Provided that the fines so imposed shall not exceed the following limits, namely:—

"(1) when the licensee or lessee is punishable for the breach, one thousand rupees, and in the case of a continuing breach a further fine of two hundred rupees for every day after the first during the whole or any part of which the breach continues;

"(2) when a servant of the licensee or lessee or any other person is punishable for the breach, one-fourth of those amounts."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE main object of this Bill is to give power to the Government, and to any company or person licensed under section 4 of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1876, and specially empowered in this behalf, to place telegraph lines under or over property belonging whether to private persons or to public bodies.

2. The attention of the Government has recently been directed to the fact that, as the law now stands, the Governor General in Council and his licensees have no power to place telegraph lines upon the land of municipal or other similar bodies or of private persons. In England the requisite powers are conferred on the Postmaster General, who works and maintains the telegraphs in that country, by 26 & 27 Vic., cap. 112, as amended by 41 & 42 Vic., cap. 76; and as it seems desirable that the Government in which the exclusive privilege of establishing telegraphs in this country is vested should possess somewhat similar powers, the present Bill has been prepared.

3. Section 3 empowers the Government or any company or person licensed under section 4 of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1876, and specially authorized by a Government officer to place and maintain telegraph lines and posts under, over, along, across, in or upon the property of any "person", which term includes a body corporate. It is considered that licensees should have these powers, because the licenses granted always strictly limit the area of the operations of the licensees, and it would be somewhat anomalous for local bodies and private persons to have the power to neutralize the licenses granted by the Governor General in Council by objecting to the licensees' operations, or by hampering them by the exaction of fees for permission to work under their licenses. The powers thus given are, however, to be exercised so as to do as little damage as possible, and their exercise is moreover made subject to important restrictions and conditions.

4. When the property belongs to a municipal board or other local authority, the powers conferred by the Act cannot be exercised over it without the consent of that authority; and that consent may be given subject to conditions. Among other conditions which can be imposed is one requiring that any expenses to which the local authority may be put by the exercise of the power shall be made good; but it will be observed that no provision is made for the payment of compensation on any other account to a local authority whose property is made use of for this purpose, it being considered that, as the construction of telegraphs is a matter in which the public are interested, no charge should be made for accommodation of this sort when it can be granted without inconvenience to the public or expense to the local authority concerned.

5. It may sometimes happen that, though at the time when a telegraph authority desires to exercise its powers over some property of a local authority there may be no reasonable ground for objecting, and the local authority may thus find itself compelled to consent, a state of things may subsequently arise under which the continued exercise of the powers would be felt as a grave public inconvenience or a cause of serious loss. Land, e.g., which was waste at the time the telegraph line was constructed over it might afterwards be required for some important public object or might acquire great value for building purposes, and, as no compensation (except for actual expenses out of pocket) would have been paid to the local authority at the time the line was constructed, it is but just that provision should be made for the removal or alteration of the line in such an event. This accordingly is done by section 5 of the Bill, which empowers the local authority to call upon the telegraph authority to remove or alter its telegraph or post, and, in the event of the telegraph authority refusing or neglecting to do so, gives an appeal to the Local Government.

6. In the event, which it is believed will be rare, of a local authority arbitrarily refusing its consent to the exercise by a telegraph authority of the powers conferred by the Bill or clogging its consent with unreasonable conditions, it will (section 7) be open to the telegraph authority to appeal to the Local Government, whose decision will be final.

7. Turning now to the case in which it may be desired to exercise the powers given by the Bill over the property of private persons, it will be seen that here provision is made for the payment of full compensation, the amount of which in the event of dispute will (section 9) be determined by the Civil Court, and that, in the event of a person upon whose property a telegraph line or post has been placed desiring subsequently to deal with the property in such a way as would make it necessary or convenient that the line or post should be removed to another part of it or to a higher or lower level or altered in form, he can (section 10) tender the cost of the work and call upon the telegraph authority to remove or alter the line or post, and, if that authority refuses to do so, can appeal to the Civil Court.

8. It may be observed, however, that in practice in this country the power of taking telegraph lines through private property is not likely to be exercised either by the Government or by its licensees except on rare occasions, and then as a rule only to the extent of crossing with the wire, a post being scarcely ever erected on private land. Private property has hitherto been always avoided as much as possible, and it is likely to be still more carefully avoided in future if it is made clear, as it is proposed to do by this Bill, that full compensation will have to be paid for exercising the power over private and not for exercising it over public property.

9. The present opportunity has been taken to make three amendments of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1876, which experience has shown to be desirable. The first has for its object the emendation of the definition of "telegraph" so as to bring it into more exact conformity with the construction put upon the definitions in the English Acts by a recent decision of the High Court of Justice in England.

10. The second is intended to provide for the regulation of telegraph lines constructed by the Government but leased to companies or individuals by whom they are worked. The position of such lines under the Act as it at present stands is far from clear, and the object of the amendment proposed in section 12 of the Bill is to put them on much the same footing as licensed lines.

11. The object of the third amendment, which is made by section 13 of the Bill, is to prescribe penalties for the breach of the rules made under section 8 of the Act for the conduct of telegraphs worked under license or lease. In such cases, as the Act now stands, the only remedy is to revoke the license or lease, but this course would in most cases cause such great public inconvenience that it is impracticable. The result is that at present there is virtually no penalty for the infringement of the rules made under section 8 of the Act. To remedy this state of things, the Bill adds a clause to that section empowering the Governor General in Council to prescribe by the rules moderate fines for the breach of them.

METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL SUMMARY OF THE PROVINCE OF BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST 1884.

THE month of August resembles July in all its more important meteorological features. South-west monsoon winds continue with undiminished force, and give amounts of rain over the whole province differing little from those of the previous month. In normal years, the winds commence to diminish in strength, but this change proceeds very slowly until the beginning or middle of September. The greater part of the rainfall of the province is brought up by the Bay of Bengal monsoon current: a considerable portion of the rainfall of Chutia Nagpur and South Behar is, however, undoubtedly due directly to the Bombay branch, or to its inter-action with the Bay of Bengal branch. These two currents supplement each other's action, and hence give approximately uniform rainfall over the greater part of the province. The only districts which receive amounts decidedly larger than the remainder of the province are those in the immediate neighbourhood of the hills in Northern and Eastern Bengal and those bordering on the sea, more especially in South and South-East Bengal.

There are strong reasons for believing that many of the local meteorological peculiarities which influence and determine the distribution of the rainfall at and after the commencement of the south-west monsoon are established during the hot weather months. In other words, the action of the great heat and large differences of temperature at that time tends to establish local peculiarities of one kind. The action of rainfall, accompanying as it does approximate uniformity of temperature, tends to remove or smooth away these peculiarities, and to introduce others of a different nature. Hence the relative meteorological conditions of the various portions of the province slowly alter; and, although it rarely occurs that the general character of the monsoon is modified during its sway, the local distribution frequently varies very largely during the course of the monsoon. This often begins to show itself in the month of August, after the heavy rainfall of July, which is usually sufficient to produce considerable local changes of meteorological features or conditions.

The normal distribution of the rainfall of the month is comparatively simple. The average August rainfall exceeds 20 inches in two localities: the first includes the Chittagong, Noakholly, and Backergunge districts; and the second the Julpigoree, Cooch Behar, and Darjeeling districts. The line of 15 inches average rainfall, and between which and the two areas abovementioned, it varies between 15 and 20 inches, runs nearly parallel to the coast from Saugor Island, turns to the north, and runs parallel to the Tipperah and Sylhet hills, and through the centre of the Rungpore district, to Kissengunge in the Purneah district. The greater part of Chutia Nagpur, South-West, Central, and North Bengal, and a large part of East Bengal receives an average of between 12 and 15 inches. The average rainfall of the greater part of Behar ranges between 10 and 12 inches. The central districts of Behar have an average rainfall slightly less than 10 inches.

Meteorology of the month.—The chief feature of the past month was the unusually small rainfall. In this respect it resembled the previous month, and the deficiency was most marked over the same areas. Hence the general character of the monsoon was unchanged during the month, although some slight local differences in the distribution of the rainfall occurred. The general character of the rainfall of the province is sufficiently indicated by the fact that rain fell on 16 days or on 87 per cent. of the average or normal number of rainy days during the month, and that an average amount of nine inches was received, the normal average fall being thirteen inches. Hence only 69 per cent. of the normal amount was obtained. In fact not merely was the number of rainy days smaller than usual, but the showers were feebler; and, as always happens in a weak monsoon, the rainfall was very unequally distributed, so that adjacent stations received very different amounts. Thus, to take a striking example, Julpigoree received 40 inches (14 inches in excess), whilst the neighbouring station of Bogdogra (only 40 miles to the S. S. E.) obtained 4·26 inches or 13½ inches less than its normal amount.

During the first week of the month a slight disturbance formed at the head of the Bay, and passed across the Balasore coast. It gave moderate rain to Orissa and South-West Bengal. A break in the rains obtained in North Bengal and Behar. The next week witnessed an advance of moderately strong monsoon southerly winds into Bengal, and of westerly winds from the Bombay coast into Behar. This has been the only occasion during the present month up to the end of August, when both branches of the monsoon current have influenced the weather in the province. Moderately heavy rain fell over the whole province during the second week of the month. This general burst of monsoon winds died away at the commencement of the third week, and was succeeded by a comparatively dry period. Local showers fell, more especially in East and South-West Bengal, but the total rainfall was very deficient in almost every part of the province. During this period, which lasted until the end of the month, two areas received locally heavy rainfall. The first included the Julpigoree, Cooch Behar, and Darjeeling districts, where heavy showers fell between the 21st and 26th. The second area included the Durbhunga, Mozufferpore, and Chumparun districts, which received a general heavy fall, averaging nearly two inches, on the 25th.

The rainfall in the month has hence been deficient in every division and district (except Julpigoree). The deficiency is least in Orissa, and is somewhat greater in East and North Bengal than in the remaining divisions. The Bogra, Rajshahye, Bhagulpore, Jessore, Nuddea, Dinagepore districts and the Sonthal Pergunnahs are those which have received less than 50 per cent. of the normal rainfall of the month. These hence give the area of most deficient rainfall during the past month. They were also included amongst the districts of most deficient rainfall during the preceding month.

Barometric depressions and storms of the month.—The month of August contrasts strikingly with the preceding month of July in the almost entire absence of cyclonic disturbances. The following describes briefly the two storms which were generated near the head of the Bay, and passed into the province during the month.

1st.—Small cyclonic storm of the 31st July to the 4th August. The Akyab observations indicated the existence of an eddy or small atmospheric whirl in front of an advance of strong monsoon winds on the 31st of July. The winds shifted round in South Bengal to directions between north-east and north-west on the 1st and 2nd of August, and the disturbance increased in intensity. It advanced across the Balasore coast on the morning of the 3rd, and passed rapidly through Chutia Nagpur and South Behar, and disappeared beyond the limits of Bengal into the North-West Provinces on the evening of the 4th. It gave moderate rain to Orissa, South-West Bengal, and East Bengal on the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th and to North Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, and Behar on the 3rd and 4th.

2nd.—Small cyclonic storm of the 26th and 27th August. This was a very small disturbance which was generated off the Ganjam and Orissa coasts on the 25th and 26th. The centre crossed the Ganjam coast near Gopalpore on the evening of the 26th, and advanced across the neighbouring hills into the Central Provinces. It gave moderate rain to Orissa, and the adjacent districts of South-West Bengal.

Rainfall.—The rainfall of the past month, like that of July, was very considerably in defect over the larger proportion of the province, and was very unequally and irregularly distributed both as to time and locality. The deficiency was not so much due to the occurrence of prolonged breaks in the rains as to actual unusual lightness of the showers, so that in this respect it resembled the meteorology of the past two monsoons.

Time Distribution of Rainfall of month.—The slight disturbance which crossed the Balasore coast on the 3rd brought up comparatively small supplies of vapour. Light showers fell in South-West and East Bengal on the 2nd. The rainfall was larger in amount on the 3rd, and extended over the whole province with the exception of the Mozufferpore, Chumparun, and Sarun districts. Rain fell in smaller amounts on the 4th over the whole province, excepting the western and central districts of Behar. Showers fell on the 5th and 6th in South-West and East Bengal. A break in the rains commenced over a large part of this province on the 5th and extended to the whole province on the 7th and continued until the 9th. Moderate supplies of vapour then began to be poured into the province by the Bengal branch of the monsoon current; and the Bombay branch, for the first time during the present rains, extended westwards on the 10th and 11th into Chutia Nagpur and South Behar. The combination of these two actions gave heavy rainfall to Behar, and the northern districts of Chutia Nagpur, and moderately heavy rain to Bengal, during the next five days. Moderate rain fell in South-West Bengal, and Orissa, and light showers in East Bengal, on the 9th. General rain was received on the 10th in North Bengal, Orissa, and the greater part of South-West Bengal, and moderate showers in East Bengal. Rain also commenced on this day in Behar, occurring as heavy local showers. The 11th was a day of general, and in many cases, heavy, rain over the whole province, excepting Orissa. The following falls exceeding 3 inches were registered:—

Rungpore	...	...	...	4·17	inches.
Julpigoree	...	...	...	3·94	„
Buxa	...	...	...	3·78	„
Dinhatta	...	...	...	3·72	„

General rain again fell over the whole province excepting Orissa and South-West Bengal on the 12th. It was heaviest in South Behar. Falls slightly exceeding three inches were recorded at Dehree, Sasseram, Dinapore, and Jamui. General rain occurred over the whole province (excepting Orissa) on the 13th, 14th, and 15th. The distribution was less unequal than on the 12th and 13th, and the amounts generally smaller. The only heavy rainfalls were again registered in South Behar, at Sasseram, Jehanabad, and Jamui, which received amounts slightly exceeding three inches on the 14th or 15th. This burst of general rain was succeeded by a dry period or break in the rains, which commenced on the 16th. Local showers of no great importance fell between that date and the 20th, when the break in the rains became more pronounced, and fine clear weather set in over the whole of the interior. Heavy local rain occurred at Julpigoree during this period. It received 6·94 inches on the 21st and 7·82 inches on the 25th. The break in the rains practically continued until the end of the month.

During the last week, the southerly winds brought up small supplies of vapour, which was discharged in frequent light local showers, chiefly in Orissa and South-West Bengal. This accompanied the disturbance which crossed the Ganjam coast, and was followed by a slight inrush of winds into Bengal, which gave light to moderate showers in East Bengal and the eastern districts of South-West Bengal. Heavy local rain fell in the Julpigoree, Cooch Behar, and Darjeeling districts on the 26th and 27th.

Moderately heavy rain also occurred during this period over a portion of North Behar, including the Durbhunga, Mozufferpore, and Chumparun districts, on the 25th. The following gives the heaviest falls :—

Motihari ...	...	...	...	3·11	inches.
Madhubani	...	...	...	2·7	„
Mozufferpore	...	...	...	2·47	„
Durbhunga	...	...	...	2·	„

With these local exceptions, the break in the rains lasted until the end of the month.

Local distribution of the rainfall of the month.—The distribution of the rainfall of the month is so irregular that it is not possible to describe it fully and accurately.

It exceeds 20 inches at Chittagong, and over the greater part of the Cooch Behar, Julpigoree, and Darjeeling districts.

It exceeds 10 inches in a large number of limited and isolated areas including the following :—

1*st.*—Hazaribagh, the southern portions of Gya and Shahabad, and part of Lohardugga.

2*nd.*—The greater part of the Cuttack and Balasore districts.

3*rd.*—Part of the Burdwan and Bankoorah districts, including, and represented by the stations of Raneegunge and Bankoorah.

4*th.*—The greater part of the Howrah and Hooghly districts.

5*th.*—Part of the 24-Pergunnahs, represented by Diamond Harbour and Buseerhat.

6*th.*—The Chittagong and Noakholly districts, the greater part of Backergunge and Commillah, the northern half of Mymensingh, and small portions of Purneah, Dinagepore, and Rungpore (nearest the hills).

Over the remainder of the province the rainfall was less than 10 inches in amount. There were five areas of least or minimum rainfall, in which the total amounts received during the month were less than four inches. They were :—

1*st.*—A longish narrow area in North Behar including Durbhunga and Soopool.

2*nd.*—A small area represented by the station of Bhagulpore, which only received 2·69 inches during the month.

3*rd.*—A small area in the Nuddea district represented by Krishnaghur, which received only 2·87 inches during the month.

4*th.*—A small area in the Jessore district represented by Magoorah, where the total rainfall of the month was 3·10 inches.

5*th.*—A longish narrow area in North Bengal, running north and south, and represented by the stations of Bogra, Sherpore, Nowkhilla, and including nearly the whole of the Bogra district and a small portion of Rungpore. Bogra received the least rainfall in this area, viz., 3·15 inches.

The only district where the rainfall (considerably) exceeds the average is Julpigoree. Portions of Cuttack, Pooree, Shahabad, Gya, Hazaribagh, Sarun, and the 24-Pergunnahs received rainfalls slightly in excess of the normal amount.

The rainfall is less than two inches in defect in Cuttack, the 24-Pergunnahs, Howrah, Hooghly, Sarun, Gya, and Hazaribagh. It is between two and four inches in defect in Pooree, Cuttack, Bankoora, Beerbhoom, Darjeeling, Chumparun, Shahabad, Patna, and Bhagulpore. It is between four and six inches in defect in Burdwan, Moorshedabad, Chittagong, Jessore, Backergunge, Furreedpore, Dacca, Purneah, Durbhunga, Manbhoom, and the Sonthal Pergunnahs. The deficiency varies between six and eight inches in Midnapore, Nuddea, Commillah, Bogra, Rajshahye, Dinagepore, Rungpore, and Singbhoom. It was greatest in amount in the Noakholly district and Chittagong Hill Tracts, where it was 9·1 inches and 10·1 inches respectively. Hence the deficiency was absolutely greatest over the greater part of North and Central Bengal and East Bengal.

The following table gives complete data for the comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of August in every district of the province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain recording stations in each district, due allowance or weight being made for the area which each station represents. This method of calculation furnishes more accurate and reliable averages than the arithmetical mean district rainfalls given in the weekly and monthly meteorological tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past 15 years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall for the past month as determined in a similar manner from the actual rainfalls of the month at the registering stations in each district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall to the normal expressed as a percentage. The fourth column gives the same information as the third column in a slightly different form. It states as a percentage how much the rainfalls of each district for the past month varied in excess or defect from the normal rainfall, and hence gives the differences between the numbers in the third column and 100.

Calcutta, the 16th September 1884.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL DURING THE WEEK ENDING THE 12TH SEPTEMBER 1884.

THE cyclonic disturbance which formed the chief feature of the meteorology of the previous week was passing through Chutia Nagpur at the commencement of the week under review. It filled up very considerably on the 5th, after it had passed Calcutta, and was a very feeble disturbance on the morning of the 6th.

It apparently marched through the Manbhoom and Lohardugga districts, and passed into the northern districts of the Central Provinces on the 7th.

The westward advance of this depression caused a rapid rise of the barometer on the 5th and 6th in Bengal. Moderate monsoon winds prevailed over the greater part of the province on the 6th and gave frequent light showers. On the 7th and 8th a slight fall of the barometer, and a shift of winds at the coast stations in the usual manner indicated that a small depression was forming in the north-west angle of the Bay. Heavy rain fell in the southern districts of Orissa on the 8th, on the evening of which day its centre appears to have crossed the Balasore coast near Chandbally. It was a little distance to the north-east of Cuttack on the morning of the 10th, and then passed over the Orissa Hills and disappeared into the Central Provinces.

The indraught to the two disturbances gave frequent showers to Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and the western districts of South-West Bengal during the first five days of the week, light moderate showers to the eastern districts of South-West Bengal and East Bengal on the 8th and 9th, and to North Bengal on the 9th. A few partial showers occurred in Behar during the week, but no general rain was received. Hence the break in the rains lasted during the whole week in that area. It extended to North Bengal on the 9th, to East Bengal on the 10th, and to the whole province on the 11th. The week has consequently been an unusually dry one, more especially in Behar and North Bengal which have received less than 25 per cent. of the normal rainfall. East Bengal has obtained 44 per cent., and South-West Bengal 50 per cent. Orissa has received abundant rain, due to heavy falls in the Pooree and Cuttack districts, and Chutia Nagpur and the Balasore and Bancoora districts average rain.

Pressure.—The depression which formed the chief feature of last week's meteorology passed through Chutia Nagpur on the 5th and 6th. Its westward motion accompanied a rapid rise of the barometer in its rear, and a moderate fall in front. It passed into the Central Provinces on the morning of the 7th, when it was a very shallow and rather extensive depression. The barometer increased rapidly over the whole province on the 7th, except in the north-west angle of the Bay, where a small depression began to form. It increased slightly in intensity on the 8th, although the barometer continued to rise generally in the province. It crossed the Balasore coast on the night of the 8th, and passed westwards between Balasore and Cuttack and across the North Orissa hills. Pressure increased rapidly during the remainder of the week, and was generally above the normal from the 10th to the end of the week. The excess was most marked in North Behar and probably North Bengal.

The mean pressure of the week is above the normal for all divisions except Orissa. The excess averaged ·02″ in South-West Bengal, ·03″ in East Bengal and South Behar, and ·06″ in North Behar.

Temperature.—The mean temperature of the week was 3° below the normal in Orissa, 2° in South-West Bengal, and 1° in East Behar. It was slightly in excess in Behar, where moderately high maximum temperatures were observed. The highest were—

Motihari	..	..	..	..	94·6°	on the	9th.
Patna	..	..	..	..	94·4°	,,	,,
Gya	..	..	..	..	94·2°	,,	,,

Winds—Were moderately strong at the commencement of the week. They fell off very rapidly on the 7th and 8th in consequence of the action of the small disturbance at the head of the Bay. They increased again on the 9th, blowing occasionally somewhat strongly as rain squalls on the 10th in South Bengal.

During the remainder of the week they again decreased in force, and although approximately normal in direction, were very feeble at the end of the week.

Rainfall—The rainfall of the past week was very partial and limited, and an almost complete break in the rains obtained over a large portion of the interior. The indraught to the two disturbances gave frequent showers to Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and South-West Bengal from the 6th to the 10th. The only large amounts which fell during this period were registered in South Orissa on the evening of the 8th. Pooree received 5·5 inches, Jagatsingpore (in the Cuttack district) 4·44 inches, and Khurdah (in the Pooree district) 3·04 inches.

Light to moderate showers giving fairly general rain were received in East Bengal on the 8th and 9th, and in North Bengal on the 9th. The Cooch Behar district received several moderately heavy showers on the 12th.

No general rain occurred in Behar during the week.

Hence an almost complete break in the rains obtained in Behar during the whole week, and in East and North Bengal during the greater part of the week.

The only districts which have received amounts in excess of the average are the Pooree, Balasore, and Cuttack districts of Orissa, the Singbhoom district of Chutia Nagpur, and the Bancoora district of South-West Bengal. The Manbhoom district obtained normal rainfall during the week. The Midnapore, 24-Pergunnahs, Howrah, Hooghly, Khoolna, Burdwan, and Comillah districts obtained between 85 and 60 per cent. The Backergunge, Furreedpore, Mozufferpore, and Darjeeling districts between 50 and 40 per cent.; the Dacca, Jessore, Mymensingh, Cooch Behar, Pubna, and Chumparun districts between 40 and 30 per cent.; Noakhally, Julpigoree, the Sonthal Pergunnahs, Shahabad, and Moorshedabad, between 30 and 20 per cent. Several districts received less than 20 per cent. of their normal rainfall. The following table gives the names of these districts with the average and normal rainfalls in each during the past month, and since the commencement of the monsoon.

The preceding table indicates that the rainfall of the past week was unusually deficient over the greater part of Behar, and over the whole of North Bengal (excepting the most northern districts). The central districts of Behar received the smallest amounts, and the week was practically rainless.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 12th September 1884:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community taken in February 1881 was not [illegible] owing to the Europeans being at a [illegible] time of year. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, [illegible] the number of the natives remains Remarks on the fluctuations of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during three weeks and 5 days ended 26th July 1884.

DECREASES.

Wheat.—The heavy decrease in this staple is due to want of demand in the English and continental markets.

Coal.—An increase in the downwards coal traffic was neutralized by a decrease in the upward traffic, and this is attributable to the indents from Foreign Railways having been less than in 1883.

Salt.—The falling off in this commodity is due to general dullness of trade.

Railway Materials, Foreign.—This decrease is accounted for by smaller despatches of material for State Railway construction.

Seeds.—There has been a net decrease in seeds of all kinds, attributable to supplies being limited in comparison with the demand.

Sugar.—Deficient rainfall last season, followed by partial failure of the sugarcane crop, accounts for the falling off in this staple.

Tobacco.—The decrease in this staple can only be attributed to general depression of trade.

Rice.—There has been a net decrease in the total traffic for both husked and unhusked rice, which may be assigned to the scanty rainfall last season

Gunny.—The depressed state of the wheat and seed trade during the period under review explains the cause of the decrease in gunnies.

Gram and Pulses.—An increase in weight is counterbalanced by a decrease in earnings, which is attributable to the traffic having been carried shorter distances this year to meet local demands.

ART. 2.—Durant la période des six mois précités (Redjeb, Chaban, Remazan, Chewal, Zilcadé, Zilhidjé) les navires à pèlerins provenant d'au-delà le détroit de Bab-el-Mandeb, quelle que soit la teneur de leur patente de santé, devront se rendre directement à l'île de Camaran, sans faire escale dans aucun autre port du littoral de la Mer Rouge.

ART. 3.—Sont navires à pèlerins, ceux expressément affrêtés pour faire le transport des pèlerins se rendant à la Mecque.

ART. 4.—Ne sont pas compris dans la classe des navires à pèlerins les navires à destination de la Mer Rouge qui n'auront à bord qu'un pèlerin pour chaque 100 tonneaux de registre, ainsi que les paquebots ou navires de passage par la Mer Rouge se rendant dans la Mèditerranèe et dont le nombre des pèlerins embarqués serait strictement limité à un chiffre qui ne dépasserait pas cinq pèlerins pour chaque 100 tonneaux de registre.

ART. 5.—Les navires des deux catégories désignées dans l'article précédent ne sont pas tenus d'aller à Camaran. Ils devront se rendre à Abou-Saad où ils déposeront leurs pèlerins ainsi que les marchandises sujettes á quarantaine et à destination du Hédjaz ou de l'Yémen.

ART. 6.—Il est créé à cet effet à Abou-Saad un lazaret, à titre de succursale de celui de Camaran, et qui affecté aux provenances désignées dans les articles 4 et 5 du présent Règlement, fonctionnera toute l'année.

ART. 7—Feront, en outre, quarantaine à Abou-Saad les arrivages des ports Egyptiens et les sambouks et autres caboteurs naviguant d'un port à l'autre du littoral de la Mer Rouge, sujets á la contumace.

No. 36, dated Constantinople, 6th May 1884.

From—E. D. DICKSON, Esq.,

To—His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the EARL OF DUFFERIN, K.P.

I HAVE the honour of forwarding to Your Excellency herewith three printed copies of the report drawn up by a sub-committee, in which I took part, named by the Board of Health to organize a lazaret at Camaran, and to draw up regulations for the quarantine which will be applied this year to the Mecca pilgrims on their arrival in the Red Sea. I have, moreover, enclosed herewith 12 separate copies of these regulations, which I respectfully suggest should be distributed to Her Majesty's Consuls residing at Alexandria, Port Said, Suez, Jeddah, and Bussorah, and to the Governments of Aden, India, Burma, and the Straits Settlements.

When framing these rules I called the attention of my colleagues to the reiterated complaints of the Indian pilgrims against Camaran, and to Captain Moncrieff's remarks on Camaran and the pilgrim traffic, and Your Excellency will perceive that my suggestions have been attended to, and the evils complained of avoided as much as possible. The rules, however, apply only to vessels laden with pilgrims, and not to the ordinary traffic with India, which remains still subject to the "Règlement applicable aux Provenances de Cholera" of 1867.

I.—Pilots in charge of inward-bound vessels are directed to hoist the vessel's number, and, if salt laden or from dutiable ports, are to have the ensign hoisted at the main-mast head for the information of the Customs Inspector, Juldia.

II.—A pilot on taking charge of an inward-bound vessel shall, immediately on boarding her, hoist his distinguishing number, and hand over to the master of the vessel the following papers:—(1) Port Rules, (2) Pilotage Rules, (3) Medical Inspection Rules, (4) Customs Regulations. If any case of cholera, small-pox, or other epidemic disease common in India is on board he shall at once report the fact to the Port Officer stating the number of cases, and shall await orders before taking up any anchorage in the harbour.

III.—A pilot detained on board at Juldia will, in the event of the captain refusing to take steam, report the matter to the Port Officer and await orders.

IV.—The pilot shall not give over charge of his vessel in the river unless she has been moored or he has been relieved by a harbour master or other officer authorised to take charge.

V.—Pilots on arrival off town shall state the time of arrival, the vessel's name, the place where she has been left, and, if moored, with how much chain each way. This information is to be entered in a book kept at the Port Office for that purpose.

VI.—Every pilot shall on arrival report to the Port Officer the number of pilots on the station, and also any alterations he may have observed in the river on his way up.

VII.—No pilot shall take charge of an outward-bound vessel without an order signed by the Port Officer, or proceed unless the vessel has obtained her customs clearance. VIII.—The pilot shall ascertain that the vessel has two serviceable bower anchors, and if she has not a sheet or spare anchor fit for a bower over her side, that she has one in such a position on deck that it can easily be brought into use in case of necessity. Also that a kedge with line ready bent be on deck and ready for immediate use.

IX.—If a pilot appointed to take a vessel to sea during neaps considers her draught too much, and that it would involve a risk and responsibility which he is unwilling to take, he should at once communicate the fact to the master and report to the Port Officer, for orders, fully explaining his grounds of objection.

X.—If after a pilot joins a vessel he finds that she is of larger draught than she was reported to be, or that she takes in any cargo that alters her draught, he will at once report the matter to the Port Officer and await orders.

XI.—Pilots are on no account to cross the bar between sunset and sunrise, on pain of dismissal, without the permission of the Port Officer in writing, the cost of lighting the buoys being defrayed by the ship concerned.

XII.—A pilot shall not relinquish charge of a vessel unless on account of sickness or other unavoidable necessity. If he is in any way impeded in the performance of his duty, he should report the circumstances to the Port Officer, and, if necessary, anchor the vessel.

XIII.—Pilots shall attend the Port Office daily, and shall not leave town without permission from Port Officer being previously obtained

XIV.—Until further orders, pilots shall be guided by the following rules as to the draughts of vessels to be moved either up or down, in or out :—

XVI.—Masters are requested to report when there appears to have been any unnecessary delay in getting the pilot on board.

XVII.—If a vessel loses an anchor or anchors, the pilot shall immediately submit a report to the Port Office. The report should be attested by the master of the vessel, and to enable the Port Officer's Department to identify the lost articles, it shall indicate accurately the following particulars :—

(1) Locality of the loss.
(2) Bearings of known objects.
(3) Description, weight, and distinctive marks of anchors.
(4) Description and quantity of cable.

XX.—Pilots, whilst in town, should daily inspect carefully the channel and the river-book kept at the Port Office.

XXI.—If the pilot considers himself aggrieved by any conduct on the part of the master of a vessel, he shall transmit his complaint in writing to the Port Officer for his consideration and orders.

XXII.—Masters or agents are requested to give at least 24 hours' previous notice when a pilot is required to shift or take a vessel to sea or for any other purpose, to enable the Port Officer to send for pilots from the mouth of the river, if required.

XXIII.—The cutter with pilots shall cruise in the day backwards and forwards from the Outer Bar buoys to off the mouth of the Sangoo river during the south-west monsoon, weather permitting, and shall remain day and night on her station, viz. three miles outside the Bar buoys during the north-east monsoon. The senior pilot on board will be held responsible should any complaint be made owing to delay being incurred in getting, or putting on, or taking a pilot out from a vessel.

4. We also certify that the balance at credit of the Reserve Fund created under Section 337 of Act IV (B.C.) of 1876 as a guarantee for the repayment of the debenture loans amounted on the 31st March 1884 to Rs. 25,49,828-6-9, of which Rs. 850-11-7 were in the hands of the Trustees, Rs. 438-5-5 were at credit of the Trustees in the Bank of Bengal, and the remainder Rs. 25,48,539-5-9 represented the cost of the investments made by the Trustees under the section above quoted.

The Accountant-General of Bengal, one of the Trustees under Section 337 of the Act, has acknowledged in his letter No. B-419, dated 4th August 1884, that the following securities aggregating a nominal value of Rs. 24,04,200 were held on the 31st March 1884 in the custody of the Bank of Bengal on account of the Reserve Fund.

,,	1st April	,,	70,500
,,	1st August	,,	35,400
	Total nominal value	...	18,11,200 costing Rs. 19,61,899

The balance of the debenture loans raised under Section 334 of Act IV (B.C.) of 1876 previous to 1st April 1881 outstanding on the 1st April 1883 amounted to Rs. 69,99,600, and the due contribution payable to credit of the Reserve Fund upon this balance during the year ending 31st March 1884 was Rs. 1,39,992. This sum should have been credited to the Reserve Fund created by Section 337 of the Act during the year 1883-84 before the 31st March 1884, but we find that a sum of Rs. 1,04,994 only was credited to the Reserve Fund during the year, the remainder having been credited to the fund after the close of the year. The provisions of the law which, it will be remembered, require that the necessary contribution should be set aside yearly—not quarterly—by the Commissioners out of their income before any disbursements are made have not therefore in this instance been fulfilled.

5. A second Reserve Fund has been formed during the course of the year under audit in accordance with the provisions of Section 337-A inserted in Act IV (B.C.) of 1876 by Act VI (B.C.) of 1881 for the repayment of such debenture loans as have been or will be raised after 1st April 1881 for the purpose of carrying out or extending the water-supply and drainage schemes. This Reserve Fund is formed by a contribution from the General Fund or Water-rate Fund as the case may be of not less than one per cent. on the net amount of all such loans outstanding on the 1st day of April of each year.

Three loans have been raised, as will be seen from the statement above given, since 1st April 1881 for the purpose of carrying out or extending the water-supply and drainage schemes, and one loan has also been raised, since 1st April 1881 for the improvement of the Jorabagan bustee. The aggregate nominal value of these loans stands at Rs. 10,48,300, but as one of these loans was raised during the course of the year, that is to say in August 1883, and as no contribution consequently for the second Reserve Fund was due thereupon during 1883-84, that is to say until 1st April 1884, the balance outstanding on the 1st April 1883 amounted to Rs. 9,50,500, and one per cent. on this balance has been duly credited as the due contribution to the Reserve Fund. These contributions, in accordance with the proceedings of a Special Meeting of the Town Council held on 16th May 1878, are set aside every quarter by depositing them in the Bank of Bengal before the due date. It appears open to question, however, whether the wording of the Act does not require these contributions to be set aside at the commencement of each year, and we suggest that this question may be placed before the Commissioners for consideration.

The manner in which the one per cent. contribution to the Reserve Fund directed by Section 337-A has been calculated does not appear to be quite correct. The wording of the section clearly hints the calculation of this contribution to a percentage upon the net amount outstanding on the 1st day of April year of each year of all loans raised after 1st April 1881 for the purpose of carrying out or extending the water-supply and drainage schemes. The net amount of loans raised after 1st April 1881 for other purposes than the purpose named in the section cannot therefore be taken into calculation. It follows that the net amount outstanding on the 1st April 1881 of the loan raised for the purpose of improving and renovating the Jorabagan bustee should not have been subjected to the contribution of one per cent. for the Reserve Fund created by Section 337-A, and hence that sum or Rs. 2,505 was contributed in excess to the Reserve Fund.

We certify that the balance at credit of the second Reserve Fund on the 31st March 1884 amounted to Rs. 9,556-7-9, of which Rs. 121-5-7 were in the hands of the Trustees, Rs. 622-10-2 were at credit of the Trustees in the Bank of Bengal, and the remainder Rs. 8,812-8 represented the cost of the investments made by the Trustees in accordance with the provisions of section above quoted. These are detailed thus—

		Rs.		Rs. A.
Government 4 per cent. 1865 promissory notes for ...	...	3,000	costing ...	2,883 12
Municipal 4½ per cent. 1883 debentures for ...	...	5,900	,, ...	5,928 12
Total	...	8,900		8,812 8

and the Accountant-General of Bengal, one of the Trustees under the section in the letter quoted in the preceding paragraph, has acknowledged that these securities were in the possession of the Bank of Bengal on the 31st March 1884, being held by the bank on account of the Reserve Fund.

There is one small point which we would notice in connection with the Reserve Funds. The enactment under which these funds are formed, designates them as Reserve Funds. We would therefore recommend that in all documents, accounts, and official papers they should be so designated, and that the transactions should no longer be recorded on the books under the designation of Sinking Funds.

6. We also certify that the Bank of Bengal has given an acknowledgment by a letter, dated 23rd June 1884, that the following securities were also held in safe custody on account of the Corporation: —

	Rs.
Government paper 4 per cent. ...	1,39,800	on general account.
Ditto ditto ...	4,800	on account of Gopal Lall Tagore's Pauper Hospital.
Ditto ditto ...	5,500	on account of Nemy Churn Mullick's Ghat.
4½ per cent.	500	ditto ditto.
Ditto	6,000	on general account.
Municipal Debentures—
6 per cent.	500	ditto.
4½ per cent.	10,000	ditto.
Total ...	1,67,100

7. The Bank of Bengal has also acknowledged that it holds in safe custody Government 4 per cent. securities to the nominal value of Rs 70,000, which have been endorsed by the Administrator-General of Bengal to the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta on account of the "Market Capital Fund." This is apparently a mistake as the investment in question belongs properly to the Marcus Estate Fund.

This investment has been transferred to the Corporation in virtue of device by the late George Thomas Marcus, formerly a resident of Calcutta, but at the time of his death resident of 31, Devonshire Street, Portland Place, in the city of Westminster, who by his will, dated 5th February 1864, bequeathed the whole of his real property in Calcutta to the Administrator-General of Bengal in trust for the Municipal Commissioners for the city of Calcutta "to be by them employed for the good and benefit of the said city of Calcutta," subject, however, to the payment of an annuity of £250 to a relative named in the will. At the decease of the testator a sum of Rs. 46,790-3-7 was handed over to the Corporation and expended in the erection of the Municipal Office, and by a special arrangement then entered into between the Administrator-General and the Corporation, sufficient assets for the purchase of Government paper to the nominal value of Rs 70,000 were retained as security for the punctual payment of the annuity. The annuitant having died during the past year, the investment carried out by this arrangement has become the property of the Corporation for the purpose mentioned in the will of Mr. George Thomas Marcus.

8. The transactions relating to the Entally Manufactory, Entally, and other stores have been during the year as below abstracted—

	Value of stores on 31st March 1883.	Purchases, &c., during year.	Adjustment during year.	Value of stores on 31st March 1884.
	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
Entally Manufactory	23,187 10 9	1,17,825 12 9	1,01,279 1 0	39,734 6 6
Entally Stores	1,16,894 6 0	67,519 9 10	92,801 15 9	91,612 0 1
Nimtollah Stores	6,985 5 6	33,296 4 4	27,686 4 9	12,575 5 1
Bang Bazar Stores	7,595 10 10	10,688 7 6	6,845 9 10	11,348 8 6
Indigenous stone	11,245 3 1	1,10,048 8 9	51,130 5 8	70,163 6 2
Imported stone	34,185 0 7	41,388 14 8	63,006 15 4	12,566 15 11
Jhama khoa	707 9 0	50,605 7 2	36,775 0 9	14,537 15 5
Total ...	2,00,690 13 9	4,31,373 1 0	3,79,525 5 1	2,52,538 9 8

It has been found impossible to determine whether these figures are in agreement with the record of actual transactions upon the books of the manufactory and store depôts. Stock lists had not been prepared before the conclusion of the audit, and consequently a detailed comparison of the entries in the store and manufactory accounts with the entries in the general ledger was impracticable.

We propose on some future occasion to examine and to report in detail upon these store accounts in the hope that a more satisfactory conclusion may be arrived at.

9. The advance account shewed on the 31st March 1884 an unadjusted balance of Rs. 14,282-4-11, of which Rs. 13,649-0-1 were in the account relating to the acquisition of land for public purposes, and Rs. 634-11-10 were in the general advance account.

10. There are still a few unsettled objections remaining unexplained, though recorded in our objection book kept at the municipal office, and if necessary, we will address a further communication upon these and other matters of minor importance.

We have the honour to be,

GENTLEMEN,

Your most obedient servants,

R. LOGAN,
Offg. Accountant-General, Bengal.

Examiner of Local Accounts.

CALCUTTA, the 23rd September 1884.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL DURING THE WEEK ENDING THE 19TH SEPTEMBER 1884.

An almost complete break in the rains was established over the greater part of the Province at the end of the last week under review. Little or no rain fell in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and East Bengal during the first three or four days of the past week. There was very slight atmospheric disturbance in Behar and North Bengal at the commencement of the week, which was shown most distinctly on the 15th by the occurrence of westerly winds over the greater portion of Behar. It is hence probable that the Bombay branch of the monsoon current, which has given very abundant rain over the North-West Provinces, extended its influence at that time into Chutia Nagpur and Behar Fairly general and moderate rain occurred over the whole of Behar, excepting the Sonthal Pergunnahs and South Bhagulpore, between the 13th and 16th. It was characterized by considerable irregularity in its distribution, one of the most prominent features of a weak monsoon in Bengal

The most northern districts of North Bengal received local and heavy rainfall on the 13th, and a few very local, and in some cases heavy, showers on the 14th and 15th. A depression commenced to form in the Bay on the 15th, which influenced the weather in the Province very unfavourably during the remainder of the week. It developed very slowly, and did not accumulate into a large or intense depression, or atmospheric whirl. It was apparently generated near the Arracan coast, and moved slowly westwards. It was not far from the Ganjam coast on the morning of the 19th. The centre advanced across the coast between Gopalpore and Vizagapatam on the morning of the 21st, and it has since crossed into the Central Provinces, where it is filling up. The indraught to it from the north cleared the skies over the greater part of the interior, and intensified the break in the rains over the whole of Behar, North and Central Bengal. East Bengal and Orissa have, on the other hand, received rain from its action. Showers giving small to moderate amounts of rain consequently occurred over the whole of Orissa and East Bengal excluding Mymensingh, and in the most southerly and easterly parts of South-West Bengal between the 16th and 19th.

In consequence of the prevalence of two opposite sets of conditions, every part of the Province has received moderate rainfall during the week, but the amounts received are generally below the average.

South Behar received the normal rainfall of the week : North Behar obtained 79 per cent., East Bengal 75 per cent., North Bengal 57 per cent., Orissa 50 per cent., and South-West Bengal 32 per cent. The rainfall of the week was most deficient in the Burdwan, Bankoora, Beerbhoom, Howrah and Hooghly districts, and the 24-Pergunnahs, all of which received slightly less than 20 per cent. of the normal or mean rainfall of the week. The district rainfall returns on the whole indicate that, although the rainfall of the week has been irregular in its distribution, it has occurred most abundantly in those districts which received the least amounts of rain during the first twelve days of September, and vice versa.

Pressure at the commencement of the week under review was generally above the normal, more especially in North Behar and North Bengal. It gave way on the 13th, 14th and 15th. The decrease of pressure was on the 14th and 15th accompanied by westerly winds over the greater portion of Behar. They were replaced by normal easterly winds on the 16th. At the same time winds began to draw round to north-east in South Bengal and Orissa, indicating the formation of a barometric depression in the Bay. Pressure increased in Bengal, except in the south-eastern districts, on the 16th, but began to give way generally on the 17th. The fall of the barometer on the 18th and 19th was greatest in Orissa and the adjacent districts of South-West Bengal. The depression in the Bay was very clearly marked on the morning of the 19th, when it was between Arracan and the Ganjam coast, and the centre was moving westwards to the coast between Gopalpore and Vizagapatam. The mean pressure of the week was above the normal at all the reporting stations except Chittagong and False Point. The excess increased generally in amount northwards and eastwards, and was greatest at Patna, for which it was ·04″.

Temperature—Was considerably above the average at the commencement of the week, as a general break in the rains then obtained. The occurrence of fairly general rain in Behar on the 15th and 16th diminished temperature very considerably in that area. The mean temperature of the 15th in Behar was from 1° to 2° below the normal. The formation of the depression in the Bay, which commenced on the 16th, intensified the break in the rains, and temperature hence increased rapidly in Behar, and more slowly in Bengal, during the remainder of the week. Unusually high maximum temperatures were recorded on the 18th and 19th in Behar and North Bengal. The following are the highest :—

Arrah	...	...	...	...	98·4° on the 19th.
Gya	...	...	...	...	96·7° ,, ,, 18th.
Bhagulpore	...	...	...	...	95·9° ,, ,, 19th.
Motihari	...	...	...	...	95·6° ditto.
Rungpore	...	...	...	...	95·3° ditto.
Dinagepore	...	...	...	...	95·1° ditto.

The mean temperature of the week varied slightly from the normal, and was about ½° above it over the whole Province.

Winds.—The chief features in the air motion during the week were, first, the prevalence, for a brief period on the 14th and 15th, of westerly winds accompanied with rain in Behar; and secondly, the establishment of north-easterly winds over the Bengal and Orissa coasts on the 16th, and their increasing influence during the remainder of the week. Winds in the interior during the second period were fairly normal in direction, but they diminished in strength and became more unsteady in character, and at the end of the week exceedingly light easterly winds or calms obtained over the whole of Behar and Central Bengal.

Rainfall.—The rainfall of the past week has been generally below the average, but to a much smaller extent than was the case during the preceding week. It was also sporadic in character and very irregular in distribution.

Rain occurred in the northern districts of North Bengal, and locally in portions of West Behar, on the 13th. Cooch Behar received 4·63 inches, Aurungabad (in the Gya district) 4·56 inches, and Mohadebpore (in the Dinagepore district) 3·28 inches.

Local showers fell in North Bengal on the 14th and fairly general rain over the greater part of Behar and Chutia Nagpur. The largest falls were 4·09 inches at Rungpore, and 3·12 inches at Chyebassa.

Local showers again occurred on the 15th, more especially in Orissa and North Bengal. North Behar and the Shahabad district of South Behar received fairly general and moderately heavy rain on the 16th. The largest amounts registered were 2·62 inches at Sewan, and 2·2 inches at Bhabooah in the Sasseram district. On the 17th local showers of some importance fell in Orissa and the Midnapore district, and in the Backergunj and Noakhally districts of East Bengal. The rainfall extended over a larger area in East Bengal on the 18th, and gave moderate amounts to all the districts in East Bengal, except Mymensingh, on that day.

Rainfall occurred over a much larger area on the 19th, but in smaller amounts. Orissa, East Bengal, Bogra, and Pubna in North Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur received light to moderate rain during the day.

The rainfall of the week was in excess in the Gya, Singbhoom, Sarun, Shahabad, Backergunj, Chumparun, Rungpore, Noakhally and Dacca districts. The excess was greatest in the three first-named districts, which received twice the normal amount of the week.

The Durbhunga, Bogra, Pubna and Furreedpore districts received between 90 and 80 per cent. of the normal; Manbhoom and Bhagulpore between 80 and 70 per cent.; the Sonthal Pergunnahs, Comillah and Dinagepore between 70 and 60 per cent.; Balasore, Pooree, Cuttack, Jessore and Khulna between 57 and 40 per cent.; Midnapore, Moorshedabad, Nuddea, Mymensingh, Chittagong, Julpigoree and Purneah between 40 and 30 per cent. The 24-Pergunnahs, Howrah, Hooghly, Burdwan, Bankoora and Beerbhoom received barely 20 per cent., and Rajshahye 14 per cent. of the normal rainfall of the week.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 19th September 1884:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* Of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community taken in February 1881 was not reliable, owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

The total quantity of goods carried during the month of August 1884, aggregated maunds 3,57,410, as compared with the maunds 3,61,338 carried during the corresponding period of 1883, and maunds 3,40,916 carried during the previous month, showing a decrease of maunds 3,928 in one case and increase of maunds 16,494 in the other

Of the several increases and decreases the following are the most prominent ones and worthy of separate explanation :—

Increases.

	Mds.
Piece-goods	9,153

Due to the stocks in the local markets being exhausted.

Food-grains	85,747

This increase is due to the scarcity of grains in this district, and there is every prospect of a continual increase owing to want of rain and consequent failure of crops.

Hides and horns	4,382

Owing to the brisk demand for this staple in Calcutta during the earlier part of the month.

Oilcake	2,005

The traffic in this fluctuates greatly, and is not a staple in which there is either a heavy import or export.

Saltpetre	4,514

Due to the brisk state of the Calcutta market.

Timber	20,592

The greater part of this staple is exported by Messrs. Dear & Co., who have large contract for supplying of sleepers on foreign lines.

Decreases.

	Mds.
Lime and kunker	19,428

Due to cessation of large engineering works in the districts for the year.

Railway materials	33,305

The completion of the extensions of this railway is the main cause of the decrease.

Salt	4,533
Tobacco	7,547

The above two has found their way by boats owing to the extraordinarily low freight ruling.

Seeds	59,769

This is partially due to the dullness at the port and partially to a large quantity having been carried by boats owing to merchants not having any large contracts and to the extremely low freights ruling.

HORACE BELL,
Manager.
